The Cherry Hill Grapevine

By William Henderson Jr.

Well, I'm back.

In the past three weeks, it has become apparent that there are certain individuals, residing outside of Cherry Hill, who would like the citizens of Baltimore to believe that Cherry Hill is a community where violence is accepted as a way of life.

It is virtually impossible to discern the actual aim of a series of articles entitled "Guns: Seven Years Later" which were recently featured in a daily newspaper.

But, what is clear is the fact that these articles psychologically damaged the residents of Cherry Hill.

After considering the fact that Cherry Hill is the largest black community in South Baltimore, it is understandable why it has generous portions of social and other problems. These problems are imposed by our racist society which has seemingly placed the Cherry Hill community in exile.

But despite being isolated, Cherry Hill has produced its fair share of Baltimore's solid citizens, including judges, lawyers, doctors, deputy sherrifs, etc.

The writer of these articles has subjected the Cherry Hill community to unfavorable publicity. He failed to acknowledge any positive accomplishments and achievements of the citizens of Cherry Hill.

Instead he preferred to dramatize the lives of eight former residents of Cherry Hill who, for the most part, ended up in prison or dead. This small minority of unfortunate individuals does not in any way negate the entire community of Cherry Hill.

But perhaps there is something that the Cherry Hill community have prompted the residents to band together and display the splendid qualities of unity which were so vibrantly present in the demonstrations of the 60s.

IT'S A DAMN SHAME THAT . . .

The Bureau of Recreation has failed to repair three of four basketball goals which are located on the playground of the Patapsco Elementary School, 844 Roundview Road. The community uses this facility quite often. It is a shame that these repairs were needed since last year.

These are the bureacrats who must solve the problem.

A. L. Coxill, superintendent of the Bureau who is aware of this condition but seemingly is powerless to do anything about it.

Donald A. Millard, assistant superintendent of the Bureau who on many occasions have personally observed and noted these needed repairs.

Ralph E. Moore, maintenance supervisor of the Bureau, who has personally come out and made a requisition calling for repairs of the goals. ONE THING IS CERTAIN. . .

These afformentioned individuals are drawing fat pay checks, and are not doing the jobs for which they are being paid.

Correction The following are the correct prices for Food-A-Rama ad which appeared in Tuesday's afro: Mrs. Filbert's mayonnaise--99c Cucumbers--12c each Green beans--35c per pound. Pascal celery--49c a bunch.

BG and E wants another increase

The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co. will ask the Public Service Commission for its second major rate increase in less than a year.

The utility's board chairman, C. Edward Utermohle Jr., said he would request a $30 to $35 million increase because the company was not making its allowable rate of return.

Utermohle said the company was making 8.14 percent. If is allowed to earn 9.11 percent. He said inflation and other factors have kept the company below the allowable limit.

The Commission approved a $72.9 million rate increase — $55.4 million for electric service and $17.5 for gas — last December.

Utermohle also told investors at a meeting of the New York Society of Security Analysts that BG and E made significant gains in net income and common stock earnings for both the second quarter and the first six months of 1978.

Utermohle said the company reported a total net income of $27,773,000 in the second quarter, or 76 cents a share, up from $20,773,000 and 56 cents a share during the second quarter in 1977.

Net income for the first six months of 1978 was $67,910,000, or $1.91 a share. Last year, the comparable figures were $52,465,000 and $1.49 a share, respectively.

The company attributes the gains to rate increases and sales growth.
