The Hiram Grand Lodge Masonic School of Instruction hosted its annual Charity May Ball on Friday, May 11, from 7:30 p.m. until 1 a.m. at Martin's West.

A capacity crowd of 800 attended. For the guests there was a delicious sit - down dinner of chicken, steak, potatoes, carrots, assorted salads and a fruit bar. For the tasting there was also continuous open bar.

The Masonic School really had their musical entertainment together. Not only was there disco music for dancing, there was Bobby Felder's dynamic band from Washington, D.C., which provided music for both listening and dancing throughout the evening.

One very special highlight of the affair was the May Ball's Queen Contest, which was originated last year as a part of the festivities for this occasion.

Mrs. Eleanor LoFland was crowned queen of the May Ball. Mrs. Mary Peterson, last year's queen, crowned this year's winner.

Mrs. Mersia Rice and Mrs. Gloria Studivant were first and second runners up respectively.

Winners were chosen by a tally of the number of votes they had sold. As an added incentive, each person who bought votes was eligible for a color television. Winners of the sets were picked if their vote stubs were drawn.

The purpose of the May Ball's Queen Contest was to raise money to send underprivilged children to summer camp for a week. The funds raised are channeled through the Department of Social Services to the children who need it to attend summer camp.

Last year this activity enabled 150 children to go to summer camp. The Masons anticipate that the funds raised this year will send at least 150 or more this year.

The 60 graduates of the Masonic School of Instuction attended the ball. These graduates have attended Masonic classes since October 1978.

They were graduated and received diplomas on Sunday, May 13. They used the auditorium of the Southern High School for their graduation ceremony. These men will continue as Master Masons of The Most Worshipful Hiram Grand Lodge, F. M. and A.M.

A certificate of appreciation was presented to Charlie P. Tilghaman, owner of the Sphinx Club, by the Masonic School for his generous donations to the School and for his generosity in allowing the School to use his property for meetings of preparation for the May Ball's Queen activity.

Other certificates of appreciation for generosity and helpfulness to the Masonic School (in the May Ball's Queen Contest) were made to: Norman Holt, florist, Coffield Cleaners and Mac - El's Grocery.

Others slated to receive Certificates of Appreciation for their generosity and support to the Masonic School's Ball are: Miller Rubber Company, Sportman's Barber Shop, Dolfield Barber Shop, L and S Exterminators, Dolfield Auto Insurance, Haven Lounge and Restaurant; also Donald Jackson, Mrs. Mary Peterson, (last year's queen), Mrs. Norma Handy and Willie Swinton.

The Masonic School of Instruction received a Certificate of Appreciation from the Department of Social Services, for donating money to them each year for such a worthy cause.

Among the special guests attending this lovely affair were: John V. Thornton, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of Hiram Grand Lodge and Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. Helen V. Benton, Grand Worthy Matron of Naomi Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Stars; Mrs. Marguerite Campbell, (Mayor Schaefer's represen- Social Services, Mrs. Ernestine Jones, acting director, Department of Social Services, Mrs. Phyllis Shelton, director of public affairs for WJZ - TV, and Mrs. Mary Claybourne of Radio Station WWIN.

'World's Largest Disco

By Pattie Hodges

A gigantic disco, produced by Robert Clay Productions Inc., was held Saturday, May 5, at the plush Clubhouse.

Given for the benefit of the Maryland Minority Contractors Association (MMCA), this affair was a definite success.

There was a capacity crowd of more than 3,000 disco loving guests attending.

The theme, "The World's Largest Disco," was truly appropriate, for it is believed by Kent C. Gibson, promotional representative for the Clay Corp., that this disco affair is the largest to be held to date.

Guests travelled from as far west as Los Angeles, as far north as New York and as far south as Atlanta. Everyone displayed his or her own personal style and class as the guests strolled through the gigantic corridors.

Hostesses were the chic Stardust Models, who made everyone feel welcome and comfortable.

The affair took place on three levels. The first level was arranged with amusements, food concessions, two bars and an arts and crafts and jewelry display.

The second level (which you could reach by escalator or elevator) was the heaviest area of concentration.

Filled with an array of lights, music, lounge restaurant and photo areas, this is where everyone succumbed to disco fever and partied from 9 p.m. until 5 a.m.

The third level consisted of a plush clubhouse lounge, which had a private intimate atmosphere.

Here guests could relax and listen to the smooth and classy sounds of Baltimore's own Ms. Ruby Glover, along with the melodic voice of the most talented and beautiful Ms. Fhonda Melton.

The music group of the evening was the local "Fuzzy" Kane trio and they did jam.

