Cheap horse, small stable ghetto trainer combine in warm Pimlico success story

A Cinderella story will be in its final chapter Saturday when the last link of a rags - to - riches tale performs in the $30,000 - added Toddler Stakes at Pimlico Race Course.

Once upon a time there was a nondescript mare, Stormy O'Shay, who was claimed for $2,500 at Charles Town in 1968 by Mrs. G. T. Hopkins of Great Falls, Va.

"I went to see the Charles Town stewards to see if we could make the former owner take her back, but they said I was too late putting in the protest," Mrs. Hopkins recalled of her acquisition, which turned out to be 'nerved' (heel nerves clipped in her front legs).

Mrs. Hopkins' only recourse was turning Stormy O'Shay into a broodmare and eventually she accepted a free stud service to Rose Argent. The mating produced Gusty O'Shay, who as a 2 - year - old stunned the upper echelon of Saratoga when he upset the 1973 Hopeful Stakes and then was voted Maryland - bred 2 - year - old king at year's end, climaxing the tale right there.

That was trainer Harrison Johnson's second year under the employ of Hopkins, and it has been a fruitful association ever since.

"Windy O'Shay was the first foal out of Stormy O'Shay and then came Gusty," explained Harrison. "Next came Thunder O'Shay, he's stakes placed; Restless O'Shay; Passthebuck O'Shay and now Gypson (O'Shay).

"They're all winners and I'd guess their combined earnings would be a couple hundred thousand," Harrison adds with a grin.

Johnson will saddle Gypsy O'Shay, the final foal of Stomy O'Shay, who died last fall carrying a Spring Double foal, in Pimlico's Toddler for 2 - year - old Maryland - bred fillies.

"It's a matter of how far she can carry her speed," Johnson says. "She's a typical O'Shay, doesn't show much in the morning but saves it for the afternoons."

The chestnut filly sired by In a Trance has run three times at Pimlico this spring. She finished second in her debut and second as favorite, a length behind Laughing Gull, her main obstacle Saturday, in her second start. Earlier this month she graduated from maiden ranks in her third attempt.

Her hole card is speed. In all three five - furlong races she led by as many as five lengths rounding the turn.

"She tends to look around through the stretch and that may have cost her her first two starts," says jockey Mike Terre.

"Bernie's (Bond) filly (Laughing Gull) is the one to beat," says a modest Johnson.

They were saying that Phipps' Take by Storm and Whitney's Prince of Reason were the horses to beat in the 1973 Hopeful.

Heavyweight Champion? There may soon be three

HOUSTON (UPI) — Confused about two heavyweight champions? There may be three very shortly.

The World Boxing Association executive committee voted unanimously to reject an appeal by Mike Weaver and upheld its May 31 decision to strip the heavyweight champion of his title.

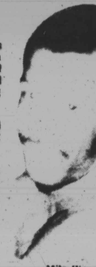
The move comes because the WBA ruled that Weaver was in violation of rules by not signing to fight the top available contender, unbeaten James "Quick" Tillis, in the specified amount of time. Tillis, 20 - 0, was the best available contender on March 31 when Weaver's time for a mandatory defense elapsed.

The No. 1 contender Gerry Cooney had signed to fight Ken Norton in May and No. 2 ranked Leon Spinks had agreed to meet champion Larry Holmes for the rival World Boxing Council title.

Accordingly, the WBA gave Weaver until the end of this month to sign for a bout with the No. 3 - ranked Tillis, but Weaver's manager, Don Manuel, who represented him at the hearings, said he would go ahead with his plans to fight Cooney in October.

That leaves the way open for Tillis to face unbeaten Greg Page of Louisville, Ky., to determine Weaver's successor.

New York, among other states, already has indicated that it might not recognize the elimination winner and may recognize the Weaver - Cooney winner as champion instead.



Mike Weaver has until June 30

Bits o' briefs

AFRO sports editor Sam Lacy will be a guest panelist on the "Talk to the Experts" radio show tonight (Friday) at 8 o'clock.

Maryland thoroughbred race announcer Dick Woolley conducts the weekly show, and invites fans to phone in for answers to questions pertaining to horse racing.

Ashe Cup test

Because Arthur Ashe is captain of the 1981 U.S. Davis Cup, liberty is being taken to refer to the upcoming tennis matches as the "Ashe Cup."

The Americans meet defending champion Czechoslovakia July 10 - 12 in New York. Should they win, they will face the winner of the Sweden vs. Australia tie at Portland, Oregon, Oct. 2 - 4.

