Reunion planned

Artwork symbolizes family heritage

Some 200 members of the Hawkes family are expected at a reunion Aug. 4 and 5 at the Pikesville Holiday Inn. Members will be coming from Richmond and Blackstone, Va. and Maryland.

Gerald Hawkes, family member and artist in residence at the Afro - American Study Center here in Baltimore, has a lamp sculpture which he says symbolizes his family's heritage.

Called "The Hawk," the lamp consists of 25,000 matches and is 34 inches tall. The colors and patterns of the work represent different themes, including "Joining Together" and "Foundation — Roots Begin Down Here."

Hawkes says he views the match sticks "as people unified and working together to achieve a goal . . ."

His works have been on display at the Maryland Institute of Art and the Kromah Gallery.

In November, Hawkes' match works will be exhibited at the Morris Mechanic Theater and in December, at Essex community library.
