This hour-long documentary, produced by Cinemonde International, Ltd., and filmed in Baltimore, Virginia and Pennsylvania, stars Ossie Davis and features Leon Pinckney, Louise Stubbs and Haywood Hale-Broun. Included among the cast are Baltimoreans, Vivian Shubb, (The Lady in Print Shop), Joe Clare (Abolitionist Preacher), and Eugene Williams (Isaac).

In making the announcement, Stan Rudick, WJZ-TV Program Manager said: "WJZ-TV is proud to bring Marylanders the television debut of "The Man Who Loved the Stars," which tells the story of not only a great American, but an American who was born and raised in the Baltimore area and is part of our great history. We feel that it is a significant part of the 250th anniversary of our city."

Benjamin Banneker lived as a free black man in Baltimore county. Although he made his living as a tobacco farmer, he is best known for his contribution as a surveyor of Washington, D.C., as a clock maker, and compiler of almanacs in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

"The Man Who Loved the Stars," chronicles two days in the life of this extraordinary black man, shows flashbacks into his earlier life, and documents his contribution to science, to American and Maryland history.

The screenplay for "The Man Who Loved the Stars," is based on the biography, "The Life of Benjamin Banneker," by Silvio A. Bedini and was produced in cooperation with the Catonsville Historical Society, the Maryland Committee for the Humanities and the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Maryland Historical Society and the State of Maryland.

In Oella, Md. is Mt. Gilboa, the church of Benjamin Banneker. Still standing today, the building is on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bill Lane in Hollywood

BYRON ALLEN is a superior new piece of comedy talent who came out of the starting gate like a champion. He soared down the track of first - time exposure on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show with all signs that he had loads of talent yet to be observed and applauded. The studio audience kept on applauding him and demanding an encore, a rarity. Chances are we are going to be hearing and seeing Byron Allen, the Sage of Fairfax High, many more times in the future. It probably helped him in his initial performance on television that he has as his manager, Bud Robinson, who is manager of Doc Severinsen.

CARRIE LUCAS is another new talent whose singing career has taken off like a rocket. She now has three record albums on the market, but the public only recently got to know the remarkable young lady's talent. Her showcasings on The Midnight Special and on Soul Train were winners, as were her appearances on American Bandstand, with a full schedule for the month of June on the Dinah television show and on Kicks, the new TV disco show. Carrie is managed by impresario Dick Griffey, and records on his Solar record label.

LONETTE McKee reportedly turns in an outstanding performance in her role in the Sean Connery film, "Cuba." She also writes songs, and sings, as she has done in the past when she was not appearing in movies like "Sparkle" and "Which Way Is Up?"
