We're taking time this summer to stop and look around — at you who're in the midst of us. We're looking at how you live and love and learn as you sojourn through this life.

It's amazing.

It's amazing how we can choose that thing which is most satisfying to us , whatever it may be.

Like the many who chose to travel to far away places, the islands, the Motherland, Europe and the like, while there were some who decided on backyard vacations.

The Otis Jays (former Mary Keets) natives of Baltimore, but who for the past two years have made their home in Colorado Springs, spent a two - week vacation visiting their families, Mr. and Mrs. Iglehart Keets and Mr. and Mrs. T. Ivery Jay. The young couple were honored by Mary's family on last Sunday at the Groveland Avenue home of Mary's sister, Mrs. Rita K. Selby.

Two days later, Tuesday, the Jays were on their way back home.

Currently, Mary is a special education teacher in the Colorado Springs School system, and Otis is in the army, stationed at Fort Carson.

Friends who came out to greet the Jays were: Dr. and Mrs. William Watts, Ms. Yvonne Addison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Amis, Shawn E. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. David Colter, Mrs. Dolores McEwen, Mrs. Vickie Colter, Mrs. Marcelene Rojas of Crownsville; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Robinson;

Mrs. Natalie Philps and granddaughters of Calif.; Mrs. Esther Williams, Mrs. Ida Robinson and daughter, Lisa; Benjamin M. Phillips, Ms. Ervina Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. A. Paul Moss, Mr. and Mrs. David Wright; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Dett, Mrs. Vivian M. Hutchins and daughter, Dianne;

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tarter, Miss Danielle Robinson, Mrs. Gladys Parker, Mrs. Lilyan Slater, Ms. Sonja Davenport, George Tolbert Ivy, Ms. Julia Anderson, Mrs. Gwendolyn Lindsay, Ms. Jackie Smith, Judge and Mrs. Ben Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Johnson, Ms. Yvonne Jay, Robert Gee and Robert Natont.

-25th Anniversary

The Arthur Milburn (Margretta) marked their 25th wedding recently with some 150 guests at a beautifully catered buffet dinner at their Conchita Drive home located in Ellicott City.

Those responsible for the affair were the couple's daughters, Terri and Amelia Milburn, who say that "through their love, they have given us the gift of love to share and give to others.

"This couple's seeming endless union has touched many people in many places . . .

A highlight of the celebration was a program of song, and dance starring the Milburn daughters and friends. Mrs. Thelma Heaggan and Mrs. Alma Hindle.

Ladies guests danced to a variety of music.

The Milburns were wed in Port Deposit, Md., where they lived for a short time before moving to Elkton and then on to Baltimore.

Following the renewal of wedding vows, Mr. Milburn presented his "bride" with a set of diamond and platinum wedding rings.

The U.S. Ambassador to Haiti, His Excellency William B. Jones, and his wife, Jo Ann, vacationing statesides, were honorees when Dr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Note From Hawaii

A note from the Wendell Suttons vacationing in Hawaii!

"The 5th Annual World Group Games Competition was held recently in Waikiki Park in Honolulu, Hawaii. The contestants ranged in age from 10 to 18, male and female, and came from as far away as Japan, England, Africa and other countries around the world. More than 500 amateur athletes competed in the events that included trampoline, double mini - tramp, platform tumbling, synchronized trampoline, rebound racing, spaceball, tumbling and acro-sports events.

Rosslyn Trotter, one of the few blacks competing, won first prize in synchronized trampolining and 3d prize in platform tumbling. She is 11 years old and is from Gulfport, Miss. Her mother, Lavon Trotter, accompanied her to Hawaii.

Schoolmates honored

That party that Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Gray (Sara) held at their Mohawk Avenue home on Saturday was to honor two high school chums and former Baltimoreans, now residing in Los Angeles.

Guests of honor were: Marcia Chapman Mills and her sister, Sheila Chapman Murchison. Both are daughters of the Norman Chapmans (Mattie) who still reside here in their native Baltimore.

The rain did not dampen the party, which began on the lawn, with appropriate background music by the Leroy Hawthorne Trio.

Those who were there tell me that it was truly like ole home week, with childhood friends and relatives reminiscing about the good ol days and marvelling about how time has passed and their children have grown up.

For example, Marcia and her husband, Dr. Damon Mills, have a son, Mark, who enters Harvard in the fall. And, to think, I'm old enough to remember when he was growing up in St. James Episcopal Church, where his father, now retired Episcopal Bishop Cedric E. Mills, was our minister of the time, and Mrs. Mills (Rebecca), was our choir directress and class advisor!!)