Cal climbs

Calvin Peete and Lee Elder moved up one slot each in the rundown of pro golf money winners last week.

Peete climbed from 44th to 43rd and Elder from 38th to 37th among the top 100. Jim Thorpe, who played best of all in the U.S. Open, was just short of reaching $19,770 for 100th place.

D.C. judge 'outstanding at tennis

D.C. Superior Court Judge Henry Kennedy Jr. won an award Sunday for being the most outstanding tennis player in the seventh annual Harold Bell tennis tournament. Proceeds of the tournament will go to the Harold Mc Linton Family Trust Fund and the South East Youth Development Program.

This year's tournament had a variety of celebrities in it. They came from all parts of the sports and local entertainment establishments.

The tournament was played at Anacostia Park on Sunday, followed by a Celebrity Fashion Show at the Black Tahiti Restaurant.

The celebrities were: former Boston Celtics guard Sam Jones, Washington Bullets players Mitch Kupchak and Kevin Grevey; Adrian Dantley and Gene Littles of the Utah Jazz; Tim Baylor of the Minnesota Vikings, and Donnie Simpson of WKYS radio- along with a host of other stars.

There will be a series of Friday night swim meets held at the Druid Hill YMCA, 1609 Druid Hill Avenue, beginning June 26.

The meets will be held every Friday night until September 4.

High school swim team members are urged to join and participate. The meets will begin at 6:30 p.m., and the entry fee for each one is $1.

For more information, contact: Clinton Jennifer at 728-1600.

CCC soccer

A pair of week - long soccer camps will be held at Catonsville Community College July 20 - 24 for players between the ages of six and fourteen.

Applications and information for the camps are available by calling 455 - 4197.

Mervo youth wins Ehrmann scholarship

Mervo senior Carroll Mitchell was presented a $1,000 college scholarship this (Friday) morning at Memorial Stadium, an award underwritten by the Baltimore Colts and the Miller Brewing Co.

The award, made in the Gridiron Room, is fashioned in the name of Colts defensive tackle Joe Ehrmann, and was a highlight of the NFL Man of the Year program.

Immediately following the ceremony, there was a special media showing of the Colts 1980 highlight film.

The NFL Man of the Year award and associated scholarship is sponsored by the brewing firm and is administered under the direction of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Mitchell was selected by The Greater Baltimore Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame in cooperation with the Colts.

The scholarship is awarded in the name of Ehrmann, who was selected by vote of the Baltimore fans as the Colts 1980 Man of the Year for his contributions on the football field and in the community.

Bullets hold seminars

In the midst of the baseball strike, some sports groups are reaching out to youth of the communities to give them some summer fun.

Members of the Washington Bullets will offer basketball tips to youths at six free clinics held at various Wendy's Restaurants between June 26 and July 11.

The one-hour sessions, sponsored by Wendy's, WTOP newsradio 15, and the Bullets, will consist of instruction in basketball fundamentals, and a question and answer period. Fifty free passes to Busch Gardens, valued at $11 each, will be given away at each clinic.

Clinic sites include: Friday, June 26...6823 New Hampshire Ave., Takoma Park, Md. (Kevin Porter)

Saturday, June 27...14119 Jefferson Davis Highway, Woodbridge, Va.

Wednesday, July 8...6329 Richmond Highway, Alexandria, Va. (Kevin Grevey)

(Carlos Terry)

Thursday, July 9...10634 Baltimore Blvd., Beltsville, Md.

(Jeff Ruland)

Friday, July 10...350 Dual Highway, Hagerstown, Md. (Rick Mahorn)

Saturday, July 11...8907 Woodyard Rd., Clinton, Md. (Greg Ballard)

Lewis, Banks, Moses cop AAU titles

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Carl Lewis got his cherished double, Edwin Moses extended his incredible victory string to 63 races and Willie Banks set an American record.

Those were the highlight performances of the 1981 USA track and field championships, recognized by the Athletics Congress, over the weekend and at the moment it's hard to pick one as the top achievement.

It is safe to say, though, that Lewis, Moses and Banks achieved the kind of success that speaks well for American track and field and should put to rest reports that the sport is on the decline.

Lewis won the 100-meter dash in 10.13 and long jumped 28-3½; Moses, who kept his vice-like grip on the 400 intermediate hurdles; and Banks, who triple jumped 56-7¼, to revive interest in the sport, if in fact it needed a resurgence.

Lewis achieved his double — only the fourth in his two events in 103 years — Saturday night, while Moses won the hurdles and Banks the triple jump on Sunday's windup program.

