800 attend fete for Aged Home

Luncheon guests hear poems by black authors

By Elizabeth M. Oliver

The Trustees Luncheon held last week at the Pikesville Hilton Inn for the benefit of the Baptist Home for the Aged saw over 800 guests present for the feast and entertainment.

With Mrs. Virginia L. Brown and Deacon James Williams as chairpersons, the Yuletide theme was carried out in the dinner and on the program.

Highlights were the singing of carols and the recitation of poems written by black authors and related to Christmas and the family.

Miss Laura Whitfield, second vice president of the Baptist Women's Convention, read two Christmas stories and Mrs. James Williams of Faith Baptist Church recited from Paul Lawrence Dunbar's poems and was dressed in an authentic costume of the pre - Civil War black mother.

Many commented that the presentations of black authors was of more appropriate meaning than a white Santa and Christmas symbols of authors of other races.

Mrs. Bessie Mason presided as first vice president of the Women's Convention with greetings by Rev. Arthur E. Jones, chairman of the Trustee Board of the Baptist Aged Home and Rev. Roy Johnson, pastor of Good Tidings Baptist Church and City Editor Elizabeth M. Oliver who conferred the AFRO citation for community service.

The banquet room was decorated with Yule evergreens and the businesses and program participants wore Christmas bouquets.

In the foyer outside the dining room, the Baptist ladies sold the latest fashions in winter hats, homemade baked goods and Christmas candy.

The Trustee Board's purposes in raising funds for the Baptist Aged Home were explained in remarks by Dr. Matthew R. Silver, president of the Maryland Baptist Missionary Convention.

Dr. Silver said the total of $40,000 due would be paid by the March date which is set for the final banquet. Also speaking were Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Mason, Dr. Lorenzo Graves, chairman of the FRED Committee and Dr. Alfred C.D. Vaughn, pastor of Grace Memorial Baptist Church and president of the Baptist Clergy in Action organization.

The printed Christmas program was courtesy of the Rev. Samuel Redd Funeral Home now located at 5200 York Road and Dr. Vaughn's Baptist Pastors In Action group.
