
FRIDAY FOES — Quarterbacks Homer Jordan (right) of Clemson, and Mark Mauer of Nebraska, pose for photographers while awaiting New Year's Day when they will lead their teams in battle in the Orange Bowl. They won't be smiling then.

3,000 youngsters to vie in National Guard meet

More than 3,000 youngsters will compete in the Maryland National Guard's 20th annual scholastic track meet Saturday, Jan. 16 at Baltimore's Fifth Regiment Armory, beginning at 10 a.m. and lasting throughout the day.

Boys and girls representing high schools in each of Maryland's 23 counties will participate in what is considered the largest indoor track meet in the area.

Last year, 78 public and private high schools competed in the event. Oxon Hill High School in Prince George's County won the men's team championship. The girls from Central High School, also in Prince George's, captured the women's team championship in 1981.

This meet is a qualification event for the Eastern Indoor Meet held in Madison Square Garden in New York City. Dave Patrick, then a student at Kenwood High School and later a standout at Villanova University in Philadelphia, Pa., once ran in the meet.

Winners receive trophies presented in the name of the Maryland National Guard's major commands, and some deceased officers who organized the scholastic games.

For more information, individuals may call either Colonel (retired) Bernard Feingold at 728-3388 (extension 281) or Jack Nicholas, physical education specialist in the Baltimore County schools, at 494-4014.

Super Bowl semi-finals draw top 8 NFL teams

By Frank Lee

In a quest for Super Bowl XVI at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich. on Sunday, Jan. 24 eight teams will compete in conference semi-finals this weekend in the National Football League.

A loss, signifying no second chance, means that the squads, the survivors of the 10 playoff entrants, will take nothing for granted from this point on. The weekend's competitors know the bitter end after seeing the elimination of the New York Jets, 31-27, by the Buffalo Bills in the AFC and the dismissal of the Philadelphia Eagles, 27-21, by the New York Giants in the NFC last Sunday in Wild Card games.

The Eagles defeat leaves neither of last season's Super Bowl participants because the defending champs, Oakland Raiders, failed to qualify for this season's playoffs with a dismal 7-9 record and a fourth place finish in the AFC West Division.

In the first semi on Saturday at 12:30 p.m. on CBS (WDVM-TV-9) the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (9-7) visit the Dallas Cowboys (12-4) in an NFC encounter.

Featuring Quarterback Doug Williams, who can throw the bomb, the Bucs and a tenacious defense seem intent on overcoming the Texas jinx that has discouraged outside agitators.

Coach Tom Landry will turn loose the entire arsenal without strings as Quarterback Danny White, running backs Tony Dorsett and Ron Springs, and wide receivers Drew Pearson, Tony Hill, and Butch Johnson stand "ready and willing."

And, along comes Jones . . . Ed "Too Tall," that is . . . with his special group of intimidators such as Randy White, Harvey Martin, and John Dutton to enforce the Dallas rules of play.

Bucs will take it by four points.

Later on Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on NBC (WRC-TV-4) The San Diego Chargers will be in Miami against the Dolphins (11-4-1) in an AFC contest.

The usually reliable Miami defense will be up against a whirlwind when Chargers' Quarterback Dan Fouts begins to fill the air with passes to his favorite receivers, tight end Kellen Winslow, and wide receivers Wes Chandler and Charlie Joiner.

Founts finished the regular campaign with 33 touchdown aerials as Winslow led the conference in receptions for the second straight year with 88 and Joiner ended fifth with 70 grabs.

Miami is a real crazy sort of team with many unfamiliar names but has a consistent record under one of the top coaches in the NFL in Don Shula. But, this time things could be cut and dried. The Chargers by 11.

Sunday brings two more games with the AFC playing the earlier contest as the Wild Card winners return to action after their qualifying victories in rainy, cold weather.

Coach Chuck Knox takes his Bills (11-6) to clash with the Cincinnati Bengals (12-4) in River Front Stadium at 12:30 p.m. on NBC (WRC-TV-4).

Wide receiver (all-pro) Frank Lewis caught two aerials for touchdowns and runningback Joe Cribbs raced 52 yards with a handoff to down the error prone Jets who were breathing down their necks at the finish.

The Bills had a very good week as they converted the Jets mistakes, but they will be facing a team that can score consistently and quickly and play with dogged determination.