Sheila is married to Dr. Clinton Murchison, the Los Angeles physician. The Gray's oldest daughter, Gina, had been visiting with the Californians since Mark's graduation this summer. The youngest Gray daughter, Julie, is Marcia's godchild.

Among the guests at the party: Mrs. Gray's mom, Juliette Bragg; Dr. Gray's mom, Mazie Gray; and Mrs. Damon Mills' mom, Mrs. Chapman. (Mr. Chapman was recuperating from a hospital stay).

Also about were: Guy and Gladys Bragg, John and Carolyn Chissell, Tyson Tildon, Lee and Yvonne Leacock, Frazier and Lori Brice, Louis and Marie Randall, Harry and Doris Cole, Walter and Helena Edmonds, Clarence and Pat Hawkins, Bernard and Candice Byrd.

Also, Dennis and Linda Gowie, James and Anastasia Benton, Joseph and Carolyn Boston, Sidney and Faye Burnett, Ben and Adelle Foreman Sherlock and Ivy Grinage, Frank and Brenda Coakley.

And, Don and Vivian Rigby, Jim and Louise Gilliam, John and Shirley Hargrove, Dave and Becky Ashford, Robert and Phyllis Nelson, Warren Weaver, Lola Massey, Phyllis Diggs, Juanita Harris, Shirley Stewart, Cecil Cooper, Carroll Gibson, Ethel Locks, James Bynum, Doris Jones, Connie Jackson, Deanna Brown;

Also, Alice Smith, Gladys Dungee, Frank Conaway Robert Jackson, Jean Adams, David Scott, Helen Birt, Helen Whittaker, Lois Young, Oakley Saunders, Harold Jennifer, Eleanor Rilden, James Whitee, Vivian Holmes and John Maupin.

Weiches drop in

It was like old home week at Sam and Barbara Owings' on last Friday evening. Sam's Meharry Medical School classmate, Dr. Roland Welch, his wife, Mariam and their son, Tony, of Houston, Tex., dropped by en route home from the medical convention in D.C.

Other classmates now practicing here who gathered at the Owings' to exchange reminiscences along with their mates, were, the Harold Ray Johnsons, Lionel Desbordes, Cyril Ashbys, James Ruckers, Earl Clays and Oakley Saunders. Also about Phyllis Bond and the Charles Thompsons.

More people travelling — Sophisticated Ladies

Golden Wedding Anniversary

It was a golden wedding anniversary celebration recently for Mr. and Mrs. John W. Manning of Granbley Road, given by their daughter Mrs. Melisande Brewer of South Plainfield, N.J. at La Fontaine Bleu.

Oh what a happy occasion it was!.

Friends came from far away places. Among them were: Mrs. Yale Parks, Columbus, Ohio (Mr. Manning's sister); Mr. and Mrs. Danuel Mitchell, Lehigh, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lyles, and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Anderson and Mrs. Lethia Wilkinson and daughters from Washington.

Now retired, Mr. Manning is the former postal clerk, and Mrs. Manning, the Public Schools teacher.

Side notes

Oops department: In this space last week, our item about members of the swimming instruction club called CGYP (Charley's Girls At Yancy's Pool), was cut off in the middle.

What we were saying is that the members gathered last Sunday at the Yancy Whittaker's pool, where the instructor, Charles Robinson, presented them with certificates for successful completion of an intensive swimming course.

The 'graduates' were, Carolyn Boston, Mable Byrd, Helen Birt, Sara Gray, Mable Grant, Christine Moore, Edith Henry, Alice Russell, Hermione Weaver, Bea Wright, Lorraine Brown, and the hostess, Helen Whittaker.

They presented the instructor and the host and hostess with thank - you gifts, and participated in a variety of activities around the pool. They and their guests collected prizes for high scores in golf, badminton, disco dance, checkers, bridge and ping pong. Paul Scott coordinated the recreation activities and the graduation' program.

Fall program suits special needs at Notre Dame College

This fall, students of all ages can choose the educational option yhay suits their own needs at the College of Notre Dame of Maryland.

Adults who work full - time and want an alternative to night school, women who want to finish their college degree after a gap of several years, and young women interested in beginning their studies, will all find programs to suit their needs at Notre Dame.

For instance, Notre Dame's Weekend College is particularly geared toward employed adults, both men and women, who want to work for a degree or just take stimulating courses or a convenient schedule.

