Area obituaries

Mrs. Carrie A. Bagley

Funeral services for Mrs. Carrie A. Bagley were held April 13 at Sharon Baptist Church. Stricker and Pressiman Streets.

Mrs. Bagley died April 9 in Hempstead, New York. She was born Jan. 1, 1898 and was the daughter of Robert H. Gregory and Mark Stokes Gregory.

She attended schools in Lunnenburg County, Va., and was baptized at Springfield Baptist Church.

She moved to Baltimore in 1941 and joined Sharon Baptist Church. Mrs. Bagley was a member of the Deaconess Board and an active member of the Missionary Society, Harmony Circle and the Birthday Circle.

Relatives said she was an active supporter of the Sunday School and Baptist Training Union and church choirs. She was honored by members of the Sharon Family as mother of the year in 1953.

Mrs. Bagley also received an award from the National Ideal Benefit Society and was an active employee with the Bureau of Home Services.

She is survived by four sons, Gregory, Garrett A. Charles A. and Robert S. Bagley; nine grandchildren.

Dr. Charles Stallings

Dr. Charles W. Stallings, 65, a former professor of art at Morgan State University died April 12 at Provident Hospital.

Funeral services were held April 15 at Morgan Christian Center. The Rev. R. Douglas Force presided.

A native of Springfield, Ma., Dr. Stallings was appointed to the Morgan staff in 1964. He left the university in 1968. He received his degree from Lincoln University and his master's degree from the University of Iowa and a degree from Pennsylvania State University.

He is survived by his wife Lucille Brown Stallings, two sons, Franklin and Charles W. Stallings Jr., and one sister, Girthola Porter of Kansas City.

Paul D. Coombs

Funeral services for Paul D. Coombs Sr., were held April 11 at Leroy O. Dyett and Son Funeral Home.

Mr. Coombs was born Aug. 23, 1940 in Harford, Kentucky and was the son of James Coombs and Mildred Martin. He lived in the 900 block of Milford Mill Rd., Mr. Coombs died April 4 at New Comb Hospital in Vineland, New Jersey.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jasmine M. Coombs; mother, Mrs. Mildred Martin of Farrell, Pa., one brother, James Coombs of New London Ohio; one son, Paul D. Coombs Jr.; three daughters, Wanda, Natasha and Shannon Combs; two stepdaughters, Jacqueline D. and Valerie Coleman; one stepson, Roy O'Neal Coleman Jr.

Mrs. Louise Wedington

Funeral services for Mrs. Louise Wedington were Tuesday April 13, at William C. March Funeral Home. Burial was at Wilson Chapel Cemetery in Lawrenceville, Va.

Mrs. Wedington was born Oct. 13, 1906 in Lawrenceville. She was the daughter of Susie and William R. Grandison. She died April 10.

She joined Wilson Chapel Baptist Church at age 12 and was married in the same church, to Isaiah Wedington in 1925. The couple had eight children.

Mrs. Wedington is survived by four daughters Susie McNeil, Reatha Yancey, Maggie Moyer and Thelma Taylor; four sons, Bennie F., John L., Samuel L. and Isaiah G. Wedington; a brother, Willie Parham, a sister, Virginia Jarrett; 18 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Regina Collins

Funeral services for Mrs. Regina Mae Collins were held April 10 at William C. March Funeral Home.

Mrs. Collins was born Dec. 4, 1921 and was the daughter of Helen and Thomas Collins.

She is survived by two sisters, Lucille Claibourne and Ida Jackson; four brothers, Theodore, Thomas, Jerome and Gordon Collins;.

