'Exotic Evening of Pleasure' hosted by Nefertitian Queens

The Royal Fashion Dynasty of the Nefertitian Queens and Princesses' 'Exotic Evening of Pleasure' held at Martin's Eudowood, Sunday, August 9, was not just an evening of pleasure — it was an experience.

First there were cocktails and dinner — both delicious — and then the entertainment began.

Emcee Artartus Jenkins, noted actor, of Washington, D.C., who also served as fashion commentator, gave a dramatic message of love, and had the guests join in by looking to the person on his or her left and saying, "I care about what happens to you."

This set the tone of warmth for an evening filled with entertainment — dancing, drama and fashions, all of which were heartily enjoyed by the nearly 200 attending guests.

Then came the Nefertitian Princess Dancers, a youthful group of girls, frocked in brilliantly colorful purple, red, blue, kelly green and white, trimmed with gilt and matching gilted top hats.

Agile, acrobatic and choreographed to precision by Rhonda Meadows, they opned the show with a high-spirited dance to the tune "I f My Friends Could See Me Now." Later in the evening they returned for an Arabian Nights costumed (replete with veils) 'Pyramid Dance.'

As a fashion introduction the models ran onstage en masse, clapped their hands and skimmed the runway for a bow — and the fashion segment was on.

First came the hairstyles, done by Jackie Brown and Vivian Owens — braided up and down, some interspersed with gold and silver lame — some sleek, some bouffant, others bushed, smoothed back or Geri-curled.

And what gorgeous clothes followed the hairstyles — suits, sports and casual wear and playclothes in bold rusts and bronzes, vibrant blues and reds in off-the-shoulder styles, knickered looks, many with mandarin collars or uniquely hooded.

Caftans and sheaths flowed in regal white, white-on-white, black, of black and white combinations, and many prints, stripes and designs.

Indian influenced pantsuits in intriqueing prints (many also sheathed) some with matching headpieces and feathers were also aired with flair.

Kimberly A. Brooks — 1981 'Miss Talented Teen International

TIFFANY TROPHY designed by the world-renowned Tiffany & Co., a crystal geometric form symbolizing the many facets of excellence the winner of "Talented Teens International" Contest represents is presented to Baltimore's own Kimberly Ann Brooks and 'Miss Talented Teen-Maryland' after she won the 'Miss Talented Teen International' crown at the International contest held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York, Saturday, August 8. Hal Jackson, who originated the pageant in 1970 is the beaming presenter.

QUEEN, RUNNERS-UP AND PAGEANT FOUNDER — The winner and runners-up of the Miss Talented Teens International Contest following the coronation, (L-R) are Miss Bahamas (Patrice V. D. Rogers), fourth runner-up; Miss Missouri (Kris A. Evans) third runner-up; Hal Jackson, pageant founder, 'Miss Talented Teens International'; (Kimberly Ann Brooks and 'Miss Talented Teen - Maryland') Miss Alabama (Thecla McCulloh), second runner-up and Miss New York (Debra J. Gilchrest), first runner-up.

"I'm so excited!" exclaimed Kimberly Ann Brooks, when I queried her on how she feels about having won the 'Miss Talented Teens International' Pageant, held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York, Saturday, August 8.

"When they (the announcers said 'Miss Maryland', (meaning she had garnered the crown) I couldn't believe it. My first thought was 'I won?' I still can't believe it."

Farewell for AFRO photographer

By Pattie Hodges
AFRO Women's Editor

A farewell party for Carl Mark Gail, (better known to us all as Mark) was hosted for him by his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Gail at their Winston Ave. home Saturday, August 8.

Mark, who has been an AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper photographer for the past two years, will be leaving these environs today for a job as photographer with the 'Paris News', a daily in Paris, Texas.

It was a happy party, with lots of good fodd and drink, lively party patter, laughter and music.

However, for those of us at the AFRO, and I am sure, for many throughout Charm City who have been caught at one time or another by Mark's camera, there is an underlying note of sadness.

One can only wish for Mark the very best of luck and happiness in his new venture, but o-oh, how sorely he will be missed.

He received many lovely gifts, cards and many good wishes, and the farewell gala, which began at 4 p.m. lasted well into the evening hours.

Among the man friends and relatives in attendance were Anita Sterrette, (a cousin), and Devereaux Sterrette, Baltimore; Dolores Bowjes, Baltimore; Carmelita Hackett, Woodlawn; Bill Hackett, Columbia, Md. (cousins);

Also Hilda Tomlinson, Baltimore, Bobby Lockley, Deborah Lockley (godsister), Earl and Natalie Bundey, Baltimore; David Gail (Mark's brother) and Louis Gail (his father); Geraldine Tindall (aunt),

'GOOD LUCK, MARK ON YOUR NEW JOB' reads the inscription on this decorative cake behind which Mark Gail (center) (former AFRO photographer) poses with his father, Louis Gail and his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Gail, at the farewell party hosted for Mark by his mother Saturday, August 8. Mark's new job is photographer for the Paris News, Paris, Texas, where he is headed today.