Banks broke the American record twice and the indoor record earlier this year and Sunday, he broke the outdoor mark twice more, first going 56-11¼ and then 57-7¼.

Moses, the world record-holder in the intermediate hurdles, was a bit behind coming to the next-to-last hurdle when he put on a burst and won going away in 47.59. There is little question that he is the best long hurdler in the world.

Moses' time Sunday was the sixth-fastest ever. Of course, he also has the top five best times.

There seemed to be some confusion over Banks' triple jump. In some metric conversion books his jump figures out to 57-7¼; in others to 57-7½. What there is no confusion about is that he may, right now, be the best triple jumper in the world. He thinks so, anyway.

"I feel confident that I could beat anybody in the world now," said Banks, who is attending UCLA law school in hopes of becoming an attorney.

Gals stand out in AAU

SACRAMENTO — Edwin Moses, Carl Lewis and their men counterparts weren't the only black standouts in the weekend's national track and field championships.

Among the women, it was difficult to pick the top performer.

It could be Madeline Manning who won her 7th national 880 title. Or it could be Evelyn Ashford, the 1980 woman athlete of the year.

Manning set a meet record time of 1:58.50, despite being 33 years old.

And Ashford doubled as champion at 100 and 200 meters.

Also scoring victories and qualifying for berths on the U.S. team to meet the USSR July 11-12, were:

Stephanie Hightower, hurdles; Jodi Anderson, long jump; and Denise Howard in the 400 meters.

Tennis group readies

Tennis lessons begin on June 29 in Druid Hill Park at the lakeside courts. Instruction in both beginning and intermediate levels will be offered for children ages 9 - 17.

Each child will attend two one - hour classes a week for six weeks. The program has been designed to promote tennis in the city.

Registration days are Monday and Tuesday, June 29 - 30, from 9 a.m. to noon at the courts. There will be a $2 registration fee. Racquets and balls will be provided and tennis shoes are required.

There will be a tennis team for advanced players. Anyone interested in being on the team must try out. Team members must be able to execute all strokes as emphasis will be on strategy. For further information, call 396 - 5653.

Colts set Saturday clinic for youngsters

The Colts will conduct a football clinic open to all youngsters age 8 - 16, tomorrow (Saturday) at the Colts' training facility located in Owings Mills. It will start promptly at 10 a.m., and conclude at approximately 1 p.m. Several Colt players will be on hand to instruct the youngsters in the various aspects of football.

Instruction will be provided by quarterback Greg Landry, running back Cleveland Franklin, defensive end Mike Ordowski, linebacker Ed Simonini, and cornerback Larry Braziel.

Each youngster participating in the clinic will receive a 1980 Colts' team picture, a team decal, and a 1981 Colts' schedule card. Free door prizes, including Colts' T - shirts, autographed footballs and caps will be awarded throughout the day. The clinic will conclude with a special showing of the Colts' 1980 Highlight Film.

The Colts' training facility is located on Bonita Avenue just off of Reisterstown Road.

It can be reached by taking Exit 20 North off the Baltimore Beltway (I - 695) and following Reisterstown Road approximately five miles to Bonita Avenue. Turn right on Bonita and follow one - half mile to the Colts' training facility.

AMBITIOUS KEGLERS — Sylvia Denise Fulwood (L) and Charles McLaughlin will seek Baltimore titles in the 4th annual Baltimore - Washington Youth Duckpin Invitational Championship which begins Monday at Greenway Bowl East, 6700 Moravia Park Drive. Action begins at 5 p.m. Schedule moves to Fairlanes Liberty Wednesday; Dave Branch Bowl July 3, and then Fair Lanes College Park July 5.

Femme keglers set rich purse

Duckpin bowling will hold center stage when the Ladies Baltimore Open takes place at Fair Lanes Middlesex (1100 Eastern Blvd.) on Saturday and Sunday, July 18 and 19.

The first prize money, $1,000, the most ever offered for a women's tour duckpin event, will crown this third of four stops on the $75,000 event.

The tour is sponsored by the Duckpin Bowling Proprietors Association, conducted by the Duckpin Professional Bowlers Association, and sanctioned by the National Duckpin Bowling Congress.

Youth Games

The United States Youth Games bowling finals were held recently at Woodlawn Fairlanes.

The finalists are Miriam Jones, Barry Brown, Melissa Copeland, Rhonda Pompey, Ralph Davis, Danny Wiseman, Tammy Lance, Diana Gross, Michael Brown, and Bryan Lafko.

These bowlers will go to Amherst, Mass. in August to participate in the annual games.
