

It will be noted that a number of the church records received contain vital records dating in the 1890's and early 1900's. The fact that official vital statistics were poorly kept during this period adds greatly to the potential usefulness of these records, since they may be the only means by which a person who is filing a claim for social security benefits can prove his date of birth.