Columbia Capers

By Minnie L. Ross

BLACK WOMEN IN LITERATURE FEATURED

The newly organized chapter of the Columbia Pierions had a unique experience Saturday, December 4 at the spacious ranch home of Dr. Sandra Noel Smith in Silver Spring, MD.

Black Women in Literature was featured and discussed among the Columbia members and guests. One of the featured authors was Alice Walker who wrote the book "The Color Purple."

The paperback book "The Color Purple" according to members and friends who had read it seems to have been a little hard to understand at first, but later on, after continuing to read it, the book became so interesting until one member, Sylvia Cook Martin said, "I couldn't stop reading it, it was so deep."

The experience was different from most activities clubs usually have. All club members were asked to read the book and asked their guests to read it also and come prepared to discuss it and that's what actually happened.

We gathered at Dr. Smith's home at 2 p.m.. Some were a little late. Nevertheless, they were there in time for the discussion.

There were members who had not read the book, but were given the introduction of Sylvia Cook Martin and Celonia Walden III (Little Celonia). They brought them up to date in such a way that it was easy for the nonreaders to follow nicely.

The two main characters in the book were Nettie and Celia, both daughters who stood in fear of their stepfather who made advances toward them from time to time, but especially to Nettie.

He hurriedly married Celia off to a man she did not want, due to the fact (the stepfather) wanted Nettie for himself. Celia did not believe in herself, she had lost faith in God because of the ugliness happening within her family.

She finally met a nightclub singer, who helped her to believe in herself but she was still troubled and wanted to share her experience with someone, therefore she wrote letters to God sharing her bad experience.

Celia finally learned to appreciate herself and was rewarded in the end. (cuff note) One must believe in themselves to survive in this world. If you don't who will?

Guests in attendance at the activity were: Claudia Pittman, Delores Dickerson and Celonia Walden III, poet.

Black Women In Literature—Reference taken from the Negro Almanac compiled by Roberta Briscoe. Also quotes taken from the Black American Reference Book.

Sylvia Cook Martin, Chief Staff Training and Development, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. is the artistic member who designed the cover of the Black Women In Literature information.

The cover was designed with books in stair steps, names and authors including "There is a confusion" by Jessie R. Fauset, "Generation," by Lucille Clifton, I know Why the Caged Bird Sings, Maja Angelou and "The Color Purple", Alice Walker. After the discussion, a scrumptious repast was served by Dr. Smith.

HOLIDAY SOCIAL

There were members who attended the Black Women In Literature activity at 2 p.m. who had to rush out in preparation for another affair at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Red invitations came in the mail to all BAP members with a design of Christmas Bells with ribbons cascading down the sides, artistically done by Celonia Walden II.

It was a fun Holiday Social where all members brought one guest, held at 10629 Green Mountain Circle, The Ross's. It was so much fun until I want to share it with my readers.

Each member was asked by the committee which included Vicki Mannings, vice president and program chairperson, Clemma Carrington and Mae Beale to bring a dish. Actually it was an old fashioned pot luck, but the food was coordinated nicely.

Prior to the Holiday Social, a luncheon was held at Chaz Fernond, French Restaurant in Ellicott City for preplanning of the committee.

The menu included chicken all styles, ham, potato salad, vegetable salad, macaroni and cheese, fruit trays, cheese trays, rolls and BYO.

Guess what? for all of my Southern readers? Yours truly prepared wrinkled steaks so Dr. Judson, who came back for seconds, called them Just plain ole chittlings complimented with collard greens and hot southern corn bread. Well, there were guests whom I thought wouldn't like them, but Oh! so good they said.

It started at 8 p.m. The first guest to arrive was Celonia Walden who is always on time. She brought her dish of fried chicken.

Dr. & Mrs. (Doris) Daniel W.C. Brown were second in line with a dish of macaroni and cheese that didn't stay around too long.

