Book on Delta sorority founder widely acclaimed

SOROR VASHTI TURLEY MURPHY

Rarely has the life of a black woman been so beautifully and gracefully drawn as that of Vashti Turley Murphy. In a recent publication the author Dr. Elizabeth Murphy Moss does a masterful job. The book "Be Stong", was written, published and copyrighted this year by Dr. Moss and her husband E. Paul Moss.

The volumn which includes priceless photos from the Murphy family album, was released here last week during the Eastern Regional Convention of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority of which Mrs. Murphy was a co-founder.

The photos are exquisite and charming showing the lovely Mrs. Murphy from the late 1800's to her death March 17, 1960.

Proceeds from the book go for scholarships at the Morgan State University and Maryland Eastern Shore.

"Be Strong" tells not only how the Delta sorority was founded in 1913 by 22 Howard U. coeds but also gives the life of Mrs. Murphy and testimonies from those who knew her as an inspiring person and her associates of city, state and nation.

The first book of its kind, the volumn has become an historical item and much in demand in just a few days.

Delta Sigma Theta now registers over 95,000 members in 650 chapters in the USA and abroad. — E.M.O.

Mitchell calls for boycott of made-for-TV movie

Rep. Parren J. Mitchell, D—7, has sent a strong letter to Columbia Pictures Television and David Gerber Productions protesting the proposed showing of a Civil War era drama, "Beulahland."

The movie, which is scheduled to be shown on NBC May 25 in a six-part series, depicts the life of slaves and their masters before slavery, and their experiences following emancipation.

In his letter, Mitchell hit the producers of the show for the "insensitivity and legislation so blatantly illustrated by the script's plantation dialogue, scenic activities and physical interactions among the players."

The movie, which includes a lesbian relationship between a white female slave mistress and her black consort, has been reviled by a host of black actors, including John AMos, former "Good Times" star who left the show after decrying their portrayal of blacks.

According to Bill Lane, a syndicated Hollywood columnist, an organization of black actors have formed an organization, the Coalition Against the Airing of Buelahland, and have even taken out a full-page advertisement in a Hollywood daily protesting the film.

Black actors such as Bernie Casey, Denise Nicholas, Rosalind Cash, and George Stanford Brown are among those whose signatures are attached to the advertisement.

In his letter to the producers of the film, Mitchell accused the motion picture industry and television producers of attempting to exploit the past for a profit.

"...Buelahland is a callous reminder that some television program producers and networks will revive, in the name of serving their own financial self-interests, the sick myth that black Americans are lazy, incompetent, complacent and imperceptive."

Constant Care Center gets keys to new $3 million building

By Marion S. Sjodin

The keys to the new $3 million building for Constant Care Community Health Center, were handed over to the executive director, Dr. Harvey Webb, Jr., this morning (Friday, April 25) in ceremonies at City Hall.

The elaborate presentation made by Mayor Schaefer in the ceremonial room also witnessed the presence of the builder Leonard Frenkil, president of Empire Construction Co. and his father Victor Frenkil head of Baltimore Contractors, both of Baltimore. Both received AFRO citations for contributions to the Baltimore community served by the Center, some 16,000 persons.

Sulton and Campbell of Washington, D.C. is the architectural firm which designed the functional modern building especially for Constant Care, one of the top such health care centers in all the nation.

Construction was financed by a grant from the Federal Economic Development Administration to the city of Baltimore.

Located at Division and Mosher Streets in the heart of West Baltimore, the health center will make a vast improvement in the health of the residents of the under-served area.

Constant Care's other facility at 100 Metro Plaza in Mondawmin Shopping Center, will continue to serve its present patient population.

"This is a tremendous milestone for the people of Baltimore," Dr. Webb said.

"We've worked so hard and waited so long for this great day. Now we can deliver the kind of high quality, convenient health care that the citizens of this area need so desperately."

Long Time Coming

It is true that Dr. Webb and the community have waited an long time. From its beginning, it was obvious that the health center needed larger quarters and a more up-to-date building to carry on its important work.

It all began on July 15, 1968 in the former St. Pius School Building on the corner of Edmondson and Fremont Avenues.

Originally known as Provident Comprehensive Neighborhood Health Center, the operation had been jointly conceived by a group of community leaders in conjunction with Provident Hospital and other community groups.

It was through the collaborative efforts of these groups that an application for a grant to establish a neighborhood health center was submitted to the now defunct Federal Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) of the "anti-poverty program era."

The health care center funds were initially granted to the Baltimore Community Action Agency with the Provident Hospital Board of Trustees as the delegate agent with the input of the Neighborhood Advisory Council.
