AND TWO FLOWER GIRLS — These cherubs carrying baskets of live posies in the Crawley-Wagner wedding party are Michelle Edmondson, Chicago, niece of the bridegroom and Alethia Mitchell, Baltimore.

AND TWO RING BEARERS making a total of 32 in the Crawley-Wagner wedding party are Andre Edmondson, nephew of the bridegroom from Chicago and Derrick Hurt, cousin of the bride from Baltimore.

—Crawley-Wagner

The 14 bridesmaids and the maid of honor were in floor - length gowns of pale blue, green and yellow with flowered capes and matching bouquets.

The flower girls wore matching frocks and carried matching bouquets as the party filed under a huge arch of live green and white blossoms.

The groomsmen and bestman totaling 14 persons wore white swallowtail, vested suits, ruffled shirts that were matched by the two ringbearers.

The altar was softly lit with numerous tall white tapers as the bride and bridegroom observed the rite of the Unity of Candles. The entire ceremony was their Celestial Evening."

BUT, there was much more to food.

Before the catered reception, the auditorium was over the briday party of 32 members plus the parents of the couple greeted some 2,000 persons who stayed and dined until after 11 p.m.

Next came the bride's closed affair in the Banquet Hall of St. Bernadine's Catholic Church nearby, a champaign dinner - dance which lasted until the wee hours and was served by the St. Paul chefs.

It was here the brude threw her trailing bouquet of white carnations orchids.

The reception by Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner Sr. in Chicago will see ver 2,000 guests the afternoon of June 9.

The former Miss Crawley, a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Nursing with a bachelir of science and a registered nurse, is an OBGYN nurse at City Hospitals.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Virginia Union University School of Theology with a BDD degree; Governors State University, Ill., AB and MA in Sociology and MDD in Theology. Nine of his fellow ministers served as his groomsmen.

He is nominated to become the pastor of Angle Visit Baptist Church, Tappahanoc, Va. in July.

Wedding solosist was Miss Alma Garrick and organist, James D. Alston. The Rev. Mayo, assistant to Dr. Crawley, read the first vows, assisted in communion and gave benediction.

Hostesses were Misses Gloria Blackston, Lynn Edwards, Carolyn Richardson and Mesdames Rebecca, English and Jeannette Meswith. Miss Mary E. Fields directed the wedding.

Dieting workshop

"Take It Off Quick," a disciplined program to help people understand mixed change and eating patterns while losing weight, was announced by Helen Schlachter, area director of The Diet Workshop.

"Take It Off Quick" seminars are geared to give diet and nutrition guidance to students as they lose weight and help change behavior patterns so they can keep the weight off after the seminar is over.

The eight week program includes weekly classes led by trained counselors, special seminar diet, and a personal journal for each participant.

Enrollment is limited so personal attention can be provided for each class member. Attendance is required at all class sessions for successful completion. No no members may joinafter the first session in each seminar series.

More information and a free brochure may be obtained by telephoning the Diet Workshop office at 653 - 2438
