City ushers break bread together

By Marjorie R. Green

"As an offical representative of the church and of Jesus Christ, the usher has an enormous obligation in helping lead pekple into readiness for learning, worshiping, and evangelism. Progressive churches are giving more and more attention to public relations and to the part which church ushering plays in their public relations program."

In a very unique first of a kind banquet setting, City church ushers recently sponsored one of the most spiritual fellowships that this town has seen.

With "Love" as the theme and love in their hearts, the ushers representing various fatihs, and dressed in coloful gowns and neatly pressed suits began arriving at the La Fountain Bleu long before the scheduled time. There were approximately thirty churches participating in the fellowship given by and for ushers. A relaxed informal atmosphere prevailed throughout the evening and every usher there was "somebody."

Ms. Sandra Brice, usher, New Pilgrim Baptist Church received a thunderous ovation when she so eloquently delivered the occasion. She recalled how the ushers meet each Sunday afternoon in different churches to celebrate Usher Anniversaries and how wonderful it was that they had brought the church to the banquet.

Several of the program participants were ministers who served as doorkeepers prior to being called to the ministry. The continuous applause coming from the ushers expressed their appreciation to the spiritual leaders who took time from their busy schedules to fellowship and affirm the inter - relationship of the pulpit ministry and the ministry of ushering.

The Rev. Robert T. Hurte, pastor of Community Baptist Church, Waterloo, talked about his experiences as an usher in Faith Baptist Church. He cautioned the audience about the mountains and valleys that they would have to travel and assured them that "God can and will open doors." He went on to say that "no one knows what God has in store for them, because "you can be a doorkeeper one day and stand in the pulpit the next day." Rev. Hurte addressed the theme "Love" and compared the duties of the biblical usher to the present day usher.

The Rev. Alex Young, pastor of Mt. Calvary Star Baptist Church and former usher, was applauded when he came close to delivering a sermon as he recalled how ushers can sometimes be taken for granted. Mrs. Young, who accompanied her husband to the banquet is currently serving as a usher at the Mt. Calvary Star Church.

The Rev. Dr. Olin P. Moyd, pastor, Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church and candidate for the House of Delegates spoke on good government and the need to elect persons who will represent the people in a divine way. He assured the assembly of ushers that "Pastors do appreciate the services that ushers render."

It was the Rev. Douglas Wilson, pastor, Fulton United Baptist Church who drew laughs when he related his cow and bull story to illustrate the "misunderstanding of purpose." Solos were rendered by John Highsmith, Whitestone Baptist Church and Mrs. Juanita Garey, True Foundation Church. The Reflections of Truth captivated the audience with their soft musical renditions Another former usher, the Rev. Fletcher Miller, associate minister, Concord Baptist Church, electrified the audience with his words of encouragement prior to rendering the benediction.

The program closed with the guests holding hands as they sang the freedom song, "We Shall Overcome."

Committee persons responsible for fellowship were Mrs. Peal Blake, Timothy Baptist Church; Mrs. Elaeves Mills, Concord; Mrs. Pauline Brunson, Northeast; Mrs. Carrie Royster, Mt. Pleansant; Mrs. Vivian Hill, Revival Mission; Mrs. Marie Jackson , Fulton United; Mrs. Ida Aarone, New Union; Mrs. Ethel Walker, First Baptist; Mrs. Maggie Fullard, Ebenezer; Mrs. Mildred Williams, Ray of Hope; Mrs. Bessie McClinton, Fountain.

Also, Mrs. Josephine Morton, City Temple; Mrs. Eunice Spears, Faith; Mrs. Felicia Poulson, Simmons Memorial; Mrs. Pearl Carter, New Psalmist; Mrs. Catherine Adams, Unity and Mrs. Marjorie R. Green, Usherboard president at Concord Baptist Church and banquet co - ordinator. Mrs. Elizabeth Austin, Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church was toastmistress.

Other Churches participating were Israel, Southern Friendship, Unity Southern Baptist, St. Phillips, Shiloh (Edgemere), Sweet Hope, Macedonia, Sweet Hope and New Pilgrim Baptist Church.

The committee will meet on Saturday, July 15, to make plans for next years Fellowship Banquet. Additional churches have been invited to participate.

