Alphas hold fourth annual tennis tourney— Contribute to Project Survival

AFRO by Roman Hankewyez

FOR PROJECT SURVIVAL — Members of the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity present a $200 check to Vernon Wolst, director, Youth Affairs, Project Survival, as part of the activities for their recent fourth annual tennis tournament. Pictured (L to R): Charles Robinson, George Maxwell, Vernon Wolst, Dr. Russell Kelly, of Morgan University and chair for the committee, and Allen (Dickie) Burke.

The Fourth Annual Alpha Phi Alpha Benefit Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Delta Lambda Chapter was recently held at the Druid Hill Park Reservoir Courts.

The competition was chaired by Dr. Russell Kelley and involved over one-hundred thirty five tournament players. Among the winners were Alvin "Deke" Jones — Men's Singles, Saletta Pinkett — Women's Singles, Greg Ogle and Alvin Jones — Men's Doubles, Harvey Burns — Senior Men's Singles, Boysie Hux — Junior Veterans Singles and John Skinner and Saletta Pinkett — Mixed Doubles.

Dr. Kelley reported on an interesting special feature which the tournament includes each year, the Mini Celebrity Tournament chaired by Dickie Burke.

This fun-filled, friendly competition, made up of tennis playing and non-tennis playing local personalities included Junkie Wood, Walter Orlinsky, (Buzzy) Hetteman, Bob Green and Bob Smith.

Alphas Charles Robinson and Larry Davis presented a beautiful plaque for best sportsman to Eva Scott. Dr. Russell Kelley made other presentations to Project Survival and Operation Champ.

Morgan Graduate is Fulbright recipient

Mary F. Moore

Mary Frances Moore, a recent graduate of the Morgan State University, has been awarded a Fulbright-Hays Scholarship for the academic year 1980-81. She will be studying Music Education in West Germany at the University of Hamburg.

As a student of Morgan State University, she participated in the world renowned Morgan State University Choir which has performed in both the United States and Europe.

As a member of this group she has performed as soloist in some of its most noteworthy concerts. Under the direction of Nathan Carter she has demonstrated her talents well.

In other activities she was the Vice-president of the German Club, member of the Apostolic Club and Music Educators National Conference.

She is a member of the First United Church of Jesus Christ Apostolic. Bishop Monroe R. Saunders, pastor. Her academic progress and talent she believes is a blessing from God and she acknowledges her being awarded the opportunity to study abroad an exemplification of that best shown quality of how God works in mysterious ways his wonders to perform.

Miss Deborah Williams

Deborah Williams engaged

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Williams of 3133 Leeds Street have announced the engagement of their daughter Deborah to Sylvester L. Brown.

The bride-to-be is a June, 1972 graduate of Western Senior High School and a June, 1974 graduate of the Community College of Baltimore, elected to Phi Theta Kappa Honor Society and is currently employed by the Baltimore City Department of Education.

Her fiance, Mr. Brown, is employed by the Park Heights Community Corporation and is the son of Mrs. Catherine Brown of 1032 Stoddard Ct.

A July wedding is planned.

Miss Shirley Carroll weds Tyrone Smith

Mrs. Tyrone Nathaniel Smith

Miss Shirley Estella Carroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carroll Jr., exchanged marriage vows with Tyrone Nathaniel Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Parker, in a double ring ceremony at St. James Episcopal Church, Lafayette and Arlington Avenues.

The Reverend Michael Smith, sang "To God be The Glory." Mrs. Milagros W. Williams, III, the other soloist, sang "Ave Maria" and "The Lord's Prayer." Both were accompanied by Lloyd Bowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, was attended by Miss Mitra Anne Pitts, the maid of honor, of Baltimore, and Miss Lisa Savoy of Washington, D.C.

The bride wore a full length gown of white chiffon and Venetian lace over taffeta. The fitted empire bodice was enhanced with appliques of Venetian lace and seed pearls, as well as was the illusion mandarin neckline and the doubled bishop sleeves.

A softly flowing A-line skirt was edged in lace and swept into a chapel length train.

Her veil, which matched the bridal gown, was a mantilla in the new walking length which was lace trimmed tulle. Her exquisite bouquet was white silk roses and Georgiana orchids.

The bridegroom was attired in a blue-gray three piece suit. The bridegroom's brother and best man, the Reverend Michael Smith and Grant Hughes, the groomsmen wore three piece beige suits. The ushers were Houston Elvoid and Hansley Taylor.

Miss Pitts, the maid of honor, was attired in an apricot, and Miss Savoy, the bridemaid, wore a windy floral pattern in aqua. Both gowns, made of chiffon, were Paris originals by Nina Ricci.