After this other special dishes came, such as the beautiful fruit tray prepared by Evelyn McClurkin, more delicious chicken fried by Myrtle Jackson, (Gail Judson baked hers) and barbecued chicken by Delores Richmond.

MARGARET'S SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Piano Organ Guitar
Drums Flute Clarinet
Saxophones Trumpet
Violin
Voice-Theory and Harmony
Ages: 5 - 65
Beginning and Advanced
Senior Citizens Welcome
All Professional Instructors
Director
I. Margaret Bass
Mon-Sat 10 am-7pm
4715 Liberty Heights Ave.
542-0134

IN THE HARBOR AREA!
1, 2, or 3 bedroom garden apartments
HILLSIDE PARK
Roomy garden apartments with lots of outdoor space. Big living room, dining area, large modern kitchen, ceramic tiled bath, individually controlled heat. Some with outdoor balconies.
from $189 monthly
How to get here: Drive down Hanover St. turn right at Cherry Hill Rd. and after crossing Hanover St. Bridge. Stop at Rental Office at Cherry Hill Rd. and Daisy St. Open Mon. thru Fri. 9 to 4:30 Sat. 10 to 1.
Professionally managed by
CITY WIDE MANAGEMENT CO.
Rental Office 355-6940 • Downtown Office: 837-2900
Equal Housing Opportunity

$1,000 REWARD

Baltimore Gas and Electric Co.

Baltimore Gas and Electric Company will pay a total of $1,000 as a reward for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person who assaulted and robbed its employee about 9:45 A.M. on Monday, December 5, 1983 in the 1300 block Valley Street, Baltimore City.

The Company will not disclose the name of any person or persons furnishing such information to it.

Anyone having such information should call Metro Crime Alert, at 276-8888.

$1,000 REWARD

Woodlawn Highlights

By Marjorie R. Green

HIGH SCHOOL RACQUETBALL CHAMP

When the Racquetball Authority of Metropolitan Baltimore (RAMB) handed out the honors for the Mens A Championship in late Fall, a Poly High School Junior named Michael Tye Brown was the recipient of the championship title in a sport that has traditionally been dominated by white males.

Michael Tye Brown
Racquetball Champ

Being named the best was nothing strange to 16 year old Tye who in June of this year also won the Junior Championship title in a division consisting of youngsters age 15 and under. A two year student of the game, Tye is ranked as the number two Juinior player in the state of Maryland, and number one among a limited number of black players.

Since his introduction to the sport he has found it difficult to break through a wall of tradition and discrimination that keeps him from being recognized in the same manner as white players of lesser talents.

In spite of his ability to win tournaments and gain recognition from a national Racquetball sports company that supplies all of his equipment, local Racquetball representatives and sports writers have chosen to ignore his accomplishments.

A visit to his home in Baltimore County reveals an area set aside as the "Hall of Fame" in which 50 or more trophies and wall plaques are on display. The trophies also represent achievements in baseball and other sports.

Racquetball is a white-oriented sport, according to Tye who says he accidentally got involved in the sport during a time when both he and his father were trying to loose weight at a local athletic club. "One of the reasons why I am trying to excel in the sport is because I feel that I am representing Blacks from all the clubs.

When I won the A Championship at the Security Racquetball Club, the Black players came up to tell me that they were proud of me."

Tye admits that the acts of discrimination used to bother him but he has learned to accept the quiet reception from the predominately white audience when he wins. He plays to win and he wins often because of his long hours of practice and the encouragement of his father who acts as his coach.

In addition to school, playing Racquetball 3 to 5 hours a day, and baseball, Tye works part-time as a student survey and draftsman for Silverman and Associates.

Even though his immediate plans include attendance at a college noted for its Racquetball excellence, his ultimate goal is to become a Medical Doctor.

Our A - student of the week was born July 1 under the sign of Cancer and he promises that one day his name will be listed in the Hall of Racquetball greats.

