The 5th Annual Sweetheart Ball of the National Sorority Phi Delta Kappa (Gamma Chapter) was held on Friday, Jan. 25 at Blue Crest North, 401 Reisterstown Rd.

Ladies were togged to the teeth and men were handsome and debonair as nearly 250 folks gathered to wine, dine and dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

For their enjoyment there was continuous open bar and a delicious hot buffet consisting of many goodies.

Music was provided by the Bill Cummings Band, replete with soulful vocalist, and 'Everybody danced.'

An added treat was the $100 raffle which was won by Robert R. McCullum. He immediately demonstrated his sense of charity by donating $25 of his winnings to The Aschool of the Chimes.

Special highlight of the affair was the crowning of the Phi Delta Kappa Sweetheart of the Ball.

Soror Charlotte Brooks, chairperson of the Ball, called her husband to the front to pull the name of the 1980 sweetheart from the box.

Everyone waited with bated breath as Mr. Brooks pulled the name. There was resounding applause and cheers as the name of Soror Claire Dorsey was read.

Exclamations of 'You deserve it' and 'It couldn't have happened to a nicer person'' were heard throughout the room.

All members of the sorority stood prior to Mrs. Dorsey's crowning by Mrs. Brooks.

Mrs. Dorsey received a lovely bouquet and many congratulations.

Following the coronation was the 'Sweetheart Dance' done by the Gamma Gals and their guys.

Afterwards guests continued to party hearty until the evening's end. It was truly a fun evening.

The Phi Delta Kappa Sorority was founded to further promote and to aid education.

The purpose of the Sweetheart Ball was to raise money with which to build a scholarship fund for some deserving young black woman who wishes to further her education.

The recipient will be chosen on the basis of Scholastic Aptitude Test scores, service to her school and to her community.

Soror Rose Gallop is basileus of the sorority.

Dr. Leeper retires in style

The Social Security Medical Staff helped sponsor a grandiose cocktail reception last week in honor of DR. LUCIUS LEEPER, Director of Employee Health and Occupational Safety, and one of SSA's most recent retirees.

A large group of friends and co-workers crowded into the impressive Woodland Room at the Cross Keys Inn to take part in the informal festivities that included a hot buffet and impromptu farewell speeches.

During the evening, Dr. Leeper expressed a desire to spend a lot of time salt watering fishing and in anticipation of his purchasing a boat to cruise the Delaware and Chesapeake Bays, friends gifted him with a captain's hat, a beer mug and a six pack of improted beer. They also surprised him with a Waterford Crystal Decanter and matching glasses.

According to his wife, Dr. Leeper has always been a handy man with tools and when he is at home, he usually spends his spare time reading, building or fixing things around the house.

She added that she doesn't expect him to be home any more than he has been because he is already committed to assist at a Park Heights Medical Center on a part-time basis.

The retirees daughter, Fern, was among members of his immediate family who attended as special guests.

Other family members attending the event were the retirees sisters; Letisha Kess, from Edgewater, Md.; Delores Russell, Washington, D.C.; and Velma Bradley; two brothers, Jerome Leeper, and Earl T. Leeper.

Mrs. Lucius Leeper (Shirley), gowned in basic black, served as a gracious hostess greeting each of the guests with warm conversation.

Ms. Jay Priest and Edith Romano chaired the retirement cocktail reception.

Dr. Leeper joined the Social Security medical department in 1966. He is a Baltimore City resident and a native of Fairfield, Maryland.

He holds memberships in the Prince Hall Masons, the Zeus social club, the Bacchus social club, and several medical associations.

If your thermostat could talk—

It would tell you to keep your home at a reasonable temperature.

Did you know that heating costs represent over 55% of your total Baltimore Gas and Electric bill during these cold months? That's just one good reason to conserve. Our dwindling energy supplies are another.

Every degree you lower your thermostat saves you 3% on your heating costs. This year, we're suggesting that you keep your home at 65° during the day, 60° at night. If you dress sensibly and insulate to stops of drafts and heat loss, you can stay comfortable all winter long.

Remember that every time you turn up your thermostat, you're making a purchase. You're actually buying energy. Why buy more than you need?

This message, please, take to him God
I know he is up above
Tell him how much I miss him
Please, give him all my love.
I know his soul is now at rest.
He is free from pain and care

If I had him back again.
It broke my heart to lose my love
But he did not go alone
Half of me went with him
When his Lord called him home.

And think if God had only left you —
Longer on earth with us to stay.
