The 'Connection' premieres Fantasy Fashion Show

AIRING FASHIONS during 'The Connection's' Premiere Fantasy Fashion Show held Saturday, June 27 are (L to R): Emmalene Garrett, John Caldwell, Elaine Dilver, Pam Williams and Karen Alexander. Nearly 200 guests attended the 'Connection's' premier disco fashion show held June 27 at St. Francis Xavier Hall were awed as models ran through a fashion fantasy entitled "A Rainbow of Color." A "Fantasy Island" script coupled with slides and music provided a new multi-media approach to fashion.

Models enacted the "Fantasy Island" script through pantomime and dance airing fashions from casual to after 5 in rainbow colors and many styles. Unlike most fashion shows, there were no commentating; the "Fantasy Island" script was read radio style by Emmalene Garrett and Dale Madison.

Original fashions were designed and made by Donnell Cunningham, James Garrett, Dale Madison and Pam Williams.

This dramatic display of fahion was cleverly carried off by models Karen Alexander, Elaine Dilver, Emmalene Garrett, Venus Robonson, Pam Williams, John Caldwell, Tony Lee the "Magic Man", Dale Madison and Michael Murray.

The slide presentation which provided a backdrop for each scene and poses of Connection models was artfully composed by group photographer, Eugene Daniels. Wilton Madison II assisted with props, music and sound effects.

Music for the disco portion of the evening was provided by Mike's Disco Machine, a sound and light show run singlehandedly by Michale Squirrel, a Catonsville teacher.

The Connection founded this year is headed up by Emmalee Garrett, coordinator, James Garrett and Pam Williams, artistic directors.

The group's concept is to provide a multi-media approach to fashion utilizing the fine arts.

The Connection is available for fund raising for civic, charitable and social organizations. Interested parties may contact James Garrett at 944-6791 between the hours of 5 and 7 on week-days.

The group is called 'Connection' because of its varied activities — If they're involved in fashion its a 'Fashion Connection,' or in art, the 'Art Connection.'

Music was by the Harold Adams Combo, with songs from the Duke Ellington era being played throughout the evening as the honorees and their guests danced under the beautiful, revolving, flashing lights which reflected the "50's" decorating the hall.

The honorees led the dance to the tune of the "Anniversary Waltz."

A delectable dinner was served and expressions of love were extended the couple by Mrs. Olivia Sheppard, Louis Gibson and Randy Tilghman who also related his pleasant experiences with the couple.

Songs done in their honor were by Mrs. Thelma Benns who sang "All the Things You Are", Damito Jo, who did "Funny Valentine" and the couple's friends from the Spinx Club who did a few songs. A dance was done by Mary Brent and Ada Armstead and the program ended with everybody singing "For All We Know."

For her Golden Anniversary celebration Mrs. Hall wore a dress of yellow lace and crepe, trimmed in gold sequins, with matching gold shoes and bag. Her mother (who is 94 years old) wore lovely pink lace. Following the reception many guests went to the honoree's home, where the celebration continued into the wee hours.

Mrs. Hall's sister, was on hand (from Detroit, Mich.). So was her sister Mrs. Mary Parker, of Baltimore.

Reception hosts and hostesses were yellow rose corsages or yellow boutinerres.
