Ravens resume Saturday meeting an old nemesis

The Baltimore Ravens wheelchair basketball team will return to action tomorrow (Saturday) to take on the Capital Smokers.

The game will begin at 7:30 p.m. at Milford Mill High School, 3800 Washington Avenue. To get to the school take Beltway exit 18, north (Randallstown) to the first traffic light and turn right on to Washington Avenue.

The Ravens, who have three wins and no losses, will meet the Smokers for the first time this season. Last year, one of the Ravens' worst seasons, the Smokers beat the Ravens three of four games.

"This year it will be different," said Raven coach Dick Doran. "We scouted them earlier this season and they do not have the talent they had last year."

The Smokers, whose record is one win and one loss, are developing their young talent. Doran said the Ravens still must be careful because the Smokers do have the potential to win.

Doran said the game should be exciting. "Records don't matter when we play the Smokers. They are always mentally prepared for us," Doran said.

Tickets for the game can be purchased in advance for $1 at the League for the Handicapped, 1111 E. Cold Spring Lane, or for $1.25 at the door.

Bowie wins, then loses

Bowie State College had good news and bad news for its basketball fans Wednesday night.

The good news was that the women's team scored an exciting 63-62 victory over the Virginia Union women.

And the bad news was that the Bowie State men dropped a 101-92 decision to the Virginia Union men.

The Lady Bulldogs edged the Lady Panthers when Bernadette Vann sank two free throws with but eight seconds left on the clock.

Their male counterparts, however, lost their 7th in a row without a victory, bowing to a strong Panther offense and a rash of whistle blowing that enabled the winners to cage 33 free throws to 12 for the losers.

Quintin Dailey when he won 1979 scholarship

'Survival' youth stars in Hawaii

HONOLULU — Quintin Dailey seems to have taken up where he left off on the University of San Francisco basketball court.

Dailey, winner of the Project Survival scholarship award in 1979 after graduating from Cardinal Gibbons High, was the leading scorer for the Dons in his freshman year. His sophomore season has begun just as impressively.

Here Saturday night, Quintin scored 21 points, with 11 in the waning stages to help hold off the University of Hawaii charge and give San Francisco a 98 - 86 victory.

The Dons, who boosted their record to 3 - 1, held a comfortable 13-point margin with three minutes to go, but frittered away the lead to the ball - hawking Rainbows.

USF led at the half, 57 - 50 on torrid 72.7 percent shooting from the floor.

Hawaii, playing its first game of the season, got a 17 - point performance from American Aaron Strayhorn.

Bowie State defensive ace honored as All-American

The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) has named Victor Jackson, Bowie State College cornerback to the Kodak All-American team in the College Division I Class.

Jackson, a 6-4, 205-pound senior from Glenarden (Md.), provided outstanding performances for the Bowie State Bulldogs this season.

He returned 32 punts for 397 yards including a 66-yard return for a touchdown; five interceptions for 33 yards; 100 tackles, 61 assists and two fumble recoveries.

Other post-season honors Jackson has received include: the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) All - District 19 team, NAIA District defensive player-of-the-year, Central Conference team; CIAA Sportswriters Association All - Conference team and the CIAA Sportswriters Association defensive player - of - the - year.

Victor Jackson

Also, he was selected on the Sheridan Broadcasting Network Black College All-American team and the Maryland All - State team.

"The awards are great," said Jackson, "I just wish our season had been better. We have some good players and I know we were better than our record, but the breaks just didn't come our way. I got these honors, but I had 10 other beautiful people on that 'Mean Machine' defense to help me."

The Kodak All - American Division I team includes players from NCAA Division II and NAIA Division I schools.

Morgan five tries Coppin

Gus Guydon and his Morgan State University cagers close out the first third of their season at home tomorrow (Saturday) night.

The Bears take on crosstown rival Coppin State at 8 p.m., their last Hill Field House outing of the year. They return Jan. 7, after the Yule break, to entertain Norfolk State College.

Morgan's up-and-down record to date records victories over City College of New York, Bowie and Cheyney State, while losing to Norfolk and Virginia State.

Morgan women basketers also wind up their pre-Christmas schedule on Saturday, visiting St. Peter's College in Jersey City.

