Urban Services Agency honors 300 volunteers

OUTSTANDING VOLUNTEERS honored during the Urban Services' Awards Night for Volunteers held at Dunbar High School Thursday, Jan. 28. AFRO Photos by Roman Hankewycz

THE MAYOR'S CITATION is presented to Dr. Lenwood M. Ivey (L), executive director, Urban Services, by Dr. Hilbert Stanley, of the Mayor's Office of Human Development.

By Pattie Hedges
AFRO Women's Editor

On Thursday, Jan. 28 the Urban Services Agency saluted its volunteers at the Dunbar Community High School.

Master of Ceremonies for the occasion was Samuel T. Daniels. The invocation was given by the Rev. Edna Isaacs and the welcome by Ms. Lenora Johnson.

Greetings from the mayor's office were extended by Dr. Hilbert Stanley of the Mayor's Office of Human Development.

The occasion was done by William Davis, and introduction of the guest speaker the Honorable Mary Pat Clark, (Baltimore City Council) by emcee Sam Daniels.

Councilwoman Clarke addressed herself to the merits of volunteers and their service to Urban Services and to mankind in general. Her remarks were very well received.

Presentation of special award by Norman R. Ross to special honoree Mrs. Jennie M. Jenkins, former chief. Volunteer Services was received by Mrs. Elva J. Edwards, assistant director, Urban Services, who accepted for Mrs. Jenkins, who had been called out of town.

Awards for various services rendered by volunteers numbered 300. The awards included lovely plaques and certificates.

Following the presentation of awards by Dr. Lenwood M. Ivey, executive director, Urban Services and Mrs. Edwards, closing remarks of appreciation were made by Dr. Ivey and Mrs. Edwards and the closing done by Bishop Monroe Saunders.

Twilah Scarboro was in charge of public relations.

A reception in the school's auditorium foyer hosted for the honorees included fried chicken drummettes other delectables and punch.

WOULDN'T YOU RATHER BE IN JAMAICA? — Jackie and Jean, Air-Jamaica stewardesses, model Jamaica designs for the tropical island weather. The exciting fashion show was held last week at the International Hotel at Friendship, MD, when BWI announced the inauguration of direct flights by Air Jamaica from BWI to Kingston and Montego Bay, Jamaica.

AIR JAMAICA COMES TO BWI — (From L): Dewry Hughes of District of Columbia; William Rodgers, vice president of Marketing and Sales, Air Jamaica and Carroll H. Hynson Jr., director, Information and Trade Development at BWI discuss the coming direct flights by Air Jamaica from BWI to Kingston, Jamaica in early February.

Project Survival '82 to honor two citizens

Each year since 1968 the Urban Services Agency has worked to assist large numbers of Baltimore's student athletes in their preparation for successful academic and athletic careers in college.

Their greatest measure of success in this effort has come about through the Project Survival Basketball and Education Program.

Project Survival provides a mechanism for the development of athletic skills and an activity for the constructive use of leisure time for hundreds of high school students.

This activity is organized to include tutorial assistance, career guidance, scholarship assistance and preparation for the S.A.T. and college entrance examinations.

Last year 700 boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 18 participated on 70 teams. Even though Project Survival is a program of the Urban Services Agency, there are no public funds with which to provide these important services.

One of the ways they plan to finance their 1982 program is through a tribute to two of Baltimore's outstanding sports and civic personalities, Jim Parker of the Baltimore Colts and Allen "Dickie" Burke of the Baltimore City Police Department's Community Relations Division.

This event will take place at Martin's West Caterers on Wednesday, April 14.

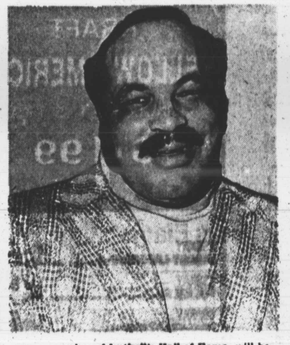
The Concerned Citizens Committee is aware of the public's concern and commitment to the young people of our city. They feel that your involvement would add greatly to the success of this fund raising effort as it has in the past. The Committee's goals for this year's fundraiser are: To raise a gross figure of $55,000 from the affair at Martin's West; to sell the following number of reserved tables in advance:

100 tablesat $350
50 tables at 200
100 tables at $350 and 50 tables at $200, totalling $45,000;

To raise the following sum: Scholarship Fund...5,000 and Miscellaneous Contributions...5,000," totalling 10,000;

To use proceeds to sponsor the following Project Survival Programs: College Preparatory Program, Basketball Sugar Cain Clinic and Tutorial Program, Project Survival Summer Basketball League, Charm City Basketball Classic and Sam Lacy Scholarship Fund.

The Committee is looking forward to the ususal tremendous public support for this year's "Evening With" testimonial. Watch for news each week in the Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN Newspaper.



PROJECT SURVIVAL HONOREES — Allen "Dickie" Burke, (L), of the Baltimore City Police Department's Community Relations Division, and Jim Parker, the ex-Baltimore Colt lineman and now a member of football's Hall of Fame, will be honored at the 1982 Project Survival fundraiser to be held at Martin's West, Wednesday, April 14.
