St. Peter Claver members attend Dinner-Dance

AFRO photos by Mark Gall

EXCHANGE GREETINGS — St. Peter Claver Catholic Church held a dinner-dance Sept. 5 at Martin's West as part of the 92nd anniversary of the church. Friends shown (from L) exchanging greetings are the Rev. Wayne Wiggleworth, pastor; Rev. Jeremiah Brady and Ms. Frances Jeffries.

It seemed like homecoming Sept. 7, when 851 members and friends of St. Peter Claver Church attended a dinner dance at Martin's West.

The occassion was the 92nd anniversary celebration of the church, where the Rev. Wayne E. Wigglesworth is pastor. Proceeds from the affair will be used for renovation of the church.

Rev. Wigglesworth stated his most vivid memories during his years at St. Peter's are "working with the sick and with the senior citizens club. Also, building a championship basketball team and working closely with a group of people he can always call on and count on.

Committee members for the dinner dance were Mesdames Catherine M. Woodland, Natalie Mercer, Louise Brooks, Elizabeth Peters, Mary Chase, Rebecca Johnson and Ruth Thomas.

Also, Mesdames Natalie Mercer, Rochelle Jackson, Cathy Woodland, Anna Traynham, Henrietta Jones and Ruby Taylor. Also, Frank Sewell, George Butler, Robert E. Dorsey, Cornelius Gordon.

St. Peter Claver Church has been staffed by the Josephite Fathers and Franciscan Sisters since the beginning. With the advent of the eighties, St. Peter Claver Parish looks for a resurgence of young adult leadership to work hand in hand with the proven leaders of the parish. The immediate is undergoing extensive renovation with the construction of the subway system, the demolition of entire blocks of homes to be replaced by newer and more comfortable housing, the razing of the triangle of abandoned buildings immediately in front of the church upon which site will rise a beautiful park for the use and enjoyment of the community and the parish.

For 40 years Peter Claver cared for the black slaves as they passed through the Port of Cartegena in South America. St. Peter Claver was the second black Catholic parish in Baltimore.

FRIENDS seen dancing at St. Peter Claver anniversary celebration on Sept. 5 at Martin's West shown are Ms. Ellen Dutton and David Echols.

ST. PETER CLAVER MEMBERS who assisted making plans for the anniversary dinner-dance held Sept. 5, shown seated (from L) are S. Warren Nixon and Mrs. Catherine M. Woodland. Shown standing is Robert Dorsey.

Miss Helen Benton speaks at Lott Carey Convention

More than 250 Baptists from Baltimore, attended the 83rd annual session of the Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention, Sept. 1 - 5 in Columbus, Ohio.

The theme was "New Aspects of Christian Missions." The Lott Carey Baptist Foreign Mission Convention is the only district foreign mission convention in the United States.

The convention was organized in December 1897 at the Shiloh Baptist Church in Washington. It was named for the Rev. Lott Carey, a former slave, who was born near Richmond, Va., He sailed for West Africa on January 16, 1821 and was the first American missionary to Africa.

Among those from Baltimore who participated were The Rev. Marcus G. Wood, pastor of Providence Baptist Church, Miss Helen V. Benton, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Betty L. Johnson, Mrs. C. Craigler and Taswell Thornton.

Members of the Memorial Baptist Choir arrived by bus Sept. 4 and received a standing ovation when they sang in the Presidential Ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel. Ms. Mable Waits was soloist and Ms. Audrey Phillips was soloist and director. Edmund Meade was the organist.

After Miss Benton gave her annual message on Sept. 4, she gave a reception for the Maryland delegation. Dr. Sommerville stated it was the first time he could recall seeing a choir travel a distance to the Lott Carey to sing for a woman president.

The choir has been invited to sing at the Lott Carey in Charlottesville, N. C. in 1981. They also received invitations from other states to sing.

The Rev. Walter E. Page, former president of the Lott Carey also attended the convention. Mrs. Bessie Mason, chairman of the worship committee did a great job in her Friday worship period. Many Marylanders played visible parts.

The Lott Carey Convention consists of representatives from local Baptist congregations, associations and state organizations. The parent body and auxiliaries meet jointly, annually. The convention meets in various cities on the Tuesday before the first Sunday in September each year.

The convention receives its funds from individuals, local congregations, conferences, associations and state conventions. The convention permits 25 percent of the income to be used for operating expenses and at least 75 percent must be spent on the foreign field.

There are 16 states and the District of Columbia affiliated with the Lott Carey Convention and there are 75 missionaries on the foreign staff. The missionaries are located in Guyana, India, Liberia and Nigeria.

The Lott Carey headquarters is located at 1501 Eleventh St., N. W. Washington, D. C. and the ultimate goal of the Lott Carey is to build a better world through Christian Missions by doing something to people.

Last rites held for Cornelius Patterson

Services for Cornelius Patterson were held Aug. 27 at Greater St. John Church. Mr. Patterson died Aug. 24 at Bon Secours Hospital.

Born in Virginia, he was the son of the late Cornelius and Mrs. Lucy Patterson. He came to Sparrows Point, Md., as a young man and worked there until his retirement in January 1966.

He was a member of Greater St. John and served as chairman of the Trustee Board for 23 years. In 1926, he married Lucille Freeman Patterson. Mr. Patterson was a member of the Prince Hall Masons.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lucille Patterson; one sister, Mrs. Martha J. Lewis; two brothers, George and Earl Patterson; two godchildren, Michael Lewis and James Davenport.

Nominations accepted for AME journal

A journal featuring women who have demonstrated outstanding qualities in their lives and - or in their profession is being prepared by the Missionary department of Bethel AME Church.