Sugar Ray's brother won't fight but his cousin will

If what Tony Chiaverini says is true, his fight tonight (Friday) in Kansas City is like a rocket-ship takeoff of the old "you-gotta-beat-somebody-first" hype of years ago.

Chiaverini, a junior middleweight who was popped in four rounds by Sugar Ray Leonard in June, 1978 in Las Vegas, says he wanted Sugar Ray's older brother Roger for this bout, but Roger wouldn't and won't fight him.

Chiaverini and promoter Gene Fritz speak in accord when they say they had to settle for Odell Leonard, Fritz's Sugar Ray's cousin.

Odell was ranked No 7 in the junior middleweight division in October when he agreed to meet Tony. But the United States Boxing Association fixed those plans.

By the same queer behavior the USBA now has dropped Odell to a No. 12 ranking.

This despite the fact that Odell knocked out WBC seventh-ranked Alvin Anderson in his last October appearance, made after the Chiaverini blackout.

What, again!

When Hal McRae of the Kansas City Royals was named the champion American League designated hitter last week, it was not only the second time for him to gain the honor. It was the sixth time in the last seven years a black player has been so voted.

McRae won it in 1976, also. Others have been Willie Horton (twice) Jim Rice and Tommy Davis, with only Rusty Staub (78) breaking the monopoly.

Colts, Dolphins close

Despite the fact the Colts are able to look back on a 30 - 17 trouncing of the Dolphins as they prepare to take the field Sunday (4 o'clock) at the stadium, Baltimore and Miami should be rated a toss - up in the next - to - last game of the NFL campaign.

Both teams are entering the game with identical 7 - 7 won - loss records, and victory means the difference between a winning or losing season.

Each has another game in the regular schedule after Sunday. Baltimore with Kansas City at home and Miami with the Jets in the Orange Bowl.

The Jets, incidentally, are one of the opponents holding a win over the Dolphins, 17 - 14, after having lost, 35 - 21, to the Colts.

By the same token, however, the Chiefs downed the Colts, 35 - 21, in their earlier confrontation at K.C.

The Colts and Dolphins have met 21 times in regular season with the Dolphins holding 12 - 9 advantage. The two teams have played once in post - season competition with the Dolphins winning 21 - 0 in 1971.

This year, Baltimore twice beat Buffalo, which had a split with Miami, and each divided a pair with New England.

HEMPSTEAD — Lying down or standing up. That's what Wilt Chamberlain said and he won a bet proving it in Philadelphia to be honored as a member of the "greatest" cheer team. Wilt bet newsmen who have constantly called him a 7-2 giant, that he is "under 7 - foot - 1" and they measured to find he's 7-feet, ½ inch.

Bears' Holston on All-America

The American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) named Mike Holston, wide receiver of Morgan State University to the Kodak All - American team for the College Division I Class.

Holston broke four Morgan State receiving records: the most receptions in one season (82); the most receptions in one game (12 vs University of Delaware), the longest reception (95 yards vs. Delaware), and the most yardage receiving in one game (195 vs. Delaware).

His career totals in only two years are 84 receptions for 1,175 yards and 7 touchdowns.

The college Division I Team includes players from NCAA division II and NAIA division I schools. Victor Rowen, football coach at San Francisco State University, chairs the selection committee for the division.

Neither Duran, Leonard had post-fight tests

ALEXANDRIA, La. — Neither Sugar Ray Leonard nor Roberto Duran underwent a required urinalysis following their World Boxing Council welterweight title fight in New Orleans last month.

The man responsible for collecting the specimens for the Louisiana Boxing Commission said he simply forgot to do so.

Duran quit the fight abruptly with 16 seconds left in the eighth round. The State Boxing Commission later fined Duran $2,000 — less than 1 percent of the reported $1 million purse — for his performance in the fight.

Duran said stomach cramps forced him to quit the fight.

Jose Sulaiman, president of the WBC, said that rules require the tests to make sure neither of the fighters was doped.

"I am very disappointed that they didn't get the samples," Sulaiman said. "We were not informed of some of the things the Louisiana Boxing commission did after the fight. The local commission is responsible under the WBC. We were assured tests were going to be taken and we were informed of absolutely nothing.