NUTTER Funeral Home

3035-37 W. NORTH AVE.
WL 7-6655
WL 7-7618

"A SERVICE WHICH INSURES CONFIDENCE"

AT A PRICE YOU CAN AFFORD NOT CONNECTED WITH ANY OTHER FUNERAL HOME

ST. JAMES' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Lafayette Square, Baltimore, Maryland

The Reverend Donald O. Wilson, Rector
Dr. Robert T. Ford, Deacon
Maurice Murphy, organist—Choirmaster

8:00 A.M.—Holy Communion
9:00 A.M. Church School
11:00 A.M.—Choral Eucharist Sermon

The Public is Cordially Invited To Attend

DOUGLAS MEMORIAL COMMUNITY CHURCH
"The People of the Way"
Lafayette and Madison Aves
Dr. Marion Curtis Bascom, Minister
James S. Hammond, M. Mus. Juanita Hall Davis Organist

SUNDAY, April 18, 1982
Eight and Eleven O'Clock
"The 'Meeting' in the Path"
Marion Curtis Bascom preaching

8:00— O Come, Ye Servants of the Lord —C. Tye
— Somebody's Knocking —R. N. Dett
11:00— Hallelujah (Mount of Olives) —L. V. Beethoven
— Don't You Weep No More, Mary —R. N. Dett

Hopkins to present 33rd annual conference

"To the patient, every illness is a crisis, whether it's an amputation or the flu. But ministers don't always feel comfortable in the sickroom, especially when they are unfamiliar with the patient's particular disease or problem," sais the Rev. Clyde Shallenberger, director of the Johns Hopkins Hospital's Chaplaincy Service.

To help clerics cope with their caring and counseling tasks, Hopkins will present the 33rd annual institute on the ministry to the sick, April 26-28 in Turner Auditorium, 720 Rutland Ave.

400 clergy from throughout the country registered for this unique professional growth experience within two weeks of its announcement, with up to 200 would be registrants being turned away.

Among this year's topics: senility, seizures, stroke, sexual dysfunction, rape and public health issues.

The opening session features Dr. Paul Pruyser, director of education at the Menninger Foundation and author of The Minister As Diagnostician. He is particularly concerned about what makes pastoral work distinct from other modes of helping people in trouble.

The discussion of Alzheimer's disease, a form of senility afflicting 1.5 million Americans, will be led by Marshal Folstein, MD, director of the Hopkins Dementia Research Clinic and Carl W. Folkemer, pastor, Christ Lutheran Church.

Dr. Folstein will outline current research findings on the disease and suggest ways clergy can help families of such patients cope with and prevent stress. Rev. Folkemer will share his experience with Alzheimer's disease in his own family.

Two staff members of the Hopkins Sexual Behaviors Consultation unit, Mary Jane Lucas, RN, assistant director and Chester W. Schmidt, Jr., MD associate director, will discuss sexual dysfunction. Dr. Schmidt is also chief of psychiatry at Baltimore City Hospitals.

Susan E. Folstein, MD, co-director of the Hopkins Huntington's Disease Project, will discuss the family tensions created by that inherited disease.

Rehabilitation of the stroke patient is the topic of Neil Ann Kirby, RN, MS and Marcia L. Rosemab, MS, speech language therapist, while John M. Freeman, director of the Hopkins Epilepsy Center will discuss seizure disorders.

A special presentation, "From China to Hospitals to the Hollywood Dump" features four school of hygiene and public health faculty members: Alan M. Goldberg, a member of the Hazardous Waste Site Study group which produced a plan to assess potential human health effects near a toxic waste dump in Memphis, Tenn.

Susan D. Horn, an expert on the problem of controlling hospital costs and Carl E. Taylor, chairman of the Department of International Health, who is setting up an exchange health research program with the People's Republic of China. Donald A. Henderson, dean of the School of Hygiene and Public Health will serve as moderator of the panel.

Elizabeth H. Bland, president of the board of directors, Baltimore [illegible] for Victims [illegible] Assault, will speak on "Counseling the Victim of Rape", a subject of increasing concern to many clergy, as more women seek help in the aftermath of rape, rather than hiding their feelings in shame.

Sponsored by the Office of the Chaplains of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, the annual conference was originated by Eight Baltimore clergy who asked the Hospital to assist them in developing better skills for serving parishioners involved in family health crises.