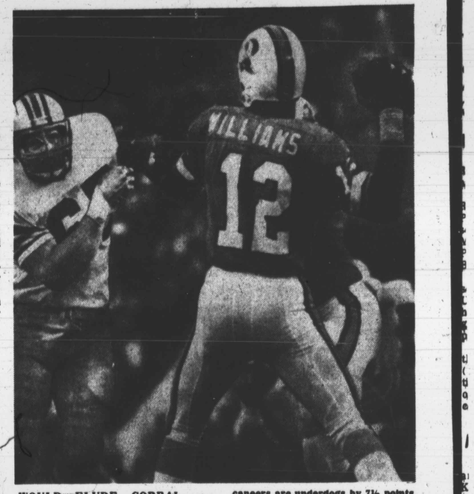
Coach Forrest Gregg's Bengals should master the New York Staters offense and overpower their defense in a tightly contested encounter that has the Ohio squad finishing on top by eight.

And, for the weekend's finale the Giants (10-7) will be in San Francisco against the 49ers (13-3) at 4:30 p.m. on CBS (WDVM-TV-9) in an attempt to reach the NFC final next weekend and atone for a 17-10 loss five weeks ago.

Against the Eagles last weekend the Giants took advantage of key mistakes by the losers and got outstanding performances from Quarterback Scott Bruner who threw three touchdown passes and Rob Carpenter who rushed for 161 yards in 33 carries.

Their defense was also outstanding as it has been for most of the year with linebackers Harry Carson and rookie Lawrence Taylor along with linemen George Martin and Gary Jeter who limited the Eagles to 226 yards offense and forced numerous timely turnovers.

But, they will be facing a team, supposedly, void of a running attack that has the NFC's leading passer, Quarterback Joe Montana, who has been acting most of the season like he's already wearing the Super Bowl ring.



WOULD ELUDE CORRAL — Quarterback Doug Williams leads Tampa Bay against Dallas Sunday hopeful of avoiding the Cowboys' corral where many rivals have been penned up. Williams and the Buccaneers are underdogs by 7½ points, a discouraging thought playing on Dallas ground. But, despite a young, inexperienced offensive line the 4-year pro from Grambling completed 226 of 471 passes for 3,563 yards this season.

The road to silver was too late

Here are the routes which lead to the NFL Super Bowl, scheduled Jan. 24 at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich.

In the National Football Conference, the Giants have already eliminated the Philadelphia Eagles. They meet the Forty - niners Sunday at San Francisco.

The winner of that game advances to the conference final against the winner of Saturday's Tampa Bay Buccaneers - Cowboys contest at Dallas.

In the American Football Conference, Sunday's victor Buffalo (over the New York Jets) journeys to Cincinnati for a semi - final clash with the Bengals.

That Bills versus Bengals survivor then is matched against the San Diego Chargers - Dolphins winner of Saturday's affair at Miami.

Both conference finals will be played Jan. 10, two weeks before the battle for NFL gold at the Silverdome.

How they rate

Oddsmakers make the Miami Dolphins 3 - point favorites over the San Diego Chargers in the AFC divisional playoff this weekend, and the Dallas Cowboys 7½ points over Tampa Bay in the NFC.

In college bowl games, Iowa is favored by 2½ over Washington at Pasadena, Alabama is held one - point favorite over Texas at Dallas, Nebraska holds a 4 - point edge over Clemson at Miami, and in New Orleans, Georgia and Pittsburgh are an even pick.

6 days early was too late

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco 49er fans who went to Candlestick Park to buy NFC playoff tickets Monday arrived in time to find they were too late.

Diehard fans started lining up as early as 6 p.m. Christmas Day — before it was known whether the 49ers even would be in the playoffs against the New York Giants. And by Monday morning, 20,000 fans in 5,000 vehicles ringed the stadium.

There were 13,000 tickets for sale, and each buyer could purchase a maximum of four tickets.

Richard Burrington and Linda Deacon, an MGM Grand Hotel waiter and dancer, drove 220 miles from Reno and arrived at 5:30 A.M. Monday. They were too late.

Perhaps the happiest fan was 16 - year - old Tony Chapot, San Francisco, who arrived 63 hours before the ticket office opened to be first in line.

"We've had people offer us money for our place in line," he said. "Over $100."

Bison is MEAC player of week

DURHAM, NC — James Ratiff of Howard University has been named the Mid - Eastern Athletic Conference's Player of the Week, for games played between December 14 - 20.

In last Wednesday's 84 - 68 conference win over Delaware State, the 6 - 9 senior forward hit nine of 12 field goals, and nine of 11 free throws for 27 points. He also added six rebounds.

In a tough 70 - 66 non - conference loss to Towson State, the Washington, DC native scored a career high 32 points, hitting a hot 70 percent from the field. The two - year All - MEAC performer also grabbed eight rebounds in the contest.

With the great week behind him, Ratiff took over the MEAC scoring leadership with a 20.3 average, and is fourth in rebounding at 8.8 per game.

