Miss Inner City Teen contestants present all-male fashion show

The time is drawing near for that kaliedoscope of color, excitement and talent which will be exhibited when the 'Miss Inner City Teen - 1980' will be crowned.

The contestants are revving up for the big day.

On Thursday, May 29, at the St. James Guild Hall the contestants for the pageant were presented, and they, in turn, presented an all - male fashion show with additional entertainment which lasted from 6 until 9:30 p.m.

The affair was carried out under the direction of Mrs. Alice Ebb, Center Director for St. James Youth Development Center.

The guild hall was crowded with young people from the St. James Youth Development Center, as well as other interested parties, who came to enjoy the evening's activities.

Modeling casual, swimwear and evening wear were Steve Smith, Eric Tharington and Gerald Hollaway. They drew much applause as they went through their paces.

Commentator for the modeling segment was Marlene Baker.

Jazz music, interspersed with some disco tunes was provided by Eric Dunn.

The Inner City Dancers, under the direction of Ava Fields, did a dreamy dance 'Strangers In Paradise'.

During this dance, done by Annette Bailey, Marlene Baker, Wendy Green, Glenda Brogden and Lisa Williams (Miss Inner City Teen - 1979) the lights were turned off. A flashing strobe light highlighted the girls as they danced in harem - style dresses of pale green, hot pink, deep red, apricot and ice blue. It was like viewing a rainbow of misty movement.

The dresses were designed by Ann Monroe - Bey, who also makes the costumes for the Miss Inner City Teen contestants.

It was a highly entertaining and enjoyable evening.

Earlier this spring the contestants were presented at Gallery 409 at a press conference, which was also attended by that fantastic musical group 'First Class.'

When quizzed at that time about their feelings about the upcoming pageant these are the sentiments of some of them.

April Riley: "I'm really excited about being in the pageant. It will give me a chance to have a lot of exposure."

Beverly Simon: "I think the opportunity to be in the pageant is one in a million. It's hard work but if we put everything we have into it we can come out on top."

Evelyn Parrott: "I entered the pageant for the experience and to get involved in some type of activity and to portray whatever talent I have.

From being in the pageant before I have built up confidence in myself. It was fun. I have shared a lot of good feelings with others."

Wendy Green: "I entered the pageant because I enjoy challenges and I feel this will be a big challenge for me."

Rose Ward: "I entered the pageant not only for experience but to meet people, to learn more about my community and how other people live; also to prove a point — You don't have to be beautiful or have a nice shape. You can be yourself and project to other people."

Other contestants who will be competing in the pageant are Doris L. Day, Gail Baker, Geraldine B. Jones, Teshra O. Tucker, Tonia Wormley, Robin D. Paul, Teresa Streeter and Leslie A. Smith.

The 'Miss Inner City Teen Pageant,' which is the brainchild of Mrs. Alice E. Ebb, its director is presented under the auspices of Urban Services through the St. James Youth Development Program.

Now in its fifth year, the pageant, which grows bigger each year, will be held at The Convention Center on July 20.

Mrs. Twilah Scarborough is its Public Relations Officer.

Attorney Tindal spent his junior year of college at the University of Lancaster, Bailrigg, England. Upon graduation from Franklin & Marshall, he attended and graduated from the University of Maryland School of Law, where he was a finalist in the first year moot ex court competition.

For the past two years, Mr. Tindal has been employed by the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, Division of Juvenile Causes. He has also taught at Morgan State University and is presently an assistant professor at Coppin State College, Evening division.

Mr. Tindal has taught political science at the Maryland State Penitentiary under the auspices of Coppin State College, division of experimental programs.

He is also presently the organist and a board member of the Tindal's Chapel F. B. H. Church, Baltimore, Md.

Guests at the reception held in his honor included Mrs. Fannie Perry, daughter Randy and Mrs. Lopp, of Coatesville, Pa.; The Honorable Solomon L. Baylor, Supreme Bench, Baltimore City; Honorable Charlotte M. Cooksey, U Theodored Hayes and Bernard G. Peter, Masters in Chancery, Supreme Bench, Baltimore City, division in Juvenile Causes, many friends and relatives.

Prayer for the evening was offered by the Rev. Henry A. Tindal Sr., pastor of Tindal's Chapel F. B. H. Church and brother of the honoree.

The hostesses were the sisters of the honoree, all professionals in their own fields.

Mr. Tindal will be leaving his present position with the Supreme Bench of Baltimore on May 23.

Upon his return from a vacation in the Bahamas he will begin his new position as an associate attorney with the firm of Mitchell and Lee, P.A., of downtown Baltimore.

RETIREMENT PARTY

Recently, Geneva C. Dobbins, media specialist on the staff of the Margaret Brent Elementary School, surprised her husband Gladstone E. Dobbins with a retirement party at the fabulous Gatsby Lounge.

Her husband was totally surprised.

This day was to be his first day of relaxation after more than thirty years of employment at the Post Office.

After the guests had been wined and dined at the Gatsby, they trotted off to the beautiful home of the Dobbinses, a tasteful breakfast.

Some of the special guests were: Larry, Barbara and Linda Wilson, nephew and nieces; Alice Matthews and Claudia Murphy, adopted mothers; Virgie and Olivia Verby sisters; Arkley and Charles Johnson Jr., godsons; Brenda Chavis, Gloria Waddy, Tiffany and Talia Etheridge, goddaughters.

Hosts and hostesses included friends and members of Mr. Dobbin Travellers' Club and Wayland Baptist Church.

They were: Nathaniel and Jackie Giles, Clide and Mary Richardson, William and Geraldine Wilson, Bertha May, Hallie Tucker, Sidney and Helen Lake, Katherine Greene, Nora M. Etheridge, A. C. Madison, William Morris, Delores Giles, Dorothy Waddy, Brenda
