Rev. and Mrs. George Allen repeat wedding vows

By Marie Phillips Braxton

Twenty-five years of married life — that's a long time, no matter how you look at it. And, it's well worth talking about . . . celebrating.

Some 300 witnesses surrounded the Rev. and Mrs. George R. Allen recently when they repeated their nuptial vows at St. Paul United Methodist Church. For it was on April 17, 1954 that the former Miss Emily Douglas and then Mr. Allen were united at St. Paul.

The ceremony was relived, at the same altar, with some of the original wedding party participating in a very impressive double ring ceremony. Decorations included the symbolic silver basket of 25 long-stemmed roses from the "groom" to his "bride." The Rev. Mr. Allen is Pastor of St. Paul.

George Allen Jr., son of the celebrants, gave part of his tribute to his parents in his welcome to the guests; he later provided music for the reception, held after the ceremony in the church hall.

Officiating at the ceremony were the Rev. Kenneth P. Barnes, retired minister of the United Methodist Church, who performed the marriage rites; the Rev. William Peters, pastor, Unity United Methodist who administered Holy Communion, and the Rev. John Coleman, pastor, Sharp Street United Methodist, who gave a meditation. The Rev. Sustin R. Bennett, pastor emeritus of St. Paul, offered the invocation and the Rev. William H. Watson, retired, of St. Paul United Methodist gave the final blessing. Mrs. Josie Smith, retired supervisor of English in Baltimore Public Schools, wrote and delivered a tribute to the couple; "To two people who by their example of love for each other, interest in humanity, and consideration of all mankind, have honored me with their friendship through the years and have made it easier for me to climb the long path to God and the Eternal Life."

Mrs. Allen is a 1977 retiree of Baltimore Public Schools. She wore a long ivory colored dress with a rose pattern woven into the fabric, beautiful in its simplicity. Accessories were a jeweled tiara, pearl necklace and earrings. She carried an orchid on a white Testament.

The "bride" was given in the marriage by her brother, William Douglas, as he had done previously. Matron of honor was Mrs. Elizabeth Dargan, original maid of honor and sister of the bride, who also sang the solo preceding the wedding. Other bridesmaids were, Mrs. Steve (Denise) Pinnick (flower girl, 1954); Mrs. Stanley (Mary) Lopes, sister of the groom, original bridesmaid; Miss Jacqueline Porter original bridesmaid; Mrs. Betty Gray, cousin of the bride; Miss Latonya Dargan, flower girl.

The groom wore a silver colored tuxedo. His suit was complimented by that of Ernest Dargan, his best man, who wore silver jacket and black pants.

Ushers were Elijah Prince, and Millard Murray, Hayes Ryan, and original usher.

Lemuel Hynson and Mrs. Juanita Graham, the church musicians were at the organ and piano respectively as the Senior Choir and the R. L. Ball Chorus sang.

Among the innumerable and symbolic gifts are the beautiful five piece pewter coffee and tea server set given by the auxiliaries of the church and a portrait of the couple's son, given by a very close friend.
