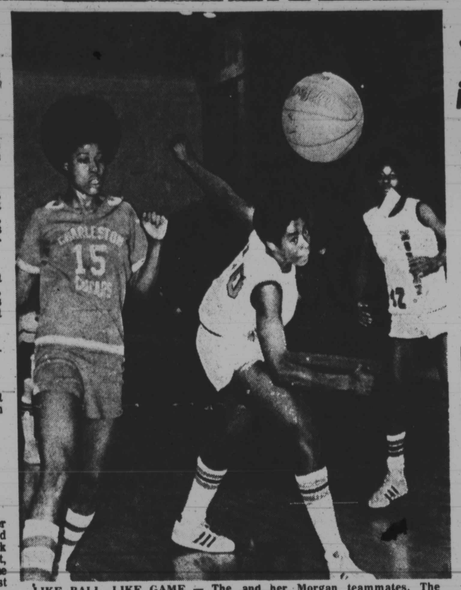
Chavis new pro at Forest Park

Gordon Chavis, former high school star and assistant to Carroll Park veteran "Chink" Stewart, has been installed as the new golf pro at Forest Park.

Chavis, who succeeds Bob Stanley at the course, has scheduled his first tournament, a pro invitational and amateur event, for March 30.

In addition to the professional division, the tourney will set four flights for trophies and prizes.



LIKE BALL, LIKE GAME — The same way the ball got away from Morgan's Jackie Crudup in this action caught by AFRO photographer Mark Gail, the game got away from Crudup and her Morgan teammates. The Lady Bears blew a 17-point lead and lost to Charleston 64-56 in the AIAW tourney Tuesday at Morgan. Leading Cougar scorer Nessie Harris is at left.

32 area youngsters to vie in dribble-shoot test Sunday

Thirty-two youngsters are all who remain of a field of over 57,500 competing in this year's dribble and shoot contest. These 32 finalists, ranging in four age divisions, will now advance to the Metro finals, Sunday, at the Capital Centre in Largo, Md.

The competition will begin at 11 a.m. and will pit champions from Baltimore City, Baltimore County, Harford County, and Washington, D.C.

The Metro finals this year will mark the 12th consecutive season of this program, which is jointly sponsored by local Coca-Cola Bottling companies, the recreation departments, and the Washington Bullets.

Vying for honors in the four divisions are the following youngsters:

GIRLS 8 - 9 — Anne Green, Balto.; Susan Sparks, Balto. County; Catherine Smith, Harford County; Tina Renee Holmes, Wash., D.C.

Girls 10 - 11 — Shanya Evans, Balto.; Sharon Paul, Balto. County; Angela King, Harford County; Ruthie Miles, Wash., D.C.

GIRLS 12-13 Lisa Stelper, Balto.; Mary Cay Hamilton, Balto County; Robin Kennard, Farford County; Ellette Stanford, Wash., D.C

GIRSL 14-16 — Robyn West, Balto.; Ada Freyer, Balto. County; Linda Kealy, Harford County; Sonia Smith, Wash., D.C.

Boys 8-9 — Leroy Burns, Balto.; John Gilmore, B.C., Monroe Brown, Harford; Robert Smith, D.C.

BOYS 10-11 — Harold Robinson, Balto.; Tim Keehan, B.C.; Brian Kremer, Harford; Andrew Sullivan, D.C.

BOYS 12-13 — Beldin Dillard, Balto.; Paul Grossman B.C.; Steve Ator, Harford; Lorenzo Ball, D.C.

BOYS 14-16 — John Smith, Balto.; Don Goucher, B.C.; Michael Briece, Harford, and Tommy Fulwood, D.C.

Md. won't return W. Series thief who 'conned' Stargell

The man who stole $2,000 in cash, a stereo and three checkbooks from Willie Stargell's hotel room in Baltimore last October may never have to answer for the crime.

The Maryland State Attorney's office says the city of Baltimore can't afford to extradite the suspect, Jimmy Lee Thompson of Volusia County, Florida, where he is awaiting trial on charges of grand theft. And the Pittsburgh pirates captain says he won't pay for the proceedings, either.

Thompson, who is known for associating with sports stars, reportedly visited with Stargell druing the World Series in Baltimore last fall.

He was arrested Jan. 29 in Greenville, S.C., allegedly driving a stolen car and carrying checks belong to Stargell and a credit card belonging to Toronto Blue Jays first baseman John Mayberry.

Authorities say the only way Thompson could be brought to trial on the burglary charges in Baltimore would be for the city to extradite him — a possibility termed "unlikely" — or for him to be arrested there.

Grand theft charged to Cowboy linebacker

DALLAS (UPI) — Dallas linebacker Mike Hegman Monday was indicted for writing more than $10,000 in checks on his roommate's bank account.

The Dallas County Grand Jury returned the indictment for theft over $200 against Hegman, 27, for 27 checks worth $10,500 he allegedly wrote on the account of Charles Mayhew Jr.

Hegman, a 5-year pro, moved in with Mayhew last year after he was divorced.

The indictment said Mayhew was unaware of the checks until he received notice from his bank that his account was overdrawn. He said Hegman offered to make restitution but never did.

Hegman, a Memphis, Tenn., native who played college football at Tennessee State, became a starter at outside linebacker for the Cowboys during the 1979 season when Thomas Henderson was dismissed from the team.

The most spectacular moment in Hegman's career came during Super Bowl XIII when he stripped the ball from Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw and ran 37 yards for a touchdown.

