Justice Resources Inc. gives youth a boost

Young, Gifted and Unlimited model at holiday fest

YOUNG GIFTED, UNLIMITED — Members of the youthful modeling group Young, Gifted and Unlimited, who air their fashions with a flair at the holiday party - disco and awards ceremony sponsored by Justice Resources, Inc. at the Gatsby are (L to R): Michael Brown, Denise Willis and James Montgomery.

DRAMATIC SCENE — Doing a dramatic scene at the holiday party disco and awards ceremony sponsored by Justice Resources, Inc. at the Gatsby, 1817 N. Charles St. are youthful models of Young, Gifted and Unlimited, Michael Brown and Cynthia Bullock.

On Sunday, December 23, 1979, Justice Resources, Inc. sponsored a Christmas Party - Disco and awards ceremony for participants and parents of participants of the Pre - Trial Intervention and Community Supervision programs at The Gatsby's, 1817 N. Charles Street.

Entertainment was provided by the Young, Gifted and Unlimited, a modeling company under the auspices of Pre - Trial Intervention.

Young, Gifted and Unlimited began modeling at the Juvenile Services Administration's Professional Growth Day held at the Maryland Training School for Boys

The young people expressed a desire to form a company and in the spring of 1979, a troupe was formed of 15 young people between the ages of 15 and 19, all of whom had been or were presently enrolled in the Pre - Trial Intervention program.

Thus far, they have appeared at the Waxter Center for Senior Citizens, Mount Street - Cultural Arts Center, Upton Community Planning Association, have been invited to entertain Mayor Schafer and other city officials, and were awarded trophies by Glen Dowdy, of the Baltimore Colts.

Young, Gifted and Unlimited is under the guidance of Justice Resources staff which includes Ms. Dawn Mosby, Advisor and Coordinator; Ms. Vicky Tsamis, Public Relations Manager, Ms. Shirley McNeill, Special Activities Coordinator, and has received much help from Ms. Brenda Carter, Counseling Supervisor.

Young, Gifted and Unlimited is not only an expression of creativity but also a theraputic tool by which youth can develop a sense of pride and responsibility and move toward promising careers in the fashion and modeling industry.

The awards ceremony honored outstanding participants of Pre - Trial Intervention, an extension program of the Juvenile Services Administration of the State of Maryland.

P.T. I. seeks to prevent juvenile offenders from further penetrating the criminal justice system offenders from further penetrating the criminal justice system by substituting traditional approaches with a comprehensive service plan which includes counseling, educational referrals, job orientation and employment as well as positive growth experience through cultural arts exposure and interpersonal relationships with their peers, families and those in authority.

Outstanding participants from the Community Supervision program were also honored.

Community Supervision, coordinated by Norman Driver, works with youth from the Maryland Training School for Boys and is designed to function as an alternative to institutionalization by providing intensive supervision and supportive services on the community level.

Eddie Harrison, President of Justice Resources, Inc., presented awards to the outstanding youth. Special appreciation awards were presented to Jonathan Edges of the East Baltimore Drug Abuse Program, who has aided P. T. I. by presenting films and lectures on the harmful involvement of youth with drugs and to Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Diggs, parents of participants, for the special support to the P.T.I. program and to the fashion show.

Ms. Dawn Mosby, counselor, received recognition of appreciation for her involvement with the Young, Gifted and Unlimited.

Md. Dental Society

The Maryland Dental Society opened the yuletide season with a festive bash which they hosted on Dec. 18.

The scene for this lively affair was the Ritz, that very 'In' supper club at 10 Light St.

Nearly 400 guests came out for cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and and lots and lots of disco dancing, and stayed for the fun from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.

The purpose of the occasion was to initiate an affair in which all of the dentists and their guests would participate on an annual basis.

The Maryland Dental Society numbers 63 members and many attended with their guests and partied back with so much enthusiasm that it is very likely that the occasion will be repeated.

Along with local members and their guests, several members from the District of Columbia Dental Society and the District of Columbia Group Health Association attended also, and everyone had a ball.

Officers and members of the Maryland Dental Association are: Dr. John Maupin, president; Dr. Ernest Brooks, committee member for the holiday affair; Dr. Gladstone D. Davis, vice president; Dr. Horace Leslie, president elect; Dr. Guy Bragg, secretary; Dr. Bobby Drayton, treasurer.

Drs. Henry Williams, Steven Dwimoh, Fabian Desbordes and Charles Shelton, members.

Pre-holiday bash

Jim and Stella Richardson of the 2700 block of Lynchester St. hosted a holiday party on Dec. 22 that had their guests feasting, sipping and dancing from 10 p.m. until.

Their party fare was a scrumptious buffet which included all kinds of goodies, replete with several desserts and continuously flowing punch and cocktails of every variety.

Amid the beautiful Christmas decorations which Stella had so artistically arranged, with the tree all aglow, guests first had a taste of traditional Christmas music which symbolized the true meaning of the holiday season and then it was disco and pop tune time.

Seen keeping up with the hearty spirit of the evening with lots of party patter and dancing were: Peggy and Vance Martin, Vernon Richrdson, the host's brother from New York, Claire and Hubert Dorsey, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Irving, Alma and Chuck Cole, Earlene and John Cherry, Helen and Calvin Royster and About Faces 21 Ltd. members and their guests;

Also Zelpha and Wayne Scott, Jeff and Doris Royster, Mr. and Mrs. George Boston, Roosevelt (Lefty) and Lorraine Caldwell, Rose and Ken Smith, Tom and Doll Royster, Don Wilson and Jim Johnson;

Also Carlos and Lillian Mitchell, Lurelle and Dell Shaw, Kimberly P. Richardson and Bryant Richardson.

Holiday Brunch

One of the high points of the holiday season was the annual Christmas brunch hosted by Sandy East at her festively decorated home in the 3800 block of Bowers Ave. on Dec. 27 from 1 p.m. until 6 p.m.

Sandy had her holiday table laden with ham, sausage, eggs, hot biscuits and many other goodies, including coffee, tea, punch and cocktails.

Assorted dips and chips, along with munchies were also available.

Guests who came dressed in red, or white, or a combination of the two colors, (requested by the hostess) enjoyed lively chatter as vivacious as their outfits, and listened to taped holiday and latest pop tunes, as well as a few oldies but goodies.

For fun Sandy had her usual "Draw a number, match it with a gift session," and guests 'oohed and aahed' at their surprise finds inside the gaily wrapped packages.

Attending and enjoying the fun were Beverly Reid, Nathalia Roberts, Jennifer Page, Andrea Abraham, Emma Dudley, Marjorie Jennings, X Cheryl Woodland, Jerrie Lovick, Isoline Crowner and Connie Carter.

Also Alice Hall, Althea Cornish, Valerie Dean, Marguerite East, Lydia Starks and Doris Johnson.

Free Spirit Party

One of the most unique parties of the holiday scene was the fun fest hosted on Dec. 28 by Henry and Arbia (Mae) Baker at their lovely town house in the Bolton Hill area.

The party was held in honor of that talented and lively bunch of thespians who comprise the "Free Spirit Theatre."

This group, headed by Dr. Percy Thomas (of The River Niger movie and a long - time Arena Players member) trouped in around 10 and made merry until the wee hours.

Their host, Henry Baker, owner of Mr. Baker's Beauty Salons and the jazz night spot, "The Closet," where the Free Spirit Theatre group puts on a weekly Wednesday performance of 'Improvisations' and hostess, Mae, really, really put on the big feed.
