R.S.V.P.

Baltimoreans had an opportunity to meet one of the nation's millionaires — M. Earl Grant, chairman of the board of Family Savings and Loan Association in Los Angeles. He and his wife, Flora, were here visiting his sister and brother - in - law, Helen and Yancy Whittaker.

After the Wheatis party, the Whittakers entertained for the visitors — a dinner party at their Hillsdale Road home. The Grants were on the East Coast to attend dedication of the new Bethel AME Church in his native Parkersburg, W. Va.

In this period when graduation speakers are urging the classes of 1978 to remember hard work pays off, the story of Mr. Grant's success is worth noting. First, at age 87 (his birthday was May 23), he drives to his office daily and remains active as chairman of the board. His wife is a member of the board of directors.

But more important, Mr. Grant, one of 13 children, was born on a Parkersburg farm, where he learned early to milk cows and perform chores. The story of how he worked as a shoe store delivery boy, then dining car cook and waiter, eventually migrating to Chicago and Los Angeles, where he began a garbage collection business, later began his own hog farm so he'd have a place to dispose of his collections, and when white banks denied him money to buy a home, organized his own bank — it's an intriguing and inspiring one.

Today, Family Savings has assets in excess of $63 million maintains five offices in the Los Angeles area, and is planning a sixth in Santo Monico. Not bad for a man who had to drop out of school — third grade — at the age of 12!!

Baltimoreans may remember one of the financier's brothers was a longtime Morgan State educator, the late Dean George C. Grant.

Want to read more about our visiting financier and philanthropist? The story of his fight against prejudice and his climb to the top is told in the book, "Up From The Ghetto," by Phillip T. Drotning and Wesley South (The Inspiring Story of Some Ghetto Backs Who Wanted To Make It Big — and Did). Cowles Book Co., New York. You'll find these stories pretty good graduation speeches — sermons, too.

VISITORS in Baltimore recently were M. Earl Grant, the financier, and his wife, Flora. For more about their visit and his living testimony as a ghetto lad who made good, see R.S.V.P. by Marie.

Columbia Capers

By Pinnie L. Ross

Oops, I made an error in last weeks column in reference to the Delta's cotillion.

The Chapter did not present Mrs. Gilda Lewis with the silver tray. It was Mrs. Celonia Walden, co - chairlady of the affair and all of the beautiful "Debs". The chapter presented Mrs. Lewis with a plaque for being chosen Sorror of the Year.

The Columbia chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. will sponsor its third annual Black and White Ball entitled'Bask in the Elegance' at the University Blvd. and Adelphi Rd. College Park, Md. Johnnie Matthew is polemarch of the chapter.

The Lambda Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, a sorority whose purpose is to help the community through a variety of projects has made many contributions in Howard County such as; a contribution to the Urban League, Meals on Wheels, a Life Membership in the NAACP.

This dynamic group has also awarded scholarships to local students. Recipients of the scholarships are: Sheila Blackstone and Donna Black for 77 - 78. The diligent working ladies of the chapter worked to beautify a cottage at Forest Glen, Children's Home, Laurel located in Washington, D.C. They adopted two families at Thanksgiving and prepared food baskets for them. They were also the co - sponsors for Dorothy Gilliom's presentation of "A Tribute to Paul Roberson."

The Iota Lambda Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority recently celebrated Founders' Day, attending worship service at First Baptist Church of Gilford. The Rev. John Wright is pastor of the church. There were 32 sorors in attendance followed by a luncheon at Woodward and Lothrop.

The sorority donated books on the contributions of Black Americans to the Sunday School of the first Baptist Church. Soror Roberta Briscoe was chairlady for the docated books and Soror Clister Lyles, served as co - chairlady along with other committees.

Just recently the group enjoyed an informative talk on the workings of the Howard County Human Rights Commission. Guest speaker was Mrs. Aleie Weisbrodt, liaison officer of the Howard County Office of Human Rights. The affair was held at Jefferson Hill Neighborhood Center.

Thought for Today — The making of friends who are real friends is the best token we have of a man's success in life.

Out - of - town guests at the May Scholarship Dance sponsored by the Pittsburghers of Baltimore were; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Alvin Floyd of Hampton, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howell, Mrs. Marjorie Washington, Ms. Helen Floyd, and Olen Lang all from Pittsburgh, Pa.

At the annual affair held at the Emerald Gardens, the Pittsburghers presented two $500 scholarships. Both recipients, Renee McNeill and Patricia Dennard are sophomores at Morgan State University.

Mrs. Verna Day is scholarship chairperson. Charles Thomas is president of the Pittsburghers of Baltimore.

Sharing our table at the same affair was Ms. Shirley Odom, and Mrs. Robert Seegars, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson.

Mrs. Lorraine Brown was recently installed as worthy matron of the Florence Sims Chapter No. 113, Martha Grand Lodge affiliation. The installation took place at the chpater headquarters on Caroline Street.

Mrs. Brown who was elected to serve a one - year term will attend the grand session scheduled for New Orleans in late June. She is a member of Eastside Baptist Church. Mrs. Barbara Palmer, another SSA employee is secretary for the chapter.

Those fabulous Avalons, Leroy Wilkins, James Cornish, Columbus Goode, Robert Walters, Asbury Hopewell and Winston Hall have planned another one of their economy fun packed vacation trips for this summer. The group will play host to a group of friends air - bound to Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco. They promised an unforgettable adventure in the sophisticated atmosphere of the breathtaking vacation spot.