Bits o' briefs

A to Z endorsement

The final four teams in the NCAA national basketball tournament, attest to the logic in the AFRO's persistent disdain for college ratings.

Of the four schools at Indianapolis tomorrow (Saturday), three — Iowa, Purdue and UCLA — finished out of the national rankings; two finished fourth in their respective conferences, and one barely qualified for an NCAA invitation.

More 'Magic'

Los Angeles rookie Magic Johnson, who leads all NBA guards in rebounds this season, Monday was named the player of the week for the second time this year.

Johnson, a charismatic 6-foot-8 guard who led Michigan State to the NCAA championship last season, handed off 64 assists and added 45 rebounds and 11 steals during the week to spark victories over San Diego, Portland, Denver and Phoenix.

McTear vs. Steve

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Houston McTear and Steve Williams appear ready for top efforts when they clash in the 100 meters in this weekend's Martin Luther King International track and field games at Stanford Stadium.

"I'm very pleased with my indoor season," McTear said. "I'm training hard and looking forward to running outdoors."

Williams, who now lives in Palo Alto, Calif., won the 100 in 10.421 seconds and the 200 in 20.9 at last Saturday's Brotherhood Games at Berkeley. In both races, it appeared he eased up.

Cards and Bruins

Louisville and UCLA are favored to win their respective NCAA games tomorrow (Saturday), according to odds released by Harrah's Sports and Race Book of Reno.

Louisville is a three-point favorite over Iowa and 9-5 to win the championship. UCLA is favored by one over Purdue and is listed as a 12-6 choice to take the tournament.

Purdue is listed as 14-5 to win the title and Iowa has the highest odds at 4-1 to go all the way.

A nod to Hoyas

Repeatedly overlooked in the national polls, Georgetown's basketball team gained a measure of respect Tuesday.

HE CAN SMILE — Dave Jacobs, who is on the list of coaches for U.S. amateur boxers, might have drawn the ill-fated Warsaw, Poland, assignment but didn't. Instead, the popular handler of Sugar Ray Leonard was sent with an earlier team to Sweden and was back home in Palmer Park, Md., when the plane crash occurred killing 87.

The Hoyas were the unanimous choice of eastern sportswriters and sportscasters for the Widmer cup.

Georgetown received all 22 first-place votes and came up with a total of 200 points.

Syracuse, 26-4, which also advanced to NCAAs, was voted second with 195 points, and Idna, 29 - 5, was third with 160.

Rounding out the top 10, respectively, were: St. John's 24-5, 147 points; Villanova, 23-8, 130 points; Old Dominion, 25-5, 109 points; LaSalle, 22-9, 87 points; St. Peter's, 22-9, 62 points; St. Joseph's (P.A.), 21-9, 22 points; and Boston College, 19-10, 19 points.

Other schools receiving votes were Connecticut, Duquesne, Holy Cross, Lafayette, Penn and Penn State.

Clips clinch 3rd, gain EHL playoff

The Baltimore Clippers, hoping to match the magic of their Baltimore shareholders, the Orioles, locked up a coveted berth in the Eastern Hockey League playoffs by virtue of a Wednesday night victory over Utica.

The exciting young Civic Center icers shot down Utica, 6-4, at Utica, to clinch third place. Immediately, they set their sights on second place where Richmond currently holds a 79-76 edge in points.

The Clippers get their last chance to overhaul Rifles Sunday, when they visit Richmond following tomorrow's (Saturday) visit to Johnstown.

Sunday's contest holds a 4-point evaluation, which means a win at Richmond would lift Baltimore into second place and its accompanying home-court advantage.

The Rifles blasted Hampton, 8-0, Wednesday but meet first-place Erie tonight (Friday).

Another apprentice battle enlivens Pimlico racing

Who will be the successor to Ron Franklin and Mario Pino as the third recepient of the annual award given to the winningest apprentice jockey during the 60-day spring meeting at Pimlico?

"Take your pick," clerk of scales Kevin Lyons says. "You have 13 named on the overnights (entries) between Saturday and Monday.

With R. A. Ussery Jr., Linda Reantillo and Greg Longa supposedly relinquishing their apprentice allowances sometime in April, the betting is on 16-year-old Kenny Black or Tim Fell, according to Pimlico general manager Chick Lang.

"Black and Fell will probably inherit much of the business of Ussery and Longa," Lang says. "Black has a powerful outfit in John Forbes and Fell seemed to be catching on at the end of Bowie's meeting."

Ron Franklin won the inaugural competition by riding 119 winners, most for contract holder Buddy Delp in 1978.

Mario Pino, who rode freelance in his apprentice season, booted in 45 winners last year through a 77-day meeting.

GOING SKIING? FUNNY, SO ARE WE.

If sightseeing and touring leave you yawning, but skiing leaves you breathless, climb aboard Amtrak's Montrealer and you can be schussing down the snowy slopes of Vermont or Montreal's Laurentians tomorrow.

Just lie back and relax. We'll make you feel right at home in our plush reclining seats. With plenty of room for you and your gear.

And if you're looking for some good food and friendly conversation, walk over to our Amdinette where you can fill up on anything from a light snack to a hot meal. Then take a nap. Or curl up with a good book. Everything you need is right on board.

Our friendly, courteous people will do their best to keep you smiling from the minute you make your reservation, to the minute you leave the train. And isn't that a nice way to start your vacation?

So call your travel agent or Amtrak. And ask about our big discounts on special ski packages or tours of Montreal.

Then get those skis waxed. And climb aboard.
