

Many aspects of uniformity cannot be reflected in a table of weighted ratios, and it is increasingly important that the administration of assessment policies and procedures fully recognize the impact of economic changes prior to their appearing as deficiencies in a ratio study, for when this happens, the property owner has already suffered from the non-uniformity.