Note: "Church ushering has its own rewards. Every usher who performs his work faithfully and in the right spirit has the satisfaction of doing an important service — a service rendered to the Lord Christ Himself. And he has the assurance that one day our Lord will acknowledge his efforts and say to him: "Well done thou good and faithful servant, Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." Matthew 25:21

24th annual Christian Youth Seminar hosted

By Angie Thornton

Over 500 young people ranging in ages from 12 to 25 years old gathered together at Shaw University, Raleigh, N.C. for the 24th Annual Youth Seminar sponsored by the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, June 25 to June 30. These youth, who came seeking God's word, represented over 199 churches from the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland, New York, North Carolina, Virginia, New Jersey, Kentucky, and Washington, D.C.

During the week-long seminar the youth are introduced to officers of both the parent - body organization and the officers of the Youth Department, such as Dr. Wendell Somerville, executive secretary of the Lott Carey Convention; Dr. J. D. Bussey, president; Rev. Marcus Wood, seminar director and pastor of Providence Baptist Church, Baltimore; Mrs. Doris Robinson, seminar coordinator and member of 5th Street Baptist Church, Richmond, Va.; and Mrs. Mary Hendrick, director of Youth Department.

The Youth Department officers are: P. Michelle Felton, president, North Carolina; Carolyn Pope, first vice president; Pennsylvania; Arthur Cobb, second vice president, Washington, D.C.; Sylvia Kinard, third vice president, New York; Cynthia Coleman, secretary, Baltimore; Edward Grimes, corresponding secretary, North Carolina; and Claudette Stapleton, Worship chairman, Kentucky.

The purpose of the seminar was two - fold: It gives the youth a world - wide view of current problems while offering a Christian approach in combatting these problems and the seminar also tries to create and awaken a sense of responsibility in these young people as being Christians. Not only are the participants given Christian education, but they are informed on the history of the Lott Carey organization.

The Lott Carey Baptist Mission Convention, organized in 1897, was named for Rev. Lott Carey, a black missionary to Africa in 1821, and is made up of over 16 states including the District of Columbia. There are Lott Carey Mission Stations in the countries of India, Guyana, South America, Liberia, and Nigeria.

The convention also specializes in training foreign students here in the United States for work in their native countries.

At the seminar the young people are given the opportunity to participate in the devotional services through song, prayer, scripture and sermonettes. Rap sessions were held three days during the week where youth and discussions leaders talked about today's church, getting more youth involved, Gay Rights and the church, and many other interesting topics. Each activity planned during the seminar was done with the youth participants in mind. Never was there a time when the adult advisors were given the opportunity or even had to take charge of a worship service, a recreational period, or even a youth-led devotional. This week was one of total youth talent speaking, singing, and listening for the Lord.

The Youth Department took on a special project, started in 1977, to raise money to buy a school bus for the children in Liberia. During the seminar, $814 was raised by the youth through giving. Donations from the various church represented totaled $615.75, and with funds previously raised the Youth Department presented $6727.75 to the Parent - body for the purchase of the bus. The other money will be supplemented by the Adult Body.

Those churches participating from Baltimore were Faith Baptist, Union Baptist, Mt. Sinai Baptist, First Baptist, Providence Baptist, and City Temple Baptist Church. Some of the youth from Baltimore, whose participation should be noted were Wanda Wiggins, Kenneth Grant, James Leonard, Brian Hunter, Ricky Fitchett, Brenda McDaniels, Brenda Brooks, Jewryl Allen, Timothy Pitts, Michael and Peter Gantbrie, Micheal Smith, and William Thornton, who presented a soul - stirring sermonette.

All of the youth who participated represented themselves and their churches in an excellent way. These people who believe that the youth of today are in serious trouble should have been present for this week of seeing talented youth who have decided that they don't need drugs, alcohol, or crime to show that they are going to make it in this world. These 500 and some young people have chosen the Lord to help them and they realize that is all they need.

Harlem Park Community Baptist Church marks third birthday

"We've come a mighty long way. People didn't believe that we could do it, but we did. The making of the theatre into the Harlem Park Community Baptist Church was truly a faith venture," said the Rev. Raymond Kelly Jr.

The Rev. Kelly and his congregation, now of 270 marked their third anniversary in the old Harlem Theatre Wednesday, July 5.

In 1975, the Rev. Kelly and his congregation of 75 purchased the old Harlem Theatre for $70,000. When they originally moved to the new Gilmor Street building the church was called the People's Community Mission. Because the members wanted to become an active part of the community they then changed their name to the Harlem Park Community Baptist Church.

The Rev. Kelly reports that the church has undergone a complete renovation over the past three years.

"We pulled out all the theatre seats and replaced them with pews. We installed new windows, drapes and built a worship center."

