SSA ad hoc groups form BAAC

By Marjorie R. Green

Early this spring two ad hoc groups representing Social Security employees in Baltimore and Arlington, Virginia joined together to form a Black Affairs Advisory Committee (BAAC).

The group acts independently from any labor or union organization. It is composed of employees from various SSA components and is open to supervisors, management officials and bargaining unit employees.

The official recognition by the Social Security Administration enables the 19 - member group to act as an advisory committee to the Office of Civil Rights and Equal Opportunity and to establish liaisons with other organizations and agencies which have similar purposes.

Prior to emerging as BAAC, each group was operating seperately without official recognition.

According to Joseph Blackwell, Minority Concerns Program Manager with the Social Security Administrations Office of Civil Rights and Equal Opportunity (OCREO), BAAC will provide a forum for discussing problems or issues which adversely affect black employees.

The group will also promote and stimulate the development, effectuation and monitoring of affirmative actions, career development and upward mobility programs for the betterment of black employees. BAAC will promote recruitment, training, advancement and job enrichment.

In addition to its Baltimore and Arlington members, BAAC looks forward to establishing local sub - groups and a network of similar SSA committees within the near future.

SSA employees interested in further information may contact BAAC chairperson, Herbert Roche, 235 - 9546 in the Office of Hearings and Appeals, Arlington, Virgina.

Other principal members are Hughetta Whittaker, Brenda Lindsay, Devarieste Curry, Hoyal Moseley, Jessie Allen, Mark Anderson, Barbara Wardlaw, Evelyn Bethel, Tommie Smith, Eva Everette and Ernest Baskerville;

Also William Johnson - Bey, Nellie Darden, Jerome Pratt, Charles Oaks, Alfreda Brooks, Margaret E. Wilson and Robert Johnson.

Mrs. Carolyn B. Johnson, Office of Hearings and Appeals was the recent recipient of the 1980 Equal Opportunity Award for Supervisors. Mrs. Johnson is Chief of Recruitment and Placement, OHA, Arlington, Va.

The Service Committee of the Women's Convention, auxiliary of the United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland will sponsor its 4th Annual Banquet at the La Fontaine Rouge, 7 p.m., Thursday, October 15, 1981.

Mrs. Ida Redd is coordinator. Mrs. Daisy Franklin and Mrs. Margaret DeShazo are chairpersons for this year's event. Mrs. Bessie Mason is the Women's Convention president.

Mid-Atlantic District B & P Women Meet

By Fannie L. Ross

The National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc. Mid - Atlantic District meeting was held Saturday, September 19 at the Wedding Salon in Mt. Rainier, Maryland.

The session opened with the singing of one of my favorite songs, "Lead Me" directed by Julia Boyer. Janet Harris, Chaplain, gave the meditation.

Our lovely District Governor, Mrs. E. Josephine Lowery welcomed the group. Mrs. Delores Thornton, District Secretary, a Baltimore member called the roll.

It was stated that this group was one of the largest to attend a district meeting. There were seventy - five members expected, but one hundred and forty lovely ladies registered along with some of the youth group.

Mrs. Sadie Nixon, youth leader, gave a nice report from the Youth Department. There were several other reports given, but the highlights, in my opinion, came when Mrs. Shirley A. Hampton, vice Governor outlined her District programs for 81 - 82.

Each club in the Mid Atlantic District is to start working immediately on implementation of the program.

Mentors who own their own businesses will invite one child, black female, age 9 - 18 for a nine month period to visit their work area 1-2 times per week.

During the visits, (1) the young lady may be given the task to perform, according to special layouts of the business, (example answering a business phone correctly, collating of material for simple filing procedures); (2) they may be coached regarding type of schools or training required for the particular profession held by the mentor to include talks with parents and school counselors; (3) in proper grooming and appropriate dress; (4) in proper conduct; (5) constant encouragement and other information that the mentor feels is important may be given them

This program is designed to motivate and spark interest in the young subject and to direct them toward obtaining the goals that the mentors help them to set.

Mrs. Hampton further stated that "In the absence of federally funded programs designed to direct and train the minority youth, this program is offered for your consideration." The program was voted on and passed to accept the program.

We, as mentors should — motivate, stimulate, inform, and activate — encouragement toward reachable goals, give true and active meaning to the term "Role Model" — Have the sanction of parents and school, and community officials.

The B&P Women's Clubs were encouraged to celebrate the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, January 1, 1863 by sponsoring a program of any kind, Gospel prayer breakfast or other religious observances, but not to exceed February 28.

Our own Baltimore's Rosalie J. McGuire, former national president, presently District Coordinator gave information on the National Convention.

It was mighty nice to see old friends at the conference such as Edna D. Johnson and Nell Sheridan all from the Baltimore chapter, in addition to Delores Thornton, Rosalie J. McGuire and others.

Our Columbia Club President, newly elected, Ethel Hill, was present along with Roberta Briscoe, yours truly and Delores Richmond whose business catered the delicious meal — The Richmond Caterers, Wedding Salon.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

It isn't the common man at all who is important,

It's the uncommon man.

Social 5 Dinner Dance

The Social 5 held their annual Dinner Dance recently at Martin's West. It was a formal affair with the music furnished by 'Habit.'

The club members' matching gowns and coats were designed and made by Jacqueline's Custom Designers, 1800 block North Ave.

The club presented two awards— one to Randall Agree for service rendered the club and the other to "Big Jim," the club's d.j. and spokesman, who was unable to attend.

Among the special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Randall Agree, J. C. Greene of Evening Magazine, Mr. and Mrs. E. Johnson, of the Balck State Troopers, Mrs. Edna Hawkins and Mrs. Ernestine Smith (hostesses);

Also Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Waters, Cambridge, Md. Literary Book Club meets

On the eve of National Black Newspaper Day (Sept. 17) the Winters Solstice Literary Book Club of Bar Circle held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. Sissy Bryant.

In addtendance were members Mrs. Carolyn Brown, Mrs. Carol Roness and Mrs. Alicia Perry, who are residents of Barc Circle.

Following a display of antique book markers, the members at the meeting discussed 'Print Materials other than Books and Novels.' This discussion was centered around gift catalogs from around the country from such places as the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

This years' feature will be the work of American author James Baldwin.

Presentations and discussions are to be held at the group's November meeting.

Life insurance can protect your family from things you can't always see.

There's more to being a good provider than just caring for your family's day-to-day needs.

You also have to look ahead to the future. And plan for the worst as well as the best.

A life insurance policy from North Carolina Mutual can help you do that.

It can provide cash for emergencies, an income for your family if you should die, or money for your own retirement.

One policy can do it all. And one phone call can get you started. Call your agent from North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Even though you can't see the future, it's clear how you can plan for it.