Instead of attending classes in the evening, every week, students at the Weekend College have class on Friday evenings, Saturdays, or Sunday morning, two or three weekends a month. The actual amount of time spent in class is less than with traditional college courses; students do much independent study outside of class and can adjust their study to their own schedules. Both men and women attend the Weekend College, which offers a Bachelor's Degree in business, communications or human services.

Registration for Weekend College is being held through September 1 this fall. Classes begin September 8. For more information on the Weekend College program or fall course offerings, call 435 - 0100, extension 323.

Notre Dame's Continuing Education program offers several alternatives to the adult woman returning to school. "Developing New Horizons" is a non - credit counseling course which helps students evaluate their interests and abilities and realistically plan their futures.

Continuing Education students may take a variety of courses in non - traditional subjects that are held once a week as a convenience for the busy woman. The entire range of credit courses in Notre Dame's regular program are also open to the adult student.

Registration for continueing education courses runs through September 6 this fall with classes starting September 7. For more information on the program call 435 - 0100, extension 321.

Notre Jame's four - year liberal arts program for young women has added several new features in recent years. Recently added fields of concentration include business, photography and communications, and this year Notre Dame will expand its already - active career development program.

Students will receive intensive personal counseling, from the start of their college years, in career choices and training, planning their futures, and personal decision - making.

An internship program is a basic part of a Notre Dame education, and students are given direction in selecting internships to match their interests and promote future career possibilities.

More information on Notre Dame's four - year liberal arts program may be obtained by calling 435 -0100, extension 277.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS — Notre Dame College in Baltimore has special programs to suit individual needs for both men and women. Here a student is pictured exercising her creativity in an art class.

The Diet Corner

Is this the place? The eating place?

That's funny, I don't see a table and chairs. What I do see is a sofa and a television set. Or a bed and night table. Or the front seat of the car.

Is this the place to be eating????

No. It is not! And do you know — that may be the root of your trouble. Because a diet program should contain clear instructions about where to eat as well as directions about what and how much to eat. I assume that you are overweight, have been overweight, or are concerned about an overweight person. Or why would you be reading me when you could be nibbling away at the latest gothic romance these hot summer days?

Okay, now think about the negatives of stuffing your mouth in the living or loving room. Take the sofa and the TV setting. Eyes riveted on the screen, you move hand to bowl of potato chips, to mouth, to glass of soda (non - diet) to mouth, to potato chips, to mouth. Do you think about what you are doing? You do not. Before you know it both bowl and glass are empty and you are full — of munchies you needed not. Your eating is unconscious and unstructured.

On to the bed and night table act. There you lie, propped against the pillows. In one hand, the latest best - seller. The other hand actively dipping into a box of candy or pretzels or . . . ? Right hand turns the page; left hand snatches goodies. If you time it right, you'll hit The End and the bottom of the box simultaneously.

As for the front seat of the car, there exists in the minds of travelers the canard that when the vehicle is tanked up, the driver and passengers must load up, too — on anything the snack machine disgorges. So for the two hundred miles, you fuel yourself on peanuts, peppermints, and cheese crackers.

Are you in any (or all) of these pictures? There's a cure!

Plants are also bountiful as the crowd of more than two hundred fifty who came and went on Sunday found out. Among those there to browse, buy and feast on buns, punch and other delicacies prepared by Mr. Kromah, who is also a master baker were Mr. and Mrs. Lew (Ann) France, she's Gail Kromah's principal at School No. 46, Pat Wilson, Del. and Mrs. Douglass Sands, Lois Kyler;

Carlos Hutchins, Arvis and Richard Welbourne, Dawn Womack, Robert Smallwood, Doris Arvin, Gail's mother; Shawn and Stacey Kromah (Ernest's daughters), Mr. and Mrs. John Mayden, he's also a local artist; Kip Branch, Patricia A. Hunter and son Mark; Kay Ballard;

Mrs. Andrew Pindershughes and daughter, Karen; Eric A. Hunter, Joann P. Henry and Julia and Carlos Winbourne.

Artists present were Joseph Molluna, Helen Baskerville, Jerry Prettyman, Mohammed Saide - Bey, also of Moresco, International Import Shop; Jose Salzano, Robert McQueen, Joyce Scott, Ameen Rashed, responsible for the jewelry; Bill Joyner, David Carlton, Beverly Dorsey Wilson, Steve Cuffie, Aaron Walker, Thornton Daniels and Rodriqui Wolngust.

The present exhibit will be on view thru August 31 and Ernest and Gail plan more exhibits for the near future as well as one - man shows. In other words, this venture — our very own Black Art Gallery is here to stay.

Hats off!
