7 Conaway bills signed into law

Beginning July 1 hundreds of new laws approved by the 1980 General Assembly will go into effect and seven of those can be attributed to Delegate Frank M. Conaway.

Conaway, who represents the 40th district in West Baltimore, was elected chairman of the Maryland Black Caucus in April and will assume that position July 1, replacing Sen. Robert Douglass, D-45th.

The delegate's bills vary from race track licensing to consumer protection. The bills are as follows with a brief summary:

House Bill 13 - For the purpose of regulating the keeping of business records by certain franchisors, providing for inspection of those records and limiting advertising by franchisors under certain circumstances.

HB 165 - Prohibits certain practices and requires the payment of compensation by persons who place advertisements for work-at-home employment.

HB 193, - Prohibiting Sunday racing at licensed racetracks in the state of Maryland.

HB 1105 - Provide requirements and filing fees for registrar of an offer of a business opportunity.

HB 1178 - For the purpose of providing that a motor vehicle seller may assign a retail installment agreement and receive a portion of the finance charge only if the fact is disclosed in the agreement.

HB 1190 - Establishes certain provisions as to openings and closings of credit unions.

HB 1225 - For the purpose of altering the applicability of certain provisions of licenses relating to franchises to include an offer to sell, or acceptance of an offer to sell a franchise made in this state.

Conaway will be saluted during an affair to be held Sunday, June 15 at the Regency Terrace on Lyndhurst Road just across from the Reisterstown Road Plaza shopping center.

The $25 gala affair "An Evening With Frank Conaway" will include cocktails and an open buffet with music and entertainment. The activity is from 6 to 10 p.m.

Local telethon nets $192,000 for UNCF

National representatives of the United Negro College Fund, UNCF, reported this week that the recent "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" telethon broadcast locally on WMAR TV, Channel 2, netted more than $192,000 and money is still coming in.

Melvin Shaw and Virgil Ecton, national UNCF representatives, said the collection rate on pledges usually runs about 90 percent and the local response from the May 31 broadcast means that the 41 member schools will be able to continue to educate more than 50,000 students per year.

Shaw and Ecton also said the Baltimore telethon, one of 20 across the nation, is the most successful one staged this year.

"There are hundreds, maybe thousands of graduates of UNCF schools living in Baltimore and Maryland and they understand the importance of the role these institutions of higher learning are playing in the upward mobility of black Americans," said George W. Collins, producer of the local portion of the telethon.

Collins, news executive at WMAR-TV and former AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper editor, attributed the success of the telethon to the work of the Citizens Telethon Steering Committee, headed by Mrs. Laura Knight and Mrs. Hazel Parks.

"Under the leadership of Mesdames Knight and Parks," he said, "a long with that provided by the Women's Committee for UNCF in Maryland, they created a coalition of individuals and organizations that represented all segments of the community."

Other committee members included: Mesdames Callie Greene, Eleanor P. Howard, Alice Sue Lee, Bernice Hunley, Ruth Daniels, Mildred Williams, Idell Pugh, JoAnn Williams, Rosalyn Smith, H. Jewel M. Marsan, Thelma Cox, Frances West, Martha Allen, Karaleigh Knight, Thelma T. Daley;

Also, Karen Spencer, UNCF regional director; Ted Montier, Alvin Parker, James Tull, Melvin Bilal, Robert Williams, Cornelius Whittaker, Douglas B. Sands, Charles Caldwell and George Collins.