Bethune tops MEAC women

With play halted for the Yule break until Monday when Florida A and M hosts Eastern Kentucky, Mid - Eastern Athletic Conference women's basketball teams are led by undefeated Bethune - Cookman.

FAMU and Howard are close behind, each with a heavier schedule.

The standings:

Bethune	3	0	1.000
Florida A&M	7	1	.875
Howard	6	2	.750
SC State	3	2	.600
A&T State	4	5	.444
Delaware St.	3	8	.273
Maryland - E.S.	1	4	.200

They all look alike

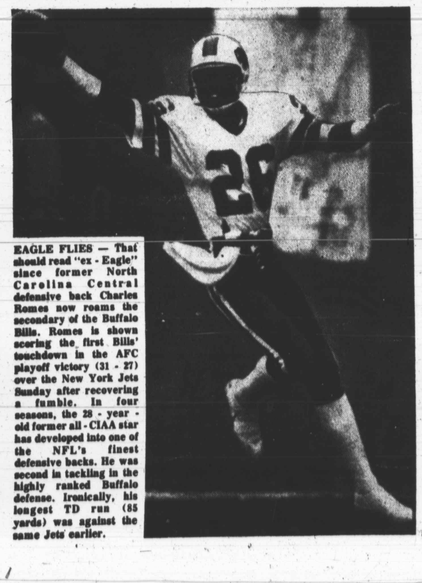
The old, worn - out cliche fits:

"They all look alike in the latest scoring standings of the National Basketball Association. Almost all, that is.

George Gervin of San Antonio, leads with a 31 - point per game average. Utah's Adrian Dantley is second at 29.7 points, and Houston center Moses Malone follows with a 27.8 average.

Filling out the top ten in order are Alex English, Julius Ewing, Kareem Abdul - Jabbar, Mark Aquirre, Lloyd "World" Free, Larry Bird and Bernard King.

Of the 10, only Bird is white. And of him, Elgin Baylor once said: "He's plays like a black guy."



EAGLE FLIES — That should read "ex - Eagle" since former North Carolina Central defensive back Charles Romes now roams the secondary of the Buffalo Bills. Romes is shown scoring the first Bills' touchdown in the AFC playoff victory (31 - 27) over the New York Jets Sunday after recovering a fumble. In four seasons, the 28 - year - old former all - CIAA star has developed into one of the NFL's finest defensive backs. He was second in tackling in the highly ranked Buffalo defense. Ironically, his longest TD run (85 yards) was against the same Jets earlier.

Money for Mike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Promoter Don King said Friday he is offering Mike Weaver $1 million to defend his World Boxing Association heavyweight title against either Renaldo Snipes or Jimmy Young.

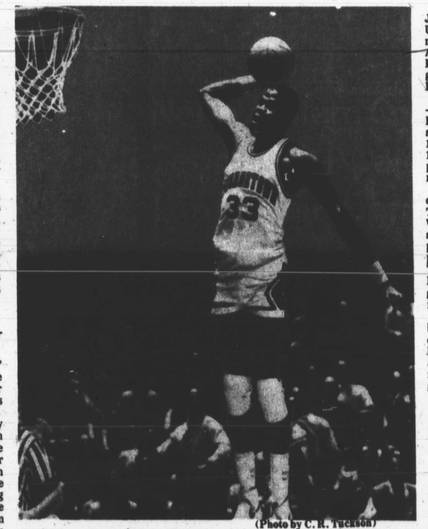
King made the offer in a telegram to Weaver's manager, Don Manuel, in Los Angeles.

Weaver made only one defense of his title in 1981, taking a lackluster 15 - round unanimous decision against James "Quick" Tillis.

Carole on the car

Woman "roaster" Carole Johnson at the podium of recent dinner honoring Morgan State's Earl Banks:

"Coach Banks recently bought a new car, which should make everyone happy. Its predecessor was so old the two men who tried to steal it were caught by police pushing it up the street . . . The metal on it was so thin that the day a pigeon flew over it cost Earl $75 to get the dent out."



HOYAS' PATRICK EWING dominated play in both halves of play during Georgetown University's 64 - 45 win over Western Kentucky.

LAMBSON - A Holiday Tribute to the memory of our dear son and brother, LARRY LAMBSON who passed away March 3, 1981: Oh Larry, how we miss you.
We have clung to memories all this while,
For they are linked to memories Of a much more Blessed Child.
From a lovely manger Christ the Savior came,
Like you, it seemed, He also lived And died in vain.
We know you are still with us,
For God has you in his care,
And the Bible surely tells us,
God is everywhere.
So Larry dear, watch over us
From heaven way up high
For we know our family circle,
Will be unbroken bye and bye.
