The AFRO-AMERICAN salutes local secretaries

MRS. DOROTHY PHILLIPS, (R) who is in her 12th year as secretary to Judge Joseph Howard, (L), shares a pleasant moment with him in his chambers at the Court House.

SIDNEY WICKS, (seated) of the Council for Equal Business Opportunity, (CEBO) is secretary for (L to R, standing): Ms. Colles Corprew, director of Procurement Services, Walter Pickett, procurement specialist, finance; and Miss Marilyn Harris, procurement specialist.

MRS. TAMARA COLEMAN (R), secretary for Raymond V. Haysbert Sr., president and chief executive officer of Parks Sausages Inc. and to Henry G. Parks Jr., chairman of the board, strikes a happy pose with Mr. Haysbert.

The week of April 21 has been observed as "National Secretaries' Week" in America.

A secretary can be many things —an efficient or an excellent secretary, an administrative assistant, a confidante, a keeper of order in the office ...and so on.

The Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN takes this opportunity to salute three local secretaries —one who serves with an imminent black federal judge, one who serves in an agency for upgrading the black community in business and one who serves in an already thriving black business.

Though we have room for only three here, hats off to secretaries who are on the ball everywhere, helping their bosses to keep the cogs of business running.

MRS. DOROTHY PHILLIPS

Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, originally of Rochester, N.Y. has been the secretary for Judge Joseph Howard for 11 years.

She served with him while he was on the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City and is now continuing as secretary to him in his new arena as a federal judge.

Of her job as secretary to the distinguished Judge Howard, Mrs. Phillips says: "I enjoy it. It's quite an undertaking but it's challenging. It involves a whole lot of work but we rise to the occasion."

Mrs. Phillips received her secretarial training at The Rochester Business Institute in Rochester, N.Y.

She has worked as a secretary for the Lawyers' Cooperative Publishing Company (which publishes law books) also in Rochester. Judge Howard, speaking in glowing terms of Mrs. Phillips stated:

"The survival of any judge in the federal court Sy'stem is determined by the quality of one's staff.

"Mrs. Phillips has been with me for almost twelve years and she clearly exemplifies excellence.

"She has that composite of courtesy, competency, commitment and the highest of character that brings great dignity to my chambers.

"Everybody here loves "Dee" Phillips. She is the same all the time. The lawyers who come to my chambers and all others who come in contact with her tell me all the time how courteous she is and how welcome she makes them feel. she makes them feel.

"She's really a "Mother Hen" —for all of the deputy court clerks, law clerks, marshalls and all who are associated with the court system here.

"She's actually the central core of the office —everything comes through her. She's as much an administrator as a secretary. You can give things to her and trust that they will be done right."

The judge concluded by saying: "She's a beautiful black woman."

Mrs. Phillips is the wife of the Rev. Wendell H. Phillips, pastor of Heritage United Church. They have one son, Wendell Jr. 16, and reside on Edgewood Rd.

Judge Howard salutes Mrs. Phillips as a secretary. The AFRO joins him in his salute.

SIDNEY WICKS

Sidney Wicks, a native Baltimorean, serves as secretary to Ms. Colles Corprew, director of Procurement Services; Walter Pickett, Procurement Specialist, Finance and Miss Marilyn Harris, Procurement Specialist, all of the Council for Equal Business Opportunity (CEBO).

Mr. Wicks is one among a steadily growing breed —men who have joined the ranks as secretaries.

With the demand for secretaries and the lure of pay scales, more males are entering the field.

Mr. Wicks became interested in secretarial skills in Garrison Jr. High while he was in the ninth grade, where he began a general course in the area.

He took the College Preparatory Business Course at Forest Park High and business administration at The University of Md. and at C.C.B.

He served as a unit clerk and personnel clerk in the U.S. Army during 1974-75.

Dejouir, Inc. installs Baltimore chapter prior to 25 anniversary

SISTERLY APPLAUSE —Members of the Club Dejouir, Inc. from the Philadelphia and Richmond Chapters applaud following ceremony of induction for the newly formed Baltimore Chapter held at the Cross Keys Inn on Saturday, April 12.

NATIONAL PRESIDENT, Club Dejouir, Inc., Mrs. Elsie Hart, (L) of Philadelphia, Pa. presents flowers to Mrs. Addie Burton, (C), president of the newly installed Baltimore chapter of the club. Looking on is Mrs. Stella Johnson (R) National vice president of Petersburg, Va. Presentation, along with others was made after the new chapter's Ceremony of Induction held at Cross Keys Inn on Saturday, April 12.

Cross Keys Inn was the setting on Saturday, April 12, when Club Dejouir, Inc. arrived in the city for a luncheon, its executive meeting, and to install the new Baltimore Chapter.

Chapters attending for the occasion were: Norfolk, Va.; Petersburg, Va.; Richmond, Va.; Washington, D.C.; Phila., Pa.

The new Baltimore Chapter was sponsored by the Petersburg Chapter of Club Dejouir, Inc. The impressive installation ceremony was conducted by Dejouir Elsie Hart of Philadelphia, the National President.

The Baltimore Chapter members looked elegant in their white attire each carrying a long stemmed yellow rose during the ceremony.

The Dejouir members were welcomed in a beautiful and luxurious hospitality suite upon arrival at Cross Keys Inn. At 11 a.m. the members attended a luncheon in the uniquely decorated executive room.

During the luncheon, a check for $500 was presented to Ms. Karen Spencer, Area Development Director of Washington, D.C. to be given to the United Negro College Fund.

Each chapter of the Dejouir, Inc. brought lovely gifts to the Baltimore Chapter. Philadelphia Chapter presented an engraved portfolio to each member; Richmond Chapter presented stationery engraved with the club's logo, colors and name; Norfolk Chapter presented a lovely engraved leather case; Washington Chapter presented an exquisite engraved leather photo album. The Petersburg Chapter presented an engraved gavel that shall be passed on from one president to the other.

The Baltimore Chapter was further surprised with a beautiful bouquet of flowers from Dejouir Naomi Mitchell of Norfolk who was uanble to attend the occasion.

After the presentations by the chapters, Mrs. Addie Burton, president of the Baltimore Chapter, graciously thanked everyone. The Baltimore Chapter presented each visiting Dejouir with a special gift.

A lavish reception followed the installation ceremony on the third floor of Cross Keys Inn in a beautiful decorated room.

Members gathered for fellowship and enjoyed champagne punch, lobster, fresh fruits and cheese.

Dejouir, Inc. Installs Balto Chapter

Before departing, members of all chapters attending gathered again in the hospitality suite of Cross Keys Inn for final toasts and good-byes.

Following the depature of the out-of-towners, the newly-formed Baltimore Chapter was entertained by the Deques (husbands) at the home of Mrs. Addie Burton.

A delightful time was had by all with features of the evening being dinner, other refreshments and dancing.

Baltimore's Chapter looks forward to joining all of the other Chapters on June 27, 28 and 29 in the Poconos when Club Dejouir, Inc. will celebrate its 25th anniversary at its annual conclave.

Purposes of the club are: To promote a social atmosphere among women of like ideals; to encourage the virtues of true womanhood here and elsewhere in our nation and to take an active part in the civic, fraternal and charitable activities of our city, state and nation.

Officers of the new Baltimore chapter are: Mrs. Addie Burton, president; Jacqueline Hilson, vice president; Doris Cooke, corresponding secretary; Virginia Watkins, recording secretary; Yvonne Jackson, treasurer and Flossie Johnson, social editor. Other members are Mesdames Ruth Muldrow, Clara Carter, Edwina Watkins and Almeta Johnson.
