COLUMBIA CAPERS

AKA's host scholarship fundraiser

By Frannie L. Ross

The Iota Lambda Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. of Columbia, Maryland, presents its annual scholarship fundraiser at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Baltimore, Maryland, at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 25, 1982.

The luncheon fashion show, to be attended by 600-700 guests, is the sorority's primary method for providing scholarships to deserving Howard County students.

Fashions will be shown by the outstanding Travis Winkey models of Baltimore, Maryland.

Travis Winkey models have modeled in Paris, Rome, Milan, throughout the United States and all over the Baltimore metropolitan area.

In 1972 Travis opened his own booking and modeling agency and in 1980 began designing his unique brand of fashions for men and women.

The Travis Winkey studio was the first in this area to produce a model of the year contest, the first Black studio to bring an international fashion show to Baltimore and the first studio to publish its own magazine.

Travis and Comapny have been featured on many local television shows including Evening Magazine.

For further information, please contact Rosalind W. Johnson at 730-1467.

Bowie Choir in concert

The Howard County section of Negro Women, Inc. will present their second annual Fashion Show Luncheon, Saturday, May 1, at the New Hilton Inn, Twin Knolls Business Park, Columbia, Maryland. Luncheon at 12 Noon followed by a Fashion Show.

The late Mary McLeod Bethuné, a woman with vision, recognized the needs of women, men and children and then proceeded to organize the NCNW in 1935.

The NCNW is an organization of affiliate organization. Because it's community oriented anyone is eligible to become a member.

Today there are a number of male individuals and groups that hold lifetime affiliate membership. For this we are extremely proud.

The primary function of this Fashion Show is an occasion to bring Howard County Black Organizations together. It certainly is an opportunity to fellowship with one another.

According to Mrs. Vicky Manning, program chairperson the council has secured thus far 50 models including males from various fraternities and organizations.

Among the male models are NAACP President Silas Craft and Dr. Vernon Gray, Political Science Professor, Morgan State University.

In addition to the model's own garments, some models will be using Designer clothes and clothes from various boutiques.

Mrs. Vera H. Hayes is president of the Columbia section. Fashion Show Committee members are: Vicky Manning, program chairperson; Alice Frazier and Gerri Davis Johnson.

NCNW luncheon

The Atholton Parish, consisting of Asbury, Hopkins and Locust United Methodist Churches in Howard County will present the Bowie State College Gospel Choir in concert, Saturday, May 1, at 7. p.m. at the D asher Gree-Owen Brown School located at 6700 Cradlerock Way in Columbia on the (East side).

The 105 voice choir is under the direction of Professor Lee Smith.

Jesses K. Smith is the very fine chairperson. He is principal of Wilde Lake Middle School.

Miss Black America double pageant

Addison Enterprises, promoters of the 'Miss Black America - Baltimore, Md.' Pageant, has announced through their director, Dolores Addison, the acquisition of the 'Miss Black America - Washington D.C.' franchise.

This year's Pageant will be held Sunday, May 16 at Walbrook Senior High School and will crown two queens.—'Miss Black America-Baltimore Md.' and 'Miss Black America — Washington, D.C.'

This will be the first time in the Baltimore area that the public will be able to see a major pageant that will pick queens from two different cities.

Presently, operations in both cities are in full swing. Ms. Toney Taylor, of Washington, D.C., is coordinating the publicity and operations for the Washington contestants, along with Addison Enterprises.

All young ladies will be vying for top prizes and the titles of 'Miss Black America—Baltimore, Md' and Miss Black America—Washington D.C.

Dolores Addison
Pageant director

Any local young ladies between the ages of 18 and 25 who are high school graduates with a talent should contact:

—ANTLER GUARD

Special highlights included a welcome from a representative of the mayor's office to the generals from various states, with Grand Commanding General Edgar C. Carvest Jr., of Macon, Ga. presiding.

He received a citation from the mayor.

Receiving cuff links and an ashtray from the mayor's office was Major Gen. Edward C. Wooden, of Baltimore, (the host general).

During the various sessions the generals decided policy for the military department in different states. Also on Friday evening the A. G. Medical Corps (comprised of nurses and doctors) had a meeting with the assemblage, which featured interesting health demonstrations, and talks on fall - out shelters in the home.

A special guest at the sessions and the Antler Guard parade Saturday, April 3 was Honorable Hobson R. Reynolds, Grand Exalted Ruler, Commander in Chief of IBPOEW, Antler Guard.

