The M. J. Naylor (Baltimore) Chapter of the Morgan State University Alumni Association hosted its Annual Autumn Cocktail Sip, Sun., Sept. 28.

This affair, held at Gatsby's, Charles Street from 5 until 9 p.m. was attended by over 200 people.

The alumni provided a variety of activities for their guests. There was lots of disco dancing to the lively tunes spun by Gatsby's disco d.j.

There was also a table of goodies, which included fruit, cheese and meat cubes, crackers and munchies: and of course available were variety of sippables.

The alumni members had sold raffle tickets prior to the affair and the suspenseful moment of the evening came when it was time for the drawings.

Top raffle prize winner was Frances B. Bruce, who had bought her ticket from Gwen Wheatley. Garnering a second prize was Dorothy L. Johnson, whose ticket had been purchased from Pearl Kirby.

In the winner's circle for third prize was William Clark, who had gotten his ticket from Wes Shorge. Three other winners were Kathryn Dean, Mary Mills and John Bell.

At 9 many guests were still discoing away, seemingly reluctant to leave.

Proceeds from the affair will go to benefit the chapter's scholarship fund.

Mrs. Virginia B. Coleman is chapter president. Other chapter officers are Samuel E. Smith, first vice president; Mansfield Spicer, second vice president; Chisa Shango, recording secretary; Marian Finney, financial secretary; Virginia Scott, corresponding secretary; James Stovall, treasurer; Beverly Reid, chaplain, and Wesley Hordges, sgt.-at-arms.

"The Dean's List," an all teen model professional campus and career fashion show was presented on Friday, September 26 at Walbrook Senior High School by Flair Studio's Models' Club.

Ms. Andrea Bland, the Models Club director, explains that this is the only fashion show in the area which permits teens to participate on a professional level — though many teens are trained in modeling, a few get the opportunity to share their talents and skills and be seen by family, peers and the community.

Members of the Models' Club are all graduates of Flair Studio's self development and modeling courses.

The Tony Edges Dancers also contributed their special brand of electrifying dancing to the evening. Tony Edges is Flair Studio's dance director who is well known as master choreographer and a skilled teacher of ballet, jazz and modern dance.

In coordinating the fashion show, Ms. Bland called on leading department stores as well as two of Baltimore's most respected designers, Mrs. Selena Boston and Ms. Sandra Wilkens.

Showing the designer garments were guest models Monica Wilkens and Charlotte and Shelly Boston. Other guest models included Jill Jolley, Candace Johnson and Sametta Smith.

Crisp campus looks for this season were shown. Also featured were casual and classic day wear and elegant great looks for evening.

Members of the Models' Club are : Adrienne Blueford, Brenda Brooks, Darcel Brown, Doris Brown, Regina Brunson, Lletrice Drennon, Letonya Edwards, Brian Hawkins, Rosanna Hightower, Mark Isaac, Marshall Jefferson;

Also Cammy Mack, Crystal Montague, Mary Murrill, Sheronda Nixon, Rebecca Pindell, Shaudin Pinkney, Michelle Porter, Crystal Rogers, Tobin Queen, Vickie Queen, Tonya Reeves, Branda Saunders, Annette Scott, Tondria Simon; v Also Kellye Thompson, Andrea Wicks, Dana Willis and Tiara York.

Many members of the Models' Club will be featured in Flair Studio's holiday fashion show at the Convention Center on Sunday, November 16.

Flair Studio is located at 1018 Mondawmin Mall and is currently accepting registrants for its fall-winter program.

Birthday celebration sparks Parker family reunion

By Pattie Hodges
AFRO staff writer

Good food and music, warmth laughter and a surprise birthday celebration for its eldest living member sparked the lively reunion of the Parker family.

Held recently at the Chicanale Room, Park Circle Drive, this gala was attended by four generations of the family from Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The Parker's roots began with James Harriet Parker, of Maryland, who had 11 children, five of whom are still living and were at the reunion.

They are John Parker, Mrs. Eleanor Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Joyce, Mervin O. Parker and Mrs. Violetta Nelson.

Highlight of the afternoon was the surprise birthday celebration included during the reunion for John Parker, eldest family member who had turned 80 the day before the reunion. He is a retired Catonsville Contractor.

A large white sheet cake, trimmed in blue, inscribed "Happy 80th Birthday John" rested on a nearby table.

Relatives also gifted him with
