"This is my first anniversary in the ministry and I felt like having an outdoor celebration," said 27 - year - old Rev. Mrs. Brown.

Rev. Ms. Reba Brown

19 states at Apostolic conclave

Delegates from 19 states attended the twelth annual convocation of the United Churches of Jesus Christ June 19-25.

The convention was held at the First United Church of Jesus Christ Apostolic, 5150 Baltimore National Pike. Bishop Monroe Saunders Sr. is the pastor and presiding bishop.

The church was formerly located in the 3400 block Copley Road.

"First United Church recently purchased the former Samuel Ready School on Baltimore National Pike.

Speaking of the new church home, Bishop Saunders told the guests attending the convocation, "Our twelth convocation is being held in a land which the Lord has provided us. It is in a national and international sense our land and the land belongs to the people of God."

Bishop Saunders organized the First United Church in November 1965. The church now has 2,000 members.

The convocation consisted of daily workshops for the youth and adults with 3,000 citizens attending.

Due to the large number of delegates attending the convention on June 25, services had to be held in the main sanctuary and the school gymnasium.

Speaking at the Sunday services, Bishop Saunders stated, "God in his long suffering and great love has sent the rains of revival to our church again. Unlike what most people think, revival is not a movement of God which only reminds us of what and how we used to be.

"On the contrary, revival is an onrush of a satisfied business as well...forcing it into a new dimension spirituality and power, making it dissatisfied with its snug feeling of its present security because it sees a more potent heavenly vision.

"It has long been a proven fact that there is still no room for an impotent, powerless, vigorless Christian or Christian church in a world like ours; nor is there any room for dull, matter - of fact, religiously pious (orthodox) Christian who only knows how to preserve the status quo — who are satisfied merely to embalm the backfiles of yesterday.

"We live in a real world with real problems—greed, immorality, conflict, lovelessness, gross misunderstanding, anarchy, hatred, utter confusion and rejection. In such a world people are disgusted with, even sick of false promises, open - ended illusions, pious platitudes and barren commitments which offer much but deliver little.

"People, all people, hunger for a divine manifestation, an up - to - date holy radicalism, a fresh raw undiluted deluge of holy spirit energy, of purposeful power, unorthodox and untamed power to deal with the problems of modern man's inner world; for it's in this inner world where every man is most seriously plagued.

"Man must have this entry of radical energy if his inner spirit is to be set in tune with the harmony of God in Jesus, God's own unique and supremely radical unorthodox son. Today, he is saying he filled with the Holy Ghost. This is the transforming need of the hour.

"May I assure you that what we have potentially in the church of Jesus Christ is tremendous; what we are doing with what we have is disgusting. Therefore the call today is for sons of God to manifest themselves in a sort of radical madness, the hallmark of the radical madness, the hallmark of the sons of God in every age. Be guilty of festers' description of Paul —'Paul you are insane, your long studying has broken your mind.'

"To wear the badge of 'madness,' of 'insanity' is to be truly ordained, truly inducted into the goodly fellowship of the sons of God. In this fellowship one does the impossible because he sees the invisible.

"In this fellowsnip one is so busy receiving the secrets of tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow — eternity" secrets, which he makes relevant to the problems of time — so busy being occupied with the new light breaking forth from Jesus — new disclosures of the cosmic purpose of God concerning his universe — so involved in applying this divine knowledge to the solutions of the world's problems today and tomorrow, personal, social, economic, political and otherwise, so involved in the radical ministry of the spirit that one refuses to become preoccupied with a ministry which is bent on and even satisfied with exhuming and embalming the backfiles of yesteryear. Such a ministry specializes in the treatment of symptoms.

"The radical 'madness' ministry of the spirits looks beyond the symptom and treats the cause.

Oblate Sisters to celebrate 150th anniversary July 2

The Oblate Sisters of Providence will mark the beginning of their Sesquicentennial Year of Celebration with a Eucharistic Liturgy at Saint Mary's Park on Paca Street, July 2, at 1 p.m.

Lawrence Cardinal Shehan, former Archbishop of Baltimore, will be the chief celebrant.

The congregation made history when, in 1829, the four original Sisters formed the first society of black religious women in the Catholic Church. The incident took place at old Saint Mary's Seminary on Paca Street, and it is there that the Sisters and their friends will celebrate a liturgy of thanksgiving.

After the Mass, guests are invited to tour the lower chapel of the building regarded as the cradle of the Order's foundation. Luncheon will be served at the Motherhouse on Gun Road, south of Catonsville, after the tours.

The Oblate Sisters of Providence serve people in 12 states beyond the Baltimore-Washington area, as well as in Costa Rica.

Baltimore schools staffed by them are The Father Charles A. Hall Middle and Upper Schools, Mount Providence Child Development Center, Mount Providence Reading Center, and the Rosa Parks Lower School.

In Washington, D.C. Saints Paul and Augustine, Saint Benedict the Moor, and Holy Comforter Schools are Oblate-staffed.

Area celebrations scheduled throughout the country will involve the hierarchy, alumni, and friends in the 17 dioceses and archdioceses in which the Sisters work and will be announced later.