Church Notes

Mrs. Daisy Harvin

Funeral services for Mrs. Daisy Harvin were held April 9 at William C. March Funeral Home. Mrs. Harvin died April 5. She was the daughter of Mrs. Harvin died April 5. She was the daughter of Kennedy and Vicy Wilder Felder. Mrs. Harvin was born April 13, 1881 in Manning, S.C.

She was a member of Mount Zion AME Church. She was a member of the Missionary Society, Sunday School, Senior Choir, a class leader and queen of the South Chapter No. 31, Order of the Eastern Star.

She moved to Baltimore in 1975 and lived with her daughter. Shis survived by three children, Mrs. Daisy Dingle, Samuel Dukes and Leroy Dukes of Miami Florida; one brother, Sampson Felder of N. C.; eight grandchildren 20 great grandchildren; two great great grandchildren.

Mrs. Della Glasgow

Funeral services for Mrs. Della Glasgow were held April 13 at New Metropolitan Baptist Church.

Mrs. Glasgow was born March 18, 1900 in Lunenburg County, Va., and was the daughter of George and Nannie Edmonds.

She died April 7. Relatives said, "She was like a beacon of light to all who knew her." She is survived by three daughters, one brother, one sister, 16 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren, three great-great-grand-grandchildren.

Isaac Paog Sr.

Funeral services for Issac W. Poag were held April 13 at United House of Prayer for All People. Mr. Poag died April 8. He was born Nov. 14, 1911 in Chester, S. C. and was the son of Lewis and Phillis Poag. He had been a member of the House of Prayer in Charlotte, N. C. since 1923 and in 1935 became a member of the Baltimore United House of Prayer For All People.

He was a member of the Shout Band. For 41 years, he was employed at Bethlehem Steel Company. He is survived by his wife Bertha Poag; one son Issac Poag Jr., two daughters, Martha and Carolyn Poag; one stepdaughter, Barbara Smothers, a stepson, Leonard Street, two sisters.

Mrs. Elizabeth Newman

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth R. Newman were held April 10 at William C. March Funeral Home.

Mrs. Newman was born Jan. 28, 1905 in Howard County, Md. She was the daughter of John and Bell Snowden. Mrs. Newman died at Bon Secour Hospital.

Relatives said she was a free spirited and generous person and called "Bootsie" by her friends.

She is survived by her husband, Ralph Newman; one daughter, Shirley Green; two granddaughters, Denise and Deneen Green; two great - grandsons, Chandlor and Joseph; six sisters, Helen Snowden, Carrie Rome, Ida Mae Barbee, Gracie Batty, Ethel Jones and Helen A. Washington; two step children, Edith Singletary and Ralph Newman.

Mrs. Fannie Moaney

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Moaney, 81, were Thursday, April 15, at the A.M.E. Zion Methodist Church, 1124 Pennsylvania Ave. Burial was at Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mrs. Moaney died Monday, April 12, at Sinai Hospital after a long illness.

She grew up in Princess Anne, Md. and attended public schools there. After attending schools, she moved to Unionville, where her father, Pastor William H. Hayman, was transferred to a new church.

In 1921, the former Miss Hayman married Riehard Moaney The couple moved to Baltimore in the 1930s.

Mrs. Moaney sang in the choir of the A.M.E. Zion Methodist Church.

Among her survivors are four sons, Leon, Oliver, David and John Moaney; two daughters, Katrina Massdin and Myrtle Wilkes; a brother, Oliver Hayman; a sister, Ida Goldsborough; 18 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Bishop College host minister's institute

Rev. Arie L. Mangrum, pastor of Peace Baptist Church in northeast will be among the many speakers on hand for the 52nd annual Lacy Kirk Williams Minister's Institute at Bishop College in Dallas, Tex., April 19-23.

Dr. John D. Mangrum, dean of the Chapel at Bishop and the director of the Institute, indicates that there has been a last-minute surge of registrations to the prestigious Church Institute which has been one of the annual highlights of the College year. Up to 1,500 official registrants are expected from more than 30 states: and clergy and laity gathering for fellowship, worship, and study will spend more than four days on the Dallas campus enjoying the faculty and facilities of the Institute begun in 1931 by Bishop's first black president, the late Dr. Joseph J. Rhoads.