He spoke at the session and at Saturday's meeting, appointed the Grand Major Gen. Edward C. Wooden the rank of Lt. General. Commander Reynolds is the senior general and the only marching general.

The magnificent Antler Guard Parade began at 11 a.m. Saturday April 3, and traveled the route from the Fifth Regiment Armory down Howard St. to the viewing stand at Redwood and Howard Sts., with many dignitaries on hand to watch it. Marching bands were units from all of the states and from as far as Canada.

Highlighting the parade were the Knights of St. John, a Catholic Order in the Balimore area.

On Saturday evening the big event was the Antler Guard Ball held at the Holiday Inn, with a capacity crowd gathering for it in the main ballroom. There was music for dancing provided by The Silks, a local musical group. The ball lasted from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Representatives were on hand from all 50 states for this encampment, which was held for the first time in Baltimore since 1948.

Among them, including the host General of Md. Edward C. Wooden, were Lt. Gen. John S. Beverly, Pacific States Division, of California and Las Vegas, Nev.; Lt. Gen. Floyd S. Petty, Commander Western Division, Colorado; Lt. Gen. A. Lincoln Clark, Eastern Division, Providence, R.I. and Gen. Marcus Freeman, commander Southern Division.

The encampment, a glorious success, adjourned Sunday. April 4.

General chairperson of the Encampment weekend was Col. Clinton Blackwell. General Co - Chair was Lt. Col. Laura M. Wilson.

WOODLAWN HIGHLIGHTS

John Stanley selected for SSA Management Program

By Marjorie R. Greene

John Stanley, a computer equipment analyst with the Social Security Administration is one of six GS-13 employees selected to participate in the new Management Development program.

Upon completion of the two-year full-time program John who has been with the Administration 18 years, will advance to a GS-14 position.

"The programs, said John, offers many opportunities and I want to branch out into different areas of work." I would like an assignment in San Francisco he added, and if necessary I am prepared to relocate my family."

A native Baltimorea and graduate of Dunbar High School, John majored in political science at the University of Maryland.

Prior to his Federal employment, he served several years in the United States Marine Corps.

John currently serves on the Boards of Directors of the Greater Baltimore Chapter of Blacks In Government.

Last November, he solicited the aid of several other interested persons and formed a local chapter of the Black Data Processing Associates (BDPA).

The group has since grown to eighteen members and the officers are hoping to recruit members throughout the state of Maryland before their general meeting in May. The group's objective is to interest and assist Blacks in advancing to meaningful positions in Data Processing.

During the past eighteen years, John has traveled extensively for the Social Security Administration. In the mid seventies, he was in the Administration's Staff Development Program. It was a program that also helped to enhance his career, most of which has been in the area of Data Processing.

A family man, John is married to the former Marie Jewett. They are the parents of three children; Leslie, age 12; Bryan, age 9 and Justin, age 3.

Bryan plays on the neighborhood Little League team coached by his father who is an avid basketball and softball fan.

In addition to his involvement with job related activities and sports John serves on the nominating committee of Baltimore County School Board and is active in the Charleswood Improvement Association.

The Women's Auxiliary to the United Baptist Missionary Convention of Maryland will meet 7 p.m. on Monday, April 19th at 1434 McCulloh Street. Mrs. Bessie H. Mason is president.

STATEMENT OF CONDITION
NORTH CAROLINA MUTUAL
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

North Carolina Mutual completed another successful year of operations in 1981. The year was a turbulent one for the nation's economy with drastic setbacks for the people and the markets we traditionally serve. Yet our company continued to make substantial gains in some key areas of our operations.

Included among these gains were the following:

INSURANCE IN FORCE reached $6.58 billion, a $1.094 billion increase.

ASSETS reached $198.7 million, a $7.8 million increase.

NET INVESTMENT INCOME increased $1.4 million, to $12 million.

TOTAL INCOME reached $78.8 million, a $5.7 million increase.

Our insurance subsidiaries also experienced a notable year of growth while the results of our mass marketing operations exceeded our expectations. We have improved our market position and increased revenues at our radio stations and expect to realize a profit from their operations earlier than our initial projections indicated.

The strong suit of North Carolina Mutual has always been people. The continued dedication of our employees and support of our policyowners will help ensure a strong, secure future for our company in the years ahead.

President