"I don't know why, and I don't know if it's bad. It is a violation of the rules, but not by the fighters. It is a violation by the commission."

Mike Cusimano, a former member of the commission, was assigned to get the specimens. He said he took specimen bottles from commission doctor A. J. Italiano into the dressing rooms after the fight.

"Note was given back to me," he told local sports reporter Doug Blackburn. "Nobody ever asked me for them until now. I never thought about it again until you asked me right now.

"I talked to Italiano, who examined Duran at 3 p.m. on the day after the fight, said he was "puzzled like everyone else" as to why no urine samples were collected. He said he was told the urinalysis bottles were lost from both the Duran - Leonard fight and a cruiserweight title fight between Marvin Camel and Carlos Deleon, but added, "I don't know how anybody could lose them."

Cheyney cops women's title

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Tournament MVP Nakia Walker scored 18 points Sunday to lead Cheyney State to a 65-60 victory over Pittsburgh and the championship of the Pitt Classic Invitational women's basketball tournament.

Pam Miklasevich paced Pitt with 23.

In consolation games, Penn State defeated DePaul, 85-84; Youngstown State beat Fairleigh Dickinson, 76-64; and West Virginia defeated Edinboro 101-91.

All-round runner at Laurel

ROYAL LEE — Lee Hay, who was ignored by all teams in last month's twenty draft, has been signed by the Kansas City Royals. He rejoins manager Jim Frey, who was a coach for four years with Lee's old Orioles team.

LAUREL, Md. — Cookie, perhaps the most versatile horse in the nation this year, is a scheduled starter at Laurel Race Course on tomorrow (Saturday) $40,000 added Walter Haight Handicap.

The 4-year-old gelding owned and trained by Thomas H. Voss has won on the flat, over the turf and over brush in steeplechase events at Saratoga and at Belmont Park.

Two of his five victories this season were at Laurel, an allowance on grass and an allowance over a muddy strip. In between, Cookie was second in a steeplechase, the event leading up to the Colonial Cup at Camden, S.C.

And last Saturday, Voss fox-hunted with Cookie at the 1,000-acre farm in Monkton, Md., owned by his grandmother, Mrs. Edwards Voss Jr., where the 30-year old horseracing stables and trains his horses.

"I do it to keep Cookie happy," Voss says.

BY THE WAY...

I think there is a song with lyrics that tells us that "no man is an island, no man stands long." That can be a parable for some of the famous Black culture landmarks that are located throughout this nation. My comments will be about a specific historical monument - the Black college or university.

Way back in 1865 when a college education was hard to come by for ex-slaves, the churches recognized the need for learning, reading, writing, and cipherring, and with the help of The Freedmen's Bureau, they founded Howard University, Fisk University, Atlanta University, Tougaloo College, St. Augustine's College, and Morgan State to name a few institutions of higher learning. Cheyney opened its doors in 1839, and Lincoln University in Pennsylvania was educating in 1854.

There's no denying that when Black folks needed them, the Black colleges welcomed them with open arms and gave us many of our great doctors, lawyers, educators, and scientists. But as the saying goes ... how soon we forget. Today many of these colleges need the support of those Black Americans who loudly boast that "I'm Black and I'm Proud." As the dinosaur of yesteryear, many of our Black institutions of higher learning are facing extinction. How can that be when Black Americans earn more than $70 billion annually? The answer is quite simple — we are too busy doing our own thing. Young Blacks have accepted the fallacious belief that you can't learn anything at a Black college, while the middle and upper income class Black families choose to adopt the attitude of "I got mine, shame on them if they don't have their's."

It is now time to prove that Black is beautiful. Each graduate from a Black college or university should mail at least five dollars ($5.00) to their alma mater each year. You know, the school you save may be your own.

Amateur boxing show has promise

What promises to be an interesting exhibition of new boxing talent is scheduled tomorrow (Saturday) at the Cherry Hill St. Veronica Hall.

Eleven bouts are slated, with a 5 - round main event featuring the all - star amateur program.

The Champs A.C. will send Dexter Harris against Operation Champ's Richard Willie in the feature bout.

Cherry Hill will have a special rooting interest in a match that pits local hero Keith Martin against a topline prospect.

Sifford ties for 4th place