Named in honor of one of Bishop's illustrious alumni preachers and a president of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., before his untimely death in an air crash in 1941, the Institute grows each year and provides not only a backdrop for improving the ministry and laity of black churches, but also a financial stimulant for the ongoing stability of Bishop College More than $200,000 in gifts will come to the College from the visiting pastors, laity, and their churches. More than $500,000 as an annual total of church-related giving is contemplated. Dr. T. Oscar Chappelle of Tulsa, Okla. is chairperson of the National Church Relations Board which supervises the fund-raising endeavor of the national churches on behalf of Bishop.

In addition to the outstanding messages of leading clergy from around the nation providing inspiration and challenge seminars will be led by very capable leaders in the areas of Christian Education, Christian Music and worship, Christian Evangelism, Chruch Administration, Missions, Pastoral Care, Preparation and Delivery of Sermons, Preparation for Worship, Stewardship and Finance and Social Concerps.

The Women's Department of the Institute headed by G.K. Hobart Sheppard will have a full day of special activity on Wednesday, April 21 beginning with a prayer breakfast and concluding with the Women's Hour in the evening. Mrs. Robert Rowe and Dr. Doris Lyons will give leadership to the Youth Department program of the Institute.

Norman Simpson

Funeral services for Norman Simpson, 59, were Saturday, April 10, at James A. Morton and Sons Funeral Home. Burial was at Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mr. Simpson was born May 15, 1922 in Charlotte County, Va. to Bertha Lee Brown and James E. Simpson Sr. He died Wednesday, April 7, at his home after a brief illness.

Mr. Simpson received his education in the Charlotte County Public Schools. He later entered the U.S. Army and served during World War II.

He married the late Mildred Louise Terry. Before Mr. Simpson's retirement, he worked for Bethlehem Steel Corp., Sparrows Point Shipyard.

Among his survivors are his mother; three brothers, Essie Simpson, of Philadelphia, James Simpson Jr., of Baltimore and George Simpson, of Drakes Branch, Va.; five sisters, Maize Washington, Rosetta Canada, Alice Canada and Ephenia Pippin, all of Baltimore and Louise Brown, of Reading, Pa.

Report show growth in deacons

A new report on the growth and development of the Catholic permanent diaconate program in the United States shows that, as of last October 31, there were 5,175 permanent deacons and 2,352 diaconal candidates in formation.

The figures reflect an increase of 519 deacons over 1980 and a decline of 162 candidates. The first report, issued in 1971, counted 58 deacons and 829 candidates.

The new report was compiled and issued by the secretariat of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops (NCCB) Committee on the Permanent Diaconate. Msgr. Ernest J. Fiedler, the Secretariat Director, observed that the phenominal growth" in the permanent diaconate program in the United States "demonstrates the importance of the role of deacons in the life of the Church and their acceptance by the Church, particularly the Laity."

Noting that this is the second year in a row that the number of candidates declined, Msgr. Fiedler explained that a number of the programs currently are being evaluated, after which growth in the number of candidates "can be expected to resume"

George W. Alford

Funeral services for George W. Alford, 44, were Wednesday April 14, at Christ Edmondson United Methodist Church, 3600 Edmondson Ave. Burial was at Baltimore Cemetery.

Mr. Alford died Thursday, April 8, at Provident Hospital after he suffered a heart attack.

A native of North Carolina, he came to the Baltimore area as a chilo. Mr. Alford settled in the Rockdale area after he served in the U.S. Army as a second lieutenant.

He worked for the Social Security Administration since 1968 as an administrative specialist.

Mr. Alford was a member of Christ Edmondson United Methodist Church and the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity.

Among his survivors are his wife, Barbara; two daughters, Nansie and Dionne, of Rockdale; his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Alford; two brothers, William and Thurman; and two sisters, Mrs. Melma Murray, of Indiana and Mrs. Elenor McClain, of Baltimore.

