paper, beer cans and other forms of litter is a major attraction for rats.

A lot in a block of Woodyear St. could be a beautiful play area if the debris that covers it were cleaned up.

Why have a Clean Block?

Why has the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers been conducting a Clean Block for the past 45 years? Is it necessary? Does it benefit the community?

The AFRO has been conducting a Clean Block program for the past 45 years. Founded by Miss Pranches Murphy, a school teacher, the program has changed but it still carries out the same simple formula of organization and teaches the same habits of cleanliness.

The AFRO believes that cleanliness starts with each person in the family, in the home. The family, then takes care of front, back and places their garbage in metal containers. He then protects his home from rats.

Then the family joins with neighbors and ever one pledges to keep their block clean and neat every day.

Living in the city is hard enough without having to sit on the front surrounded by trash. Children are taught early not to throw trash in the streets.

Neighbors working together can learn how to make city respond with Sanitation, Police, Fire and Public Service needs. Even young people who serve as Captains, Co-Captains and Advisors learn how to call city agencies and say: "I'm an AFRO Clean Block and I have a problem."

You can tell an AFRO Clean Block. It's not only clean, but it stays clean.

Anybody can be a AFRO Clean Block Captain. Call the Clean Block office, 728 - 8205 and join. Youngsters enjoy trips, win prizes, get to know their neighbors in a good healthy relationship and in the end the blocks celebrate by having block parties.

One block may not get attention, in this election year. But if you join forces with the almost 250 blocks already registered you get results.

Call, 728 - 8205, Monday to Friday 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The 600 block of W. Lafayette where Mrs. Velma Moore is captain presents a pretty picture for Baltimore City with its colors of red and white. Note clean street and pretty flowers.

AFRO Blocks making progress

By Elizabeth Jacobs

One sure way to identify an AFRO Clean Block is by the beautifully decorated flower urns that line these blocks. However, Mary Jones of 2000 Harlem Ave. where her son Kenneth Jones is captain, explains that she is not going to use the tire - turned urns because her small grandchildren who visit often mess in them. Even though she does not have urn, some other residents of the block do and they are pretty. While speaking with Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Bernice Stiles of the same block insisted that the Clean Block Program is needed year round and not only for the summer.

In the same area, 200 Harlem Ave. is another AFRO Clean Block, 600 N. Appleton St. Spoke to Yvonne Jackson who exchanged the position of co - captain to captain with her mother, Mrs. Sarah Jackson.

Yvonne reported that her block is cleaning the alleys and keeping the street clean. Flower pots were brought for the front of the houses and painted red and white. Despite all of their efforts to keep the entire block clean, there is a vacant house on the corner where people continue to throw bottles. It is making the block difficult to keep clean.

Quite a distance from 600 N. Appleton is the lively orange and white colored block of 800 Harlem Ave. Mrs. Christine Channing, a resident of the block, told of how cooperation among the younger members of the block is a problem. Even though the cooperation is low, they are getting it together. Another complaint concerning broken curbs in a dangerous condition for the block. Hopefully, the new captain, Elaine Moore, will be able to work with her block to help them continue to keep it looking good.

All of the blocks visited are clean, looking lovely and making steady progress. But in order to keep them in this condition, the residents must work as a whole team. Remember, without cooperation, nothing can be accomplished.

Mrs. Lydia Burks of 900 Argyle Ave. reports vacant houses at 919, 917, 915, and 913. Aside from vacant houses being a problem, there is a problem also with some people in the block who will not help. Please cooperate.
