Can Lions afford Sims?

DETROIT — Negotiations were under way between the Detroit Lions and 1978 Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims of Oklahoma but the NFL team may not want to pay the running back the kind of money he wants, Sims' business manager says.

The Lions have the top choice in the April 29 draft and Detroit coach Monte Clark has set his sights on Sims, who averaged more than seven yards per carry, according to Dr. Jerry A. Argovitz, who represents Sims.

"I truly think that the way Detroit's (salary) system is, they're not prepared," he said. "They haven't ever paid anybody before and I don't know if they're prepared to do it now.

"All I hear about is that (Lion owner William Clay) Ford wants a championship team," Argovitz said. "He wants it, the town deserves it, they've got a beautiful stadium there (Pontiac), they've got a new coach there.

Caldwell Jones is getting recognition

PHILADELPHIA

After a career of laboring virtual anonymity for the Philadelphia 76ers, Caldwell Jones is finally getting noticed and not only because he wears a gruesome-looking mask to protect his broken nose.

Jones pulled down a season-high 26 rebounds last Wednesday night to go with 18 points to carry the 76ers to a 111-96 victory over the Bullets and a 1-0 lead in their NBA best-of-three mini-series.

The 7-foot Jones helped the sixers to a 52-42 rebounding advantage over the rugged Bullets, whose inside strength has carried them to 12 consecutive playoff berths, and held Elvin Hayes to a poor 14-point performance.

But Jones, who has been hidden by more flamboyant teammates such as Julius Erving and Darryl Dawkins since joining the Sixers in 1976, preferred to hand the spotlight over again.

"I can't recall ever having 26 rebounds in a games," said Jones, who was one shy of his career high. "But it's something you don't try to recall. As long as we win, that's the main issue. I don't try to get 26 or 30 every night, I just do what it takes to win.

"It wasn't just one man out there. Every guy that played was doing a great job of checking out his man. That's the kind of rebounding and defense we have to have against the Bullets."

Jones left the game with 4:13 to play when he twisted his left foot after coming down with his 26th rebound, but said he will play Friday night, April 14 when the series shifts to the Capitol Centre for game 2.

Helping Jones inside was the 252-pound Dawkins, who faced off rebounds, Dawkins managed to box him out enough to limit his effectiveness.

"Caldwell played with a lot of intensity tonight," Dawkins said. "I hope to do my part to help us. We is so big and strong you have to work hard to keep him out of there."

Philadelphia also was aided by fine free throw shooting, canning its first 17 in a row and 29-of-31 for the game.

Washington coach Dick Motta couidn't understand all those sixer trips to the foul lime.

"I was really displeased about the difference in free throws," he said. "In a playoff, the intensity level is usually the same for both teams. He just sent them to the free throw line too much, and couldn't get into our rhythm.

Motta also was concerned with Bullets' lack of an inside attack, lamenting "We're executing like the old Bullets," but Sixers' coach Billy Cunningham chose to credit his defense.

"I thought he played excellent D," he said. "We forced Hayes out of his range where he is much less effective."

And if the spattering inside game wasn't enough to concern Motta, the subpar performance of Julius Erving was.

NBA playoff time is here, ex-Bullet Henderson 'happy'

By Gary Taylor

HOUSTON — Banished to the bench and feuding with his coach one month ago, Houston Rockets guard Tom Henderson is on his feet again and possibly pulling one of his amazing — but infrequent — magic acts with a basketball.

Henderson, an unknown player from New York City and the University of Hawaii, led the 1972 U.S. Olympic team in spectacular fashion. He picked another spot six years ago and directed the Washington Bullets to an NBA title in 1978. And he may be at it again.

His belly - to - belly defense on NBA scoring champion George Gervin April 2 upset the San Antonio Spurs offense, and his 16 points and 8 assists contributed nightly to the rockets offense in a 95 - 85 victory that opened a best - of - three playoff series.

The second game was scheduled for San Antonio, April 4, and game three, if necessary, is to be in Houston April 6.

"This is the most excited I've been this year," Henderson said of his post - season sport. "The playoffs make you get the most excited. The extra money is a big factor."

Before Rockets first - year coach Del Harris acquired Billy Paultz a month ago and revamped his lineup to include a spot for the 6 - foot - 3 playmaking guard, Henderson contributed little this season

"Del and I had a little difference of opinion," Henderson said." He refused to be more specific, but added the dispute involved his playing time.

Rockets president Ray Patterson was criticized often for the 1979 trade to acquire Henderson from the Washington Bullets. Patterson was so happy April 12 that he walked around telling anyone who would listen, "Thank you, Ray, for getting Thomas Henry Henderson.'

Until the Rockets, a 41 - 41 team this season decided to play defense in the third quarter, not even Henderson was enough. They trailed by nine points at halftime.

In the third quarter, however, the Rockets held the spurs to 11 points and limited Gervin, who scored only 19 in the game, to one field goal.

Gervin refused to criticize the referees, but he said, "I haven't been getting the calls. I've got to take things in my own hands."

Gervin said the Spurs did not execute several of their game plans.

"We just didn't keep the pressure on. We didn't make Moses (Malone) run on his sore ankle enough. We'll have to do that Friday or I'll be on my way to Detroit Saturday," Gervin said

Rockets guard Calvin Murphy scored 28 points; Malone, Robert Reid and Major Jones each chipped in 10.

Since Harris' greater utilization of Henderson, the Rockets have held their opponents to an average of 104 points, six less than their season average.

