Scholastic sportsmanship presentations announced

Each year highly coveted awards are presented to various member schools of the Maryland Scholastic Association for outstanding sportsmanship exhibited during the school year.

The Baltimore City Public Schools Coaches Association Awards will be presented to Polytechnic Institute, senior high of the Western Division, and Baltimore City College, senior high of the Eastern Division.

The Catholic School Award goes to the John Carroll High School and the Independent School Award will be presented to Baltimore Lutheran High School.

John Nash, president of the Baltimore Public Schools Coaches Association, will present the Baltimore City Public Schools Awards.

Jerry O'Brien, chairman of the Catholic School Sportsmanship Committee, will present the Catholic School Award and Richard E. Collins, chairman of the Independent School Awards Committee, will present that award.

The Paul Menton Award for the most outstanding sportsmanship record for the M.S.A. will be awarded to Baltimore Lutheran. This award will be presented by Charles Gamper, president of the M.S.A.

All awards will be presented at special school assemblies later this month.

Bears await stiff test

Tomorrow afternoon at Hughes Stadium is likely to be quite different from last Saturday night at Yankee Stadium.

For one thing, Morgan State University's football team will be on more friendly soil at its home field. For another, the Bears will not have a perennially awesome Grambling eleven chomping the opposite sideline.

But, coach Clarence Thomas and his aides have spent much of the week preaching to their charges that Cheyney State cannot be looked upon as a breather after the usually tough confrontation with the frequent champions of the Southwestern Athletic Conference.

The Wolves, certainly are no Tigers. Yet, they can be a stiff test for the Bears.

Cheyney State prepared for this 1980 meeting by thumping once-powerful Seton Hall last Saturday.

The Wolves are aware that the local team may feel safe in the knowledge that Cheyney has lost all of the previous six contests. This could produce just enough complacency to serve as a Cheyney ally, and the Wolves are counting on it . . . LACY.

Fillies top Bowie stake

BOWIE, Md. — The Christiana Stable which has accounted for three previous runnings of the $40,000 added Mary Duvall Handicap at Bowie has a strong candidate for the sixth edition of the filly and mare test this weekend (Saturday) in Veiled Look.

The 4-year-old, stakes-winning miss will race a challenging group for the top money of the seven furlongs number.

The likely choice is Jameela, last year's champion Maryland-bred 3-year-old filly. Among the other probable rivals are Misty Malarky, Sub Rosa, Dancing Cobra, Elevated, Spring Triple, Lady Lyndy and Samarta Dancer.

Christiana has been eminently successful in the Mary Duvall. The stable accounted for a "7" division with Pinch Pl and back-to-back wins with Glory Glory in '76 and '77.

Bits o' briefs

O's selling

The Baltimore Orioles will accept mail orders postmarked today (Friday) for the American League championship series should the Orioles win the AL East title.

If the Orioles, who trailed New York by six games going into Wednesday night's game, win the division, game three and games four and vie, if necessary, would be played at Memorial Stadium Oct. 10-12. Games one and two will be played in the home of the American League West champion.

Reserved seats cost $10 each. Applicants may order either one or two strips to the Baltimore games, with each strip consisting of a ticket to each game, a total of $30 for a strip.

Expos leading the NL East enroute to what he hopes will be his third pennant-winning team.

NAACP Unity Banquet attracts over 1,000

By Pattie Hodges, AFRO Staff Writer

The fourth Annual Unity Banquet sponsored by the Baltimore Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, held on Sat., Sept. 13, was attended by nearly 1,200 guests, opening Martin's West to its fullest capacity.

The sitting judges currently running for office — Bell, Bothe, Pines and Grady welcomed the throng outside with kisses and handshakes. Billy Murphy, also running for a judgeship was on hand with smiles and words of welcome.

Inside, the sparkling chandeliers shone on folks from every area of Baltimore — business, industry, religion, law, education, medicine — you name it — there was someone there to represent it.

They came to wine and dine, to greet and be greeted, splendidly attired and vivacious.

But more important was the fact that they came to pay respect to the oldest, most influential and widely recognized organization for black advancement in America, and to hear words of wisdom by guest speaker, Dr. Samuel F. Yette, Howard U. Professor of Journalism and author of the profound book on black life in America — 'The Choice.'

ILGWU hosts 80th anniversary celebration

By Pattie Hodges, AFRO Staff Writer

The International Ladies Garment Worker's Union — Upper South Department hosted its first Dinner-Fashion Show on Sun., Sept. 14.

This gala affair, held in celebration of the Union's 80th anniversary took place at the Downtown Hilton Hotel from 3-6 p.m.

Guests, who numbered nearly 300 had a grand time and some delightful surprises.

They were treated to door prizes ($100 worth of Sarah Coventry Jewelry) and a delicious sit-down dinner, replete with dessert and beverages.

Highlight of the affair was the fantastic fashion segment, which included designs by the garment workers themselves and fashions from local clothing stores.

The garment workers, who also modeled the lovely clothes, went through an eight-week fashion course in preparation for the event.

The course, which trained the male and female workers in the areas of poise, make-up and modeling, was taught at the Unions Educational Centers, 1 N. Howard Street.

Fashions aired included gorgeous garments from casual to after-s.

Attending guests, who were from all walks of life and all city area oohed and aahed over the splendid showing. They were surprised that many of the garment workers had designed and made their own creations.

Lovely floral arrangements by Crip's Florist Shop ornamented the tables and were given to the guests when the affair ended.

The festive anniversary celebration was coordinated by Ms. Clara Gummer, union representative and business agent. Assisting s. Gummer were all of the I.L.G.U. ladies.

The Director of the Upper South Department and Vice President of the International I.L.G.W.U. is Peter Nadash.

Chesapeake Club honors charter-senior members

By Pattie Hodges
AFRO Staff Writer

On Sun. 14, The Chesapeake Club, Inc. honored 21 charter and senior members of their organization at their clubhouse, 2216 N. Eutaw Place.

Dinner was served by the Maceo Paysour Caterers. The sumptuous dinner fare consisted of tossed salad, fried chicken, crab cakes, roast beef, greens, corn, baked potatoes, hot breads, strawberry shortcake and beverages.

The 75 club members attending also enjoyed a variety of cocktails.

Following the dinner, recognition was given to the club's honorees and a brief history of the club was given by Leon Brown, financial secretary

The club is a social charitable organization which sponsors activities for fun, but donates its proceeds to worthy causes. It is now 30 years old.

The Chesapeake members decided to make a donation of $100 to WEAA (The Morgan U. radio station).

Officers of the club are: John Widgeon, president and charter member; Francis Bennett, vice president; Herman Jones, acting secretary; Leon Brown, financial secretary; Shirley Diggs, treasurer.

Among the honorees attending were: J. Alvin (Mickey) Jones, former Maryland state senator; Arthur Bragg, Walter Burke, Milton Hill, John Edwards, George Tibbs;

Also Kermit Hartzell, William Dorsey, Leroy Flannagan, Hector Lindo, John Marshall and Thomas Taylor.

The club has a total membership of 90, and the 75 who attended Sunday's affair enjoyed it to the hilt.