The journal, which will be sold during the "Behold the Woman" convention in January 1981 is being called a keepsake. Women selected for the journal will have featured a picture of themselves as well as a brief biographical sketch and a description of what it is they do that has made others think them to be outstanding.

Each woman selected for the journal will receive a copy of the book free. The book will be distributed throughout the world.

"Behold the Woman" journal committee chairman, Ms. Salima Marriott, says that nominations are still being accepted. Any group, individual or family wishing to nominate a woman for the journal should do so by sending a photograph, brief biographical sketch and a statement of 100 words or less why the woman is outstanding.

Upon receipt of this material the committee will send a letter of acceptance. Applicants accepted will be required to submit an entry fee. The application deadline is October 31 and for more information, call Ms. Marriott or Ms. Mary Peterson at 728-2537.

St. Mark's United Methodist assistant pastor dies

Funeral services for the Rev. Silas J. Mack were held Sept. 7 at St. Mark's United Methodist Church. Rev. Mack died Sept. 4 after a brief illness.

Born in Darlington, S. C. Rev. Mack attended Rust College and worked for the American Red Cross and wrote editorials for the Holly Springs Chronicle and served in the Army.

For more than 60 years, Rev. Mack was a minister in the United Methodist Church where he was involved in the creation and development of many congregations in several southern and northeastern states. He was associate pastor at St. Marks United Methodist Church at the time of his death.

Rev. Mack received his bachelor of arts degree from Rust College, his bachelor of divinity and master of divinity from Gammon Theological Seminary in Atlanta and his master of arts in education from the University of Pittsburgh. Rev. Mack also pursued doctorial studies in Anthropology at Columbia University and also attended Clark College in Georgia. Rev. Marck did volunteer work in many hospitals and penitentiaries in several states where he counseled and befriended the incarcerated and the ailing. He worked as a volunteer in - house chaplain at Johns Hopkins and Crownsville State Hospital.

Rev. Mack was appointed to the position of chaplain at Crownsville in 1957. While at the hospital he developed the Department of Religion and endeavored to further a better understanding of the importance of the relationship between mental health and religion.

Rev. Mack served as president of various PTAs and served in the capacity of member of the NAACP. He was also a member of the Association of Mental Hospital Chaplains, The Academy of Religion and Mental Health and the selective service board, where he was awarded a citation by President Lyndon Johnson.

Rev. Silas J. Mack (1959 file photo)

After retiring, Rev. Mack served as part time chaplain at Crownsville State Hospital, associate pastor of Sharp Street United Methodist, Sandy Springs, Md., and pastor at Caroline Street United Methodist Church and associate pastor at St. Mark's United Methodist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lelia Coleman Mack; two daughters, Mrs. Myrtle E. Dutton and Ms. Doris I. Gray; one son, Silas Jr., of Beaumont, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. Janie Bacote, Mrs. Inez Bonaparte and Mrs. Ethel Butler of Darlington, S. C.; three brothers, the Rev. Joseph Mack, Edward Mack of Nichols, S. C. and Elliott Mack of Darlington, S. C.; three grandchildren, Jonathan Mack, Donita Gray and Montserrat Dutton all of Baltimore and one son-in-law, Aaron C. Dutton.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones attended Metropolitan

A funeral for Mrs. Elizabeth (Bootsie) Jonewas held recently at New Metropolitan Baptist Church. Born in Baltimore, she died Aug. 27.

During her early years of employment, she served at the Comfort Springs Company as an operator. In 1960, she took nursing training at Crownsville State Hospital and became a full time employee at the hospital until she retired in October 1978.

Mrs. Jones joined New Metropolitan Baptist Church in 1962. She was one of the original members of the Swinson Jubilee Singers. She was also a member of the Gospel Chorus, the Women's Day Concert Choir and served in any other capacity where she was needed.

Relatives described her as a "loving, caring, calm, peaceful and unassuming person." She is survived by her husband, William K. Jones; four sons, LaRoy B. Rhodes, William M. Reid, Euvon B. Jones and Lawrence K. Jones and one daughter, Mrs. Olivia Walker.

St. Veronica day care opens Sept. 15

A new and greatly expanded facility, capable of providing day care for more than 285 pre-school children, will open its doors Monday, Sept. 15 at St. Veronica's parish in the Cherry Hill section of South Baltimo

Archbishop Borders will dedicate the new building in a 3 p.m. ceremony on Sunday, Sept. 14.

Since its inception 12 years ago, the headstart program utilized space in the basement of the church. Because of the inadequacy of these quarters to provide care and education for three to five year-old children from Cherry Hill, Westport, Brooklyn, South Baltimore, Mount Winans and Curtis Bay areas, plans were made two years ago to construct a new building.

Members of St. Veronica's parish and associated Catholic Charities directed the project, with assistance from the Catholic Daughters of America, the Josephite Fathers, the Pallottine Fathers, A. S. Abell Company, the Marvin Baker Foundation and other private foundations.

The new facility, said the Rev. James McLinden, pastor of St. Veronica's will provide to children and their families the service of a mental-health consultant, proper medical, visual, dental, speech and hearing screening, assistance in developing parenting skills, consumer education and nutritional planning, budget management, family counseling and social programs and trips.

A new nursery program for two-year olds and a program for expectant teenage mothers is also planned.

CITY COLLEGE GRADUATE — Charles D. Jefferson recently graduated from the United States Marine Corps camp in Paris Island, S.C. He is the son of Mrs. Lois Jefferson and Herman Jefferson. He attended City College and Rider College of Trenton, N.J. and Baltimore Community College.