The Spurs' 85 points was nine fewer than in any game this season. In the NBA playoffs, the Spurs have never scored fewer than 94 points.

Spurs coach Bob Bass was so upset at the officiating that he was whistled for a technical foul with 1:44 to play and his team trailing by seven points.

"It was our own making. We missed all those shots. Houston got more aggressive on defense the second half. That's the name of the game," Bass said.

Bass chastized his players for their lack of patience when they fell behind during their miserable - shooting third quarter.

"When things don't work, guys try to take it upon themselves to go one - on - one for a basket. That adds insult to injury." (UPI)

ARTER — An Easter Tribute in memory of our loved one, CALVIN ARTER, JR., who passed away July 30, 1979:
Tho' you're not here this Easter,
Our wishes to impart.
You know our thoughts are with you, CALVIN
Even tho' we're far apart.
We'll put our wishes in writing
And hope that they'll be read
By the son and brother we loved so dearly,
And whose feet have ceased to tread.
MOTHER, FATHER, BROTHERS,
and MR. and MRS. LANE and FAMILY.

BANTON — An Easter Tribute to the memory of our Baby Brother, MALVIN J. BANTON, who passed away December 16, 1976:
Tho' you're not here this Easter
Our wishes to impart
You know our thoughts are with you
Even tho' we're far apart
We'll put our wishes in writing
And hope that they'll be read
By the son and brother we loved so dearly
And whose feet have ceased to tread.

BARNES— An Easter tribute in memory of my dear aunt, VERA BARNES, who passed away February 10, 1971:
Easter brings sad memories,
Of an aunt who has gone to rest,
She will never be forgotten,
By the ones who loved her best.
Though her smile is gone forever,
And her sweet face we cannot touch,
We shall never lose sweet memories,
Of our aunt we loved so much.
Niece, ROBERTA WILLIAMS and FAMILY

BLOUNT — An Easter Tribute to the memory of my father and our loved one, WILLIAM H. BLOUNT, who passed away November 2, 1979:
Easter brings sad memories,
Of a Father who has gone to rest,
He will never be forgotten
By the ones who loved him best
Though his smile has gone forever
And his sweet face i cannot touch,
I shall never lose sweet memories
Of my Father I loved so much.

BOOKER — An Easter Tribute in memory of my dear husband, WILLIAM A. BOOKER, SR., who passed away March 7, 1979:
"UNSPOKEN"
Sometimes along the way of life,
I'd hurry thru the day,
And often miss the sweet things
I'd really meant to say.
Those little words of tenderness,
I felt deep in my heart.
But though I cannot tell you
You'll always be a part,
Of every loving thought I have
Today and all the year.
Because in words 'Unspoken'
I love you husband, dear.
YOUR LOVING WIFE,

BOOKER — An Easter Tribute in memory of our dear father, WILLIAM A. BOOKER, SR., who passed away March 7, 1979:
"OUR EASTER MESSAGE"
Farewell, dear father, thy work is over,
Thy willing hands will toil no more.
A loving father, kind and true
No one on earth we'll find like you.
YOUR LOVING CHILDREN.

We are sad within our memory,
And lonely, this Easter Day
For the ones we loved so dearly
Have forever been called away
We think of them in silence
No eye may see us weep
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
Loving Daughter & Sister JULIA BRANCH & FAMILY

BROWN — An Easter Tribute in mmemory of our loved one, BYRDIE RUTH BROWN, who passed away October 17, 1973:

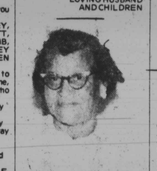
IN MEMORIAM

GORE — In loving memory of my dear husband, WILLIAM B. GORE, who passed away April 3, 1979:
Today my heart is heavy,
My thoughts are all of thee.
Oh, how I miss you WILLIAM dear,
None but God in Heaven can see.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, it isn't true.
For one long year has passed, dear,
And my heart still aches for you.
Loving Wife, MARIE M. GORE.

SMITH — In loving memory of my dear husband JOSEPH C. SMITH, JR., who passed away March 29, 1958:
God saw the road was getting rough
The Hills were hard to climb
He gently closed his loving eyes
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
His weary hours his days of pain
His weary nights are pass
His every pallent worn out frame
Has found sweet rest at last.
Loving Wife, Estelle.

BIRTHDAY TRIBUTE

BROWN — A Birthday Tribute to the memory of my dear wife, and Mx Mother, NETTIE BROWN, on her birthday, April, 9th, who passed away September 1, 1973:
Dear Mother on Your birthday
What words can we impart
That would tell the true devotion
We have within our hearts
No words can tell loves message
But this we know is true
There's no one like a mother
No mother quite like you.
LOVING HUSBAND AND CHILDREN



RYALS — A Birthday tribute to the memory of our mother and grandmother, MAGGIE D. RYALS, on her birthday April 9th, who passed away December 7, 1979:
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our mind.
The days we do not think of you,
Are very hard to find.
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it yes and more.
To see the face of our dear Mother,
On this her Birthday Morn.
Daughters, THELMA LEE and CLEO BANKS.
GRANDCHILDREN and GREAT GRANDCHILDREN.

TALBOTT — A Birthday Tribute in memory of WILLIAM H. TALBOTT, on his birthday April 8th, who passed away November 16, 1975:
A devoted Loved one not forgotten, nor will ever be.
As life and memory last. I will always remember you.
As the flowers will bloom in the summer, in the autumn it will rain.
But the face of you, Loved One. I hope to see again.
Devoted, MARY.
