Miss Essexe A. Ross becomes bride

The wedding ceremony uniting Miss Essexe Artrelle Ross and Kermit Clifton Burton in holy matrimony was held Saturday, July 8 at the Grace United Presbyterian Church, 2604 Bannister Rd.

For the occasion the bride wore a Piccione full length gown of candlelight peau de soie and imported alencon lace. The fitted all lace bodice was enhanced by seed pearls as were the long traditional lace sleeves. The A-line peau de soie skirt was completely encircled by a border of beaded lace which swept into a chapel-length train.

The cascade bridal bouquet designed and arranged by Bernard James, of Oceanious Flower Arrangers, a replica of Barbara Streisand's bouquet in "Funny Girl", consisted of white doves, cymbidium orchids, carnations and baby's breath.

Realizing that the processional traditionally symbolized the movement through life...from childhood to adulthood, usually within the loving care of the family, the couple chose to have the bride's parents, as well as the bridegroom's parents, escort them to the cental place, giving the parental blessing.

The wedding was performed by the Right Rev. Alfred G. Dunston, Bishop of the Fourth Episcopal District AME Zion Church, the Right Rev. Clinton R. Coleman, Bishop of the Eighth Episcopal District AME Zion Church, and the Rev. William Lloyd Burton Jr., pastor, Mt. Zion AME Zion Church, Montgomery, Ala. and brother of the bridegroom.

Ringbearer was William Moore.

Music was rendered by The Bobian Four accompanied by Victor W. Myrick of New Shiloh Baptist Church, organist.

Reception

A reception honoring the couple was hosted in the church social hall. The "Love" theme and the colors of lilac and yellow, the bridegroom's fraternity colors, Omega Psi Phi, were carried throughout the decorations.

In addition to the newlyweds, another major attraction at the reception festivities was a pair of white doves in a white French - gilted cage with symbolized peace and love. They were located directly behind the couple at the bridal table.

Another focus point of attention was a six - foot tall fresh fruit arrangement trimmed with candles and fresh roasted peanuts which was created and given to the couple as a gift by Bernard James, owner of Oceanious Flower Arrangers.

There was also an iced melon display consisting of cantaloupe, watermelon, Driscoll strawberries, bing cherries, and pineaple. Also on display was a four - tier wedding cake of lilac and yellow which was donated to the couple by Shabazz Bakery. The cake exhibited a Chi Rho cross on the top with the bride and bridegroom on the second tier. It was based with four heart - shaped cakes and heart shaped boxes of cake.

Wedding etiquette

BREAKING THE NEWS. Mothers and fathers are knowing folk and despite the fact that they probably guessed it long ago, you will want to break the news to them first.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE BY THE BRIDE'S FAMILY AT LEAST THREE MONTHS BEFORE THE WEDDING IF POSSIBLE; NEVER LESS THAN SIX WEEKS BEFORE THE DATE SELECTED. If it is to be announced at a social affair, an engagement luncheon, tea, dinner or formal dance may be given.

YOUR ENGAGEMENT will be an item of interest to the local newspapers. Telephone the society editors and ask what information they will use and the form in which you should send it to them. Send information to papers in your fiance's home town if be is not a local resident.

THE GROOM'S PARENTS should call upon the bride and her parents before the engagement is announced. If the bride lives in another city, a cordial note should be written to welcome her into the groom's family.

PRE-NUPTIAL PARTIES are an exciting part of the engagement period. Relatives on either side may give parties in honor of the bride, but at such affairs there are no gifts. Only friends give showers for the bride, and the guest lists are checked with the bride and her mother. The bride's attendants are usually invited to all showers.

THE SPINSTER PARTY, small and intimate, is given by the bride, her maid of honor or a close friend. There are no gifts given to the bride, but she may present gifts to her attendants at this party if she wishes.

THE BACHELOR DINNER is traditionally given by the bridegroom, although it may be given by the best man, one of the ushers or a friend. It is of course "for men only."

THE REHEARSAL DINNER may be given by the groom's parents, the bride's parents or an intimate friend or relative of their family. Invite spouses of wedding party members; if possible close out - of - town relatives and guests. It may be a sit - down dinner or informal buffet.

BEFORE SETTING THE DATE visit your clergyman and discuss church customs. Consult your fiance as to the time most convenient for him to leave his business. Consider the season of the year in planning the honeymoon trip.

THE FASHIONABLE HOUR. High noon or half - past twelve is the favored hour for the morning wedding. Because of customs of some churches, nine and ten o'clock ceremonies are equally desirous. The afternoon wedding at four or four - thirty is popular although many are held as early as three or three - thirty. The morning or afternoon wedding may be formal or informal. Evening weddings are at eight, eight - thirty, and in some areas of the country, as early as six and as late as nine in the evening. If the evening wedding is formal, it is strictly so, and the entire wedding party must be in formal dress.

SELECTING THE TYPE OF WEDDING and the place depends upon your own personal desire, your budget, the size of your family and the groom's, and the number of guests to be invited. It is certain to be one of the following:

A large formal church wedding and a home, hotel or club reception to which all church guests are invited.

A formal or informal church wedding and club, home or hotel reception for families and close friends.

A wedding in a church, club or hotel, with the two families and a few friends invited, followed by a reception to include all church guests and other friends.

A garden, home or club wedding with reception for all

A small chapel wedding with the bridal couple receiving friends in the foyer if no reception is planned.

HOW FORMAL A WEDDING? Whether it is to be a daytime or an evening ceremony, the bride's attire determines the degree of formality for the wedding party and guests. The wedding gown with long train and veil is the traditional costume for the most formal wedding. For less formal dress, floor length and short bouffant bridal gowns with convertible features are favored because of their future wardrobe possibilities.