We are happy to hear this week that the recently hospitalized Albert Nichols is recovering beautifully from his sudden illness. Send get well cards to St. Agnes Hospital.

Get well wishes are also extended to Mrs. Mary McGill who is in room 7027B, Provident Hospital.

Happy belated wedding anniversary wishes to our good friends Frank and Sadie Roseborough. They celebrated their big day last Sunday.

Hints For Homemakers

INEZ KAISER

June is usually a month filled with a variety of outdoor activities. Many people are busy working in the yard, trimming the lawn, fertilizing plants and transplanting some.

Many hours are also spent watering the lawn or working in a home garden. All of these tasks usually result in soils or stains on your clothing. They also cause you to perspire a lot more than normal.

PUT WISK TO WORK FOR YOU

That's why we wind up with rings around the collars of shirts and blouses. Many families regard these rings as a major laundry problem, but not so in the Kaiser household.

All that is needed is a bottle of WISK detergent. Just moisten the soiled area, pour some WISK directly on the collar, rub slightly and put the garment in the washer.

Then add the rest of your wash and pour in the remainder of the measured amount of WISK.

You will find that WISK is an ideal detergent to clean your whole wash, too. In fact, because it is a liquid, WISK goes right to work as soon as you start the wash.

This heavy-duty, all-purpose detergent is available in three sizes to accommodate the washday needs of any family. It works so well, you can almost see the dirt "wisk" away.

FEEL CLEAN WITH LIFEBUOY

Warmer weather and outdoor activity also affect your skin. At this time of year it becomes increasingly important to use a soap that provides effective deodorant protection.

That is why more and more people are using LIFEBUOY soap. They like LIFEBUOY because it washes away sweat and odor, and keeps the clean smell goin' all day long.

This is so important during these warm days. And it explains why LIFEBUOY has remained the favorite of so many people for so many years.

LIFEBUOY is a family soap that the young and old alike can use and enjoy. LIFEBUOY has a fresh clean fragrance that makes you smell good.

I have observed that many athletes use LIFEBUOY for their showers. It helps to wash away those undesirable odors in no time at all. LIFEBUOY is a tried and true friend that you can depend on to provide deodorant protection.

It is available today in coral, white and green bars, but the color is strictly a matter of decoration. Any of the colors washes away sweat and odor and keeps the clean smell goin' all day.

LUX LIQUID HAS CLEANING POWER

This is also the time of year for graduations, showers, weddings and other happy occasions. And whenever people gather to celebrate, you can be sure there will be more dishes to wash than usual.

It is important that every household use a dishwashing detergent that can do the job well. That's why I always use LUX LIQUID to do my dishes.

With its improved formula and longer-lasting suds, I find that LUX cleans as well as other products. LUX has active cleaning ingredients and longer-lasting suds to clean family-size loads of dishes.

These are the things I want when I wash dishes—long-lasting suds and cleaning power I can depend on to get more dishes sparkling clean.

LUX LIQUID is also used in our household to launder hand washables. LUX suds are perfect for soaking fine, delicate fabrics—leaves them smelling fresh and clean, too.

And remember, LUX is famous for its mildness —keeps your hands looking soft and pretty. To me, this is an important feature because my hands are always on view when I work and when I entertain.

Why don't you try it and see for yourself.

AIM HELPS REDUCE CAVITIES

Of all the products I discuss in this column, the one that has the greatest interest for children and their parents is AIM toothpaste. Maybe I am prejudiced, but I know what AIM toothpaste does to help reduce cavities in children's teeth.

It took three years and thousands of check-ups, but when it was over, dentists had discovered that children who used AIM fluoride toothpaste had significantly fewer cavities than children who used non-fluoride toothpaste.

In fact, the cavity reduction with AIM is so significant that even the leading fluoride toothpaste could not beat it.

AIM contains stannous fluoride and has a taste preferred by children. Its good taste encourages the young ones to brush their teeth more willingly.

This is especially a good time to buy AIM so you can participate in the Baseball Helmet promotion in June. Read the ads in Boys' Life, Good Housekeeping and Family Circle to get all the details. You have a great opportunity to order your child's favorite baseball team hat for only $1.75.

—Planned Parenthood exec

"But we need to go further," said Ms. Wattleton. "We need to go further than simply voting more money for the field. Increased funding is certainly one condition for growth of the field of reproductive investigation, but another is increased commitment and interest on the part of the medical profession and the research establishment. Organizations such as Planned Parenthood have to place as - x top priority item on their public education agendas the recruitment of support and the raising of public visibility for this crucial field," added Ms. Wattleton.

The third target for Planned Parenthood during Ms. Wattleton's administration is to formulate and pursue a national strategy for reducing the incidence of teenage pregnancy, and for creating a world in which our young people will be able to defer decisions about whether and when to bear children until they are really read for it.

"National media attention to this topic the past year, while welcome in itself, will be of no account unless it is followed up by some meaningful policies and programs for addressing the problem. And certainly there's not yet any evidence of a national commitment in this area. Just last week the president proposed in his budge $112 million for expansion of adolescent pregnancy services — more than 90 percent of which is for programs designed not to reduce the incidence of early pregnancy, but to cope, with its effects."
