AFRO-AMERICAN NEWSPAPERS

Vote study

One quirk in the results was Judge Bell's showing in the affluent white community of Bolton Hill. That area was the home turf of attorney Tom Ward, yet Bell beat him there by a mere percenteage point.

The sitting judge in the weakest position, statistics show, is Elabeth Bothe. Where Figinski had his ethnic support, Bell his black and affluent white vote, Grady the general vote and Pines the Jewish backing. Judge Bothe had no established quarter of sunport.

She was not particularly strong in any area of the city, and, unless she is able to garner support from the black and the liberal community of the city, she is doomed to suffer the loss of her seat.

Obviously, as Figinshi learned, a candidate for city-wide office cannot rely soley upon one area of the city.

Therefore, Judge Bothe must make an effort to appeal to the afore-mentioned voting blocs, and the only way to do this is for the sitting judges to aim their campaign against Tom Ward.

Ward, a former city councilman who won a nomination to the bench in the May 13 elections, has been labelled as a "law and order" candidate. If Judge Bothe and the sitting judges are able to isolate Ward by harping on his "reactionary" policies, there is a chance his bid for election could be turned aside by city voters.

Black voters have a tendency to vote against issues and personalities rather than for a particular candidate or policy, therefore, it may be possible for Judge Bothe to retain her seat by appealing directly to black voters with a message articulating why Ward should not be elected.

Otherwise, she will certainly lose in the general elections scheduled for Nov. 2.

The failure of Ward's Mount Royal Democratic Organization to deliver for him in his own fiefdom, coupled with the negation of the Eastside Democratic Organization's anti-Murphy efforts, could spell the end of organizational politics as we know it.

Voters failed to heed their—so-called—political sovereigns, and chose to exercise their own perogatives. Probably one of the strongest organizations left in the city are those in the Southeast section of Baltimore, where DiPietro and his Baltimore boys managed to deliver the territory to Figinski.