Willie Johnson

Funeral services for Willie Johnson, 82, were Thursday, April 15, at William C. March Funeral Home. Burial was at Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mr. Johnson, a former merchant marine and foundry worker, lived in the 300 block of Egerton Rd., in Northwest Baltimore. He died Sunday, April 11, at Sinai Hospital after a long illness.

He is survived by his wife, Carrie W. Johnson and his father, Richard Johnson, of Auburn, N.Y.

Herbert Montgomery

Funeral services for Herbert Montgomery, 33, were Monday, April 12, at the United Methodist Church, Carey and Baker Streets. Burial was at Mount Auburn Cemetery.

Mr. Montgomery, a Baltimore native, died Thursday, April 8.

He worked for the F.M. Stevenson & Co.

Mr. Montgomery is survived by his wife, Doretha; his parents, Norma and Herbert Montgomery.

Mrs. Dorothy Jones

Funeral services for Mrs. Dorothy Jones were held April 11 at Jones Tabernacle Baptist Church.

Mrs. Jones was born Sept. 10, 1937 and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith. She attended Baltimore city public schools. She was an active member of Jones Tabernacle Church and a member of the choir.

Mrs. Jones died April 7 at Church Home Hospital. She is survived by her husband, Willie Jones; five children Dietrish, Christine, Christopher, Tobias and Cora Jones, six grandchildren, two sisters, Zelline and Cora; two brothers, Norman and Hollie.

George E. Williams

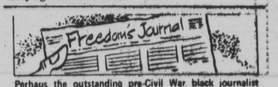
Funeral services for George E. Williams were Wednesday, April 14, at Leroy O. Dyett and Son Funeral Home. Burial was at Mount Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Williams was born Aug. 21, 1917 in Cedar Hill, Anne Arundel County. He was the son of Benton C. Williams and Rosetta Gross Williams. He died the evening of April 8.

Mr. Williams attended school in Cedar Hill and was a member of John Wesley Church. A graduate of tailoring school, he left home at an early age and entered the field of boxing where he won much acclaim.

In 1941, Mr. Williams married Mary Proctor. He later went on to become a contractor and he loved to go fishing.

Among his survivors are his mother; five children, Mrs. Beverly Smith, Mrs. Marion Burrell, Mrs. Muriel Shaw, Barton E. Williams and Rodney L. Jones; two sisters, Mrs. Berline Lewis and Mrs. Edith Spencer; a brother, Leon Williams; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.



Perhaps the outstanding pre-Civil War black journalist was Samuel Cornish, who, with John Russwurm, established Freedom's Journal, the first black newspaper in 1827

Arnold M. Jolivet leads Douglass Hi building protest

Arnold M. Jolivet

By Elizabeth M. Oliver
City Editor

The City's Board of Estimates awarded a $7.2 million contract to CAM Construction Co. to renovate the Frederick Douglass Senior High School No. 450.

Despite the fact that Douglass High is located in the heart of the black community and serves an all - black student population, the Board elected to award this contract without requiring the CAM Construction Co. to use black or other minority subcontractors.

Who is leading the fight against this effort which has raised alarm in Baltimore?

He is Arnold M. Jolivet, the president of the Maryland Minority Contractors Asso., Inc.

Jolly, as he is fondly called by those who know him best, has headed Management Trainers and Consultants Inc. a firm on Calvert Street, since 1975. He has appeared as consultant for various political candidates but otherwise is not widely known as an activist.

When the outraged black community rose up against the Douglass High contract the Board of Estimates handed over to a non - black firm, Jolly was picked to head the protest, along with Cong. Parren J. Mitchell.

Following the Easter Monday picketing of City Hall, he announced that a suit is planned and further protest marches will go on to the building site at the High School on Gwynns Falls Parkway.

Writing letters and holding planning sessions has Jolivet working more than his usual 12 - hour day in his offices. TV appearances and speaking engagements occupy more time.

Jolivet states:

"Not one black subcontractor was given an opportunity to work on this school which is located in the heart of the black community.

"Indeed, it seems unreal that this kind of racial exclusion and discrimination is still being practiced against black persons in 1982.