The church is continuously involved in community service projects which include educational trips for youngsters in the community to places like the Smithsonian Institute, the White House, etc.

The National United Women Ministers Conference, Inc. invites all female clergy, missionaries and any interested church worker, male or female, to become an important part of this organization.

Monthly meetings are held every fist Friday. The next meeting will be July 7, 7:30 p.m. at the Christian Unity Temple, pastored by the Rev. Maude Coleman.

The conference is opened of all denominations and races.

The public is cordially invited to the observance of the Martyrdom of the Ba'b, the Gate, on Sunday, July 9 at noon. At 3 p.m. there will be a speaker, Dr. Fred Lee. Both activities will be observed at the Baltimore Baha'i Center, 5301 Gwynn Oak Ave.

The Ba'b — in 1844 — announced a new religious law, and by precept and example instituted a profound moral and spiritual reform. He and his followers alarmed the then rulers of church and state, in Persia, and the Ba'b was martyred by a firing squad in a public square along with 20,000 of the devout followers . . . . . in 1850.

He foretold the appearance of One who would reveal the spiritual and social teachings and the administrative order of this new era — One who would be the bearer of God's Word for this Age — Baha'u'lla'h. Baha'is throughout the world will join the Baltimore City community of fellow believers in commemorating this Holy Day.

Urban Services dedicates neighborhood center

"Amen. Praise the Lord. Thank ya. Tell it Hmmmm. . . ."

These were the responses to Dr. Leonard E. Hicks, pastor of Greater New Hope Baptist Church as he delivered the keynote address at the Open House of Urban Services Neighborhood Center No. 30.

"We are of course thankful to God and others for giving us such a building, but we are more thankful for the services that this center will provide. And we must continuously pray that this neighborhood center impact upon those people who are in need of such services," said Rev. Hicks.

Well over 200 residents, community leaders, elected officials, as well as clergymen attended the Open House of USA Center No. 30 recently held at 940 W. Fayette St.

Urban Services Neighborhood Center No. 30, is one of 26 neighborhood centers throughout Baltimore City, designed to upgrade the social and economical environment of resents within the Poppleton community, (Mulberry Street, north; Lombard Street, south; Fremont Avenue, east; Carey Street, west), employing concepts of self help to affect changes for the individual and the community.

Kenneth D. Chapman, director of Urban Services Neighborhood Center No. 30 in his welcoming address related to the outdoor audience the "Power of Prayer."

"Having the Center displaced for six months and lossing a considerable amount of contact with the community, I began to pray to God that he help find a building so that my staff and I would begin to operate a neighborhood center and help community folks.

"In early March, 1978, He answered my prayer and provided the community with such a center."

"Now that we have a neighborhood center," said Ruth Kirk, chairperson of USA Center No. 30 advisory council, "I urge all of you in the community to visit or call the Center and use it as a resource to help solve many of your problems."

Many of the residents received special thanks because of their active participation in the Open House activities.

They included Mary Carter, Mildred Griffin, Delores Mason, Ora Walters, Bessie Scott, Elizabeth Mundale, Kawkins Grocery Store, Sampsons Restaurant, Carrie Terry, Okema Winston, Shirley Walker and others.

The staff of Center No. 30 was equally thanked for their efforts in making the Open House enjoyable.

They include Walter Stevenson, assistant director; Peggy Peacock, neighborhood assistant; Martina D. Madden, neighborhood assistants; Ens Dixon, neighborhood assistant and Uvonna Taylor, neighborhood assistant.

Others in attendance included: Del. Larry Young; James Ball, pastor, Timothy Baptist Church; Brother Joseph Yax, St. Peter and the Apostle Church; Lenwood Ivey, executive director of Urban Services Agency; Marguerite Campbell, Mayor's representative; Ronald E. Braxton, pastor, Allen AME Church and Elva J. Edwards, associate director of Urban Services Agency.

DEDICATION — Those in attendance at the Open House of Urban Services Neighborhood Center number 30 included (L to R): Mrs. Leonard E. Hicks; Rev. James Ball, pastor of Timothy Baptist Church; Mrs. Ruth Kirk, chairman, Advisory Counsul of Urban Service Center number 30; Mrs. Elva Edwards, associate director, Urban Services Agency; Brother Joseph Yax, St. Peter the Apostle Church; Linwood Ivey, director, Urban Services Agency; Rev. Dr. Leonard E. Hicks, pastor, Greater New Hope Baptist Church; Rev. Ronald E. Braxton, pastor, Allen AME Church; Kenneth D.
