FAREWELL HUG is given to Tracey Yourgin, 5, kindergarten pupil at Bentalou Elementary School by Mrs. Nettie H. Page, principal, during program honoring her on her retirement.

The week of June 9 was "Nettie H. Page Week" at Bentalou Elementary School, 220 N. Bentalou St.

Mrs. Page, the principal, is retiring from Baltimore City Public Schools this year after more than 40 years of service.

The pupils, staff and parents of Bentalou Elementary paid high tribute to her from June 9 through June 13.

Monday, June 9, was "Button Day." There were ceremonies, both outside and inside the school, during which Mrs. Page was honored with songs of dedication, cheers and remarks of appreciation.

Buttons that read "Nettie H. Page, You're the Greatest" which had been purchased by the staff, were worn by everyone.

There was the unveiling of a street sign which read 'Page Street.' (done in cooperation with The Division of Transit and Traffic) which remained displayed on the street throughout the week and which was presented to Mrs. Page to take home at the end of the week.

Tuesday was "Dress-Up Day," during which Mrs. Page, escorted by Delores Jiggetts, visited each classroom, received love tokens from the pupils and teachers and during which the song 'I Feel Pretty' played over the intercom in dedication to her.

Wednesday, June 11 was the big day. Beginning at 9:30 a.m., classes assembled in the auditorium in succession throughout the day to pay tribute to the honoree in song, drama, poems and the dance.

At this time she also received a citation from the mayor, presented by Iantresa Scott, certificates of appreciation from other departments and classes in the school, gifts and flowers.

The faculty and total staff honored Mrs. Page at 1 p.m. with a luncheon held in the school's media center. Here the honoree received further accolades in song, a slide presentation which showed pictures of her recently purchased new home (which was a total surprise to her.)

There was also the unveiling of a replica of the house which contained written 'good wishes' attached to little gifts from the staff. The replica was called 'A Houseful of Wishes.'

On Thursday, June 12, 'Color Day' everyone wore something blue, Mrs. Page's favorite color, in honor of her. Also on that day the parents of the school gave a luncheon in her honor.

Friday, June 13, was 'Festival Day.' Highlights were a parade of the entire staff and pupils, which began at 1 p.m., its route encircling the block where the school is located, and a culmination program in the auditorium.

During this program Mrs. Page was honored with more accolades in song and drama and many presentations, including a picture album containing snapshots taken of school activities highlighting the honoree, and flowers.

It was a glorious send-off into retirement for a lady who has given selflessly to the Baltimore City Public Schools.

The entire celebration was coordinated by Mary Davis, High Intensity Reading Teacher, Mary Ann Winterling, assistant principal and Gilda Brown, senior teacher at Bentalou Elementary.

Another retirement celebration honoring Mrs. Page is being planned for the fall season of this year.