Racial exclusion and discrimination are still being practiced against black contractors and other black businesses by Baltimore City.

When black contractors and other businesses are excluded and not permitted to work, the entire black community is adversely affected."

Jolivet is well - prepared for leadership in this important fight which has shocked the entire city.

He is a 1966 Morgan State University graduate who majored in business and political science. He studied labor law and personnel practices at the University of Maryland School of Law.

He was an Equal Employment Opportunity supervisor for the state of Maryland from 1972 to 1975 and served as advisor to agency top management officials on EEO and Affirmative Action related matters.

Previously, Jolivet was law clerk for the U.S. Department of Justice in 1970 and from 1966 to 1969, served as supervisor of resident halls at Morgan.

His Management Trainers and Consultants firm has many duties including providing legal and other specialized consulting services to Federal, state, local and private agencies in the area of employment practices.

He states, "On almost a daily basis, I receive complaints from local black and other racial minority contractors alleging unlawful racial exclusion and discrimination on state and city - funded construction contracts."

Besides Jolivet, the president, the Maryland Minority Contractors Association has the following officers who have joined the protest:

Robert L. Clay, Chairman Emeritus, Founder

Douglas B. Sands, Founder

Hanford Jones, Executive Director

Carl D. Jones, Vice - President

Cephus Murrell, Secretary - Treasurer

Robert F. Dashiell, General Counsel

DIRECTORS

Terry Addison, Antionette Bianchi, Stanford Britt, Calvin Brooks, Leon Bridges, Charles Brown Jr., Robert L. Clay, Norman Cully, Hezekiah Daniels; Denise DeLeaver, Augustus Ervin, Lawrence Gaines, Gilda J. Garrett, Lucius Henderson, III, Joseph Huang, Denette Johnson, Arnold M. Jolivet, Herbert Jones;

William Lashley, J. Albert Maddox, Walter Morgan, Robert McGriff, Randy Phipps, Catherine Pugh, James R. Roane;

Eddie Simpkins, Anita Sterrette, Charles Taylor, Peter R. Taylor, George Uzzell, Joseph Ward, Otis Warren, Arthur Welch.

> Baltimore City is 60% Black. There is simply no reason why Black contractors should not be able to work on each and every City construction project. "We must now stand up and demand our equal rights."

Turner Station's New Shiloh presents popularity contest winners for 1982

Turner Station's New Shiloh Baptist Church was the scene recently of a lovely Sunday afternoon affair which featured a baby contest and a musical concert.

The church where Dr. James A. Everett is pastor, is exceedingly beauteous and lends itself to such a delightful springtime event.

The pastor's son, James A. Everett Jr. presided with the Scripture reading by Miss Yolande Jones.

Mrs. Cora Crawley, president of the March Fellowship Club, introduced the babies' and young people's parents.

The salute to the small participants was by Miss Monique Franklin.

Presentations were by Mrs. Margie Rice. Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, coordinator of all the Fellowship Clubs, gave the address which was followed by remarks and benediction by Dr. Everett.

The concert was by God's Messengers of Baltimore under the theme, "Let us Rejoice and Praise the Lord."

Following the concert, the audience joined youngsters, parents, club members and the pastor's family in the upper auditorium for a reception.

The youngsters in the contest were Shana Chaney, winner; Kelly Matthews, 2nd place; Erica Richardson, 3rd place; J'Mar Mandie, 4th place. Others were La Kicha Hines, Keith Winston Jr., Michael Cain and Foster Lewis Jr.

The New Shiloh Baptist Church is located at 105 East Avenue, Turner Station.

MICHAEL CAIN

KEITH WINSTON JR.

LAKECHIA HINES 5th Place

ERICA RICHARDSON 35th Place

J'MAR MONDIE 4th Place

MRS. CORA CRAWLEY, president, March Fellowship Club

SHANA CHANEY — first place winner

KELLY MATTHEWS — second place winner

BLACK WOMEN'S CONSCIOUSNESS RAISING ASSO.