A few of the enormous crowd enjoying the scene to the hilt were: Mrs. Evelyn Douglass, Hanford Jones, Doug Sands, Rodry Webb, Jerry L. Welbourne, Kent C. Gibson, Angela Simms, Yolanda Comegys, Freddie Mayers, Donald McArthur, Embu Settu, Mr. and Mrs. John Feaster, James Louis, Kenny Dent, Joyce and Gerry Moore and Robert Clay.

MAY BALL GUESTS — Illustrious James D. Elliott, Grand Lecturer of The Masonic School of Instruction, Hiram Grand Lodge, greets Mrs. Marguerite Campbell, Mayor Schaefer's representative, Mrs. Kewanee M. Smith, youth services specialist from the Department of Social Services, and Mrs. Ernestine Jones, acting director, Department of Social Services, at the recent Mason's May Ball.

KISS!!! — A jovial guest gives Robert Clay, head of Robert Clay Productions, an affectionate greeting at a recent bash held at the Laurel Raceway clubhouse. Sponsors of the event dubbed it "The World's Largest Disco."

Joneses celebrate 50 golden years

By Marie Phillips Braxton

It's the time of year when the love bug bites . so folk say. (Or, maybe it's something in the water.) Engagements. Weddings. Anniversaries, and the like.

Like several Sundays back when the James D. Joneses marked their golden wedding anniversary at the Hilton Hotel. It was there that some 100 guests watched as they renewed their nuptials with the Rev. John Wesley Coleman, pastor, Sharp Street Memorial United Methodist Church officiating. Standing with the couple as attendants were Mrs. Lelia James and John Cook.

It was a dinner affair — with all the trimmings. Mrs. Jones was elegant attired in gold taffeta with gold accessories, while her husband was in a tuxedo of beige and brown.

Serving as toastmistress for the occasion was Mrs. Julia B. Woodlin.

Among the guests: The John Woodlins, Mrs. Lelia Johnson and son; Mrs. Marika Brown, Oswald Dyson, the Edward Waterses, the Gerald Browns, the Thomas Browns, the Raymond Cains, the Brooks Waterses, the Marshall Waters;

Also, Mrs. Ilean Watty and Mrs. Mildred Winder, Lewis Frisby, Mrs. Frances Mitchell, Mrs. Delora H and E. A. Fauntleroy, the William Bushes, the William Grosses, Mrs. Corsythe Mason, Miss Mary Ransom, Mrs. Rose Barnett; Mrs. Bertha Sallee, Mrs. Dorothy Farabee;

Mrs. Rebecca Mercer, William Herring; Mrs. Ruth Hill, Mrs. Marie Hall, Mrs. Gwendolyn Trippe, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Quera; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eckart, Mrs. Celeste Williams, the Edward Brittians, Mrs. Leona Price, the Pete Dixons, the Leroy Harrises, the James Johnsons;

Mrs. Arnita Fallin, the John Cooks, the Roman Fraziers, Mrs. Edith Fowlkes, Oliver Munson, the Randolph Rigbys, Mrs. Esther Roberts, Mrs. Evelyn Rigby, Mrs. Virginia Tabb, the William Addisons, Mrs. Grace Anderson, the Freddie Joneses, Mrs. Elizabeth Strong, Mrs. Edna Newton, Mrs. Gloria Walker;

Mrs. Elaine Campbell, the Carroll Griffins, the Roland Nicholsons, Mrs. Cecelia Wright, Mrs. Henrietta Scott, Mrs. Edna Williams, Mrs. Thelma Daniels, Mrs. Evelyn Harris, Miss Marcelina Rusk, Mrs. Rose Walker, the Daniel Cothards, Claude Leach, Mrs. Phenola Clark, Mrs. Aurelia Croslin, Miss Brenda Grant.

DuBois Circle

The DuBois Circle, observing its 73rd anniversary, put the spotlight on children when it held its closing dinner on Thursday evening at Blue Crest North.

The 350 - plus guests responded with sustained applause as school children performed. The youngsters' appearance was to carry out the year's focus on the International Year of the Child.

During their monthly Tuesday meetings during the year, members had explored with speakers the topic, "Some Problems That Today's Children Face."

They include, Mrs. Warren Rich, chair of the Maryland Committee, IYC, who discussed the relevance of the celebration; Mrs. Richard Lee, public school specialist, child abuse and the battered child; Mrs. Gilbert Banfield, district director, Family and Children's Society, the problems of child care.

And, Mrs. G. Luther Washington, HEW coordinator on family planning, who discussed teenage mothers; Supreme Bench Judge S. Shirley Jones, status offenders; and Mrs. Florence Thompson, director, United Methodist Church's Children's Division who talked of religious ministries to children.

The closing dinner meeting featured contributions by young people exhibiting their skills in music, speaking and dance.

Performing were: Judy Kinney on flute, and Susan Smith on cello. Two Western High students played Teleman's "Sonata in G- major."