Jennifer Nicole Gaines, the three-year-old flower girl, wore a white knee length dress adorned with apricot color bows. She tossed rose petals as she walked down the aisle.

William Carroll Woodford, cousin of the bride, was clad in a white knee length Eton suit and carried the ring bearer's pillow which had been designed and hand made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Irene S. Bush.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Carroll, wore a full length A-Line chiffon mauve gown with empire waist and waist cape, had a matching colored flower at the neck. Her corsage was of white cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Parker, the bridegroom's mother, wore an apricot floral print floor length accordion pleated gown with cape sleeves. Her wrist corsage was also of white cymbidium orchids.

The church's altar resembled a beautiful garden with baskets of gorgeous white gladioli, carnations, shasta daisies and baby's breath. Lovely garlands of greenery were softly entwined with baby's breath and other flowers to cover the altar rails.

A reception immediately followed the ceremony in St. James Guild Hall which was adorned with beautiful floral baskets, artistically arranged, and varied size wedding bells suspended from the ceiling.

Charles M. Woodford, a cousin of the bride, furnished music for the reception.

Mrs. Mildred Taylor, one of the bride's godmothers, directed the wedding.

Hostesses were Mesdames Althea B. Cornish, Irene Smith, Teresa B. Williams, Juliet B. Carter, Jacqueline C. Woodford, Jacqueline Gaines, Raynette Woodford and Valerie Jude also Misses Karen Smith, Robin Williams, Donna Brown and Donna Andoll.

The bride, a graduate of Western High School, holds a bachelor of arts degree in photography from the College of Notre Dame-of-Maryland and is employed at the Social Security Administration Woodlawn Office.

Her grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Saunders of Druid Hill Avenue and the late Mr. and Mrs. George H. Carroll of Myrtle Avenue.

The groom, a northwestern High School graduate, attended Morgan State University and Community College of Baltimore.

He is a graduate of the Computer Course at Towson State University and is currently a representative of the Internal Revenue Service.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mrs. Dorothy Roark, New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Robert King Sr. and their son, Robert Jr. and Miss Linda Lucas of McKeesport, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Strubury, Pittsburgh, Pa., William E. Woodford and children Harriet and Walter, Omaha, Neb., and James E. Washington, Richmond, Va.

Two weeks prior to the wedding, Mrs. Smith was the recipient of many beautiful gifts at a shower given by her godmothers, Mesdames Emma Dudley and Mildred Taylor held at the latter's home and one given by her maid of honor, Miss Mitra A. Pitts.

About this and that

A search committee of the Morgan State College Christian Center board is looking for a new director.

The Rev. Dr. Quincy Cooper, who assumed the post four years ago following the death of the Rev. Howard Cornish, is leaving as of Aug. 1.

He has accepted the pastorate of Scott United Methodist Church, Detroit. It has 1,000 members, is one of the largest in the area. Former pastor, Rev. George Rice, moves to another church in Motown.

Plus, the church provides a comfortable home in a rehabilitated area, similar to Baltimore's Bolton Hill.

Mrs. Cooper (Ellen), says her husband has received repeated offers and this one was a blessed opportunity', that he just couldn't turn down.

The other members of the Cooper family — Debbie, 16, and Montelagra, 4, are excited too. Mrs. Cooper adds that she will not seek a post in education right away. Rather, she will work on her doctorate.

Cuff note: As of Wednesday of this week, the search committee was still looking for a successor. It is not too late to file application.

Students to Europe

Mrs. Mary Conaway, the teacher and concert singer, led the group of Baltimore-area youngsters who flew to Europe last week on cultural exchange mission sponsored by the 4H Club of the University of Maryland.

Mrs. Conaway, who is the wife of Del. Frank M. Conaway, said the group will give performances in England, Scotland, Brussells, and France before returning to the States at the end of the summer.

Youngsters in the group range in age from 11-20, are all public school pupils. In the group Al Dania Summerville, and Monica Pindle, both 11, Antoinean Robinson, 13, Yvette Conaway, 14, and Lynette Shaw, 20. All are talented dancers and singers.

Bon Voyage

That lovely lawncocktail party hosted by Mae and Mac Chamberlain at their St. Luke Lane home on Saturday was to say bon voyage to Rudy and Doris Wheeler.

They are the retired teachers who have pulled up stakes and will be moving to their home in Palm Clast, Fla. Guests gifted the couple with cash, a 'how to' book and cosmetic case.

Guests gathered around the pool and all over the spacious lawn reminiscing and saluting the honorees.

Here from out of town were former neighbors of the honorees, Dorothea Battle Merchant, N.Y., and Anita Edwards Posey, San Jose, Calif., and Helen Whittaker.