Actress scheduled as speaker for women's confab

The Black Women's Consciousness Raising Association will hold the annual conference Saturday, May 8 from 8 to 4 p.m. at Baltimore's Poly - Western High School.

A Presidential Awards Banquet is slated for Friday night May 7 at the downtown Hilton Hotel. For exhibits and information call 448-2600.

Actress Jean Pace, wife of Oscar Brown Jr., is the speaker for the May 8 luncheon at Poly - Western. Tickets are $15.

The May 7 banquet speaker is Ethel Payne, the nationally noted journalist. Tickets are $20.

The press preview is in the form of a luncheon April 20 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the 1903 Bloomingdale Rd. headquarters of Congressman Parren J. Mitchell. The public is invited to bring friends free of charge. RSVP 448-2600.

The conference which is expected to attract nearly 1,000 women has a Presidential Awards Banquet and Fashion Show from 9 to 1 a.m. May 7 at the Hilton to open the events.

The Annual Conference proper, at Poly - Western Hi opens with registration at 8 a.m.

Ms. Delois Lindsay Newton, director of Afro - American Affairs, University of Virginia, is keynote speaker at the Workshops.

Jean Pace who is also a poet and political activist, appears at 2 p.m.

Booths at $50 for vendors and $25 for non - vendors may be reserved by calling 448-2600.

Mrs. Louise Johnson is founder. Mrs. Elaine C. Simon is president. Registration deadline is April 23.

WORKSHOPS

Financial Management — Roberta Clay, Mathematician, U.S. Army, Aberdeen Proving Ground

Career Development & Goal Setting — Delois Brandon, Information Specialist, Institute for Urban Affairs & Research - Howard University

Political Strategy for Every Day Life — Dele. Margaret (Peggy) Murphy, 41st Legislative District; and Louise Johnson, Public Relations & Sales Agent - International Hilton Hotel, Public Relations - Perdue Chicken, Press Secretary - National Black Caucus on State Legislators

Enterprise Opportunities for Black Women in Telecommunications

Women in the Job Changing System — Everlon Coffey, History Teacher at Polytechnic H.S., Associate Professor for S.A.T., Advisor to American Field Services Organization.

Black Women: Leadership in the Community — Delois Lindsay Newton, Director of Afro American Affairs, University of Virginia, Virginia

The Medical and Clinical Aspects to Reading — Constance Fenwick, Reading Specialist & Consultant, Green Spring Junior High School.

THEATRE PROJECT PRESENTS MARY CARTER SMITH

Mary Carter Smith, Baltimore's well-known griot and poet, will offer six concert performances at the Theatre Project opening Friday, April 30, and continuing through Sunday, May 9. Performance times are at 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, with two special children's matinees on the two Sundays of her run, at 3 p.m.

Ms. Smith's show is a mixture of her own writings and those of many others — poets, playwrights, composers, philosophers, and religious leaders. The focus is on the rich heritage of African American life, and includes storytelling, dance, comedy, gospel music and vaudeville skits such as those by Moms Mabley and Redd Foxx.

During the two weeks of Ms. Smith's performances, the Theatre Project gallery will show the paintings and drawings of her late son, Ricardo R. Carter.

Tickets, available in advance, or at the door prior to each performance, cost $4 for adults and $2 for children for evening; everyone will be admitted to the Sunday matinees for $2 each. The Theatre Project is at 45 West Preston Street. For information, call 539-3091, weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

MS. JOSEPHINE BALL, president

MS. BERT LEE, first vice - president

MS. CONSTANCE FENWICK, second vice - president

MS. JOAN MOORE, corresponding secretary and membership chair

JEAN PACE, wife of Oscar Brown Jr., is featured speaker at the May 8 luncheon.

MS. GAIL MARSHALL, member

MS. HARRIETT BIAS - BRANCH, member

MS. BARBARA GRAY, member

MS. MINEL F. BEY, member

MS. SHIRLEY NATHAN PULLIAM, member

USAFR CAPT. PATRICIA A. POWELL, member

APR