NAACP MEETING

The Annual membership meeting of the Baltimore NAACP Branch will be held Tuesday, December 13 at 7 p.m. at John Wesley United Methodist Church, 3202 W. North Avenue at Bloomingdale Streets.

Included on the agenda will be the election of the NAACP National Board Members and Dr. Samuel Banks will present an NAACP response to recent news articles on the Black Family.

Single PARENTING

By Kelly Hill

For the single parent who has a tight budget, the Xmas holidays can be quite expensive if you aren't careful what you spend your money on.

With the newest toys on the market, video arcades, and computerized toys, it is impossible to buy your kids everything, especially if they are between the ages of 7 and up.

In talking with some other single parents, I found out that there are ways of making ends meet. At your local toy stores you know that you aren't really getting any discounts.

It is extremely advantageous if you begin to put toys on lay - away, the day after Xmas. That's right. Most of the single parents that I talked with said "My budget is limited and rather than be hassled with trying to find extra money to buy expensive toys, "I waited until after Xmas to put my kids toys on lay - away for the next year."

Toys never go out of style. One of the things to remember when buying Xmas toys is don't buy toys that don't fit the age group of your kids. Too many parents make this mistake and end up being disappointed because their kids won't play with the toys. Can you imagine buying a 5 - year - old an erector set that does nothing but sit there. Five years olds like toys that are colorful, action oriented, something that "THEY" can take back together without any help.

What you don't want is a frustrated child during the Xmas holidays and for the rest of the year. And, certainly you don't want to see your money wasted on a toy that your child won't play with.

All parents should be safety conscious. Some of the toys may be dangerous. Take the time to examine each toy carefully.

According to the Consumer Index, one of the newest dolls "Baby Skate" is unsafe for a couple of reasons. For those specific reasons please consult the Consumer's Digest.

Toy chest is another. Some children have been hurt by the door of the chest falling down on the child's fingers. There are safety catches for the toy chest. You can get them from any store that carries them.

There is one unusual type of budgeting for the Xmas Holidays and that is sharing your gifts with more than one family.

Carolyn and Myra have been sharing Xmas gifts for years. I asked them how is it done and here is what they said. "Each year we go Xmas shopping together. We pool all of our money for Xmas toys and on Xmas day we have one big tree and all the toys are there, together.

On Xmas Eve, our children spend the night together which they love. The kids leave cookies and tell them Xmas stories. Once the kids are asleep, we begin putting the toys under the tree."

Myra said that it was so easy and economical for her that Xmas seems extra special now because she isn't constantly worrying about having to supply everything. "The kids enjoy it and it gives me something to do on Xmas eve and I don't feel so lonely."

Black Single Parents is having its first New Year's Eve Party. If you aren't on our mailing list and would like to be included and invited to our party please let us know by writing P. O. Box 26542.

Come and enjoy an evening with other single parents who enjoy each

—Engagements and Weddings—

Miss Mary McKenzie, Delegate Hughes wed

A single-ring ceremony at Bethel A.M.E. Church officiated by the Revs. Christopher Hill and the Rev. John R. Bryant recently united the former Mary McKenzie to newly-elected Delegate Ralph M. Hughes. Mary is the daughter of Elias McKenzie and the late Mrs. Mary McKenzie of Baltimore.

Del. Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hughes, of Ruxton Ave.

The bride, a graduate of MSU, a member of the Morgan Alumni, Black Business Women of Washington, DC, an avid church and community worker, who is also a marketing representative for Hamilton Industries, was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white longsleeved French lace gown with pearls and sequins at the top, with a silk-layered skirt with layers shaped like petals) at the bottom, designed by M. S. Doritha Allen. Her headpiece of fashionable net, was designed for a side fit, and instead of flowers, she carried an Oriental fan.

Maid-of-Honor Victoria McKenzie, bride's sister) of Baltimore, wore a rose gown with V-shaped back, puffed sleeves, with ruffles on the shoulders and hem. She wore baby's breath in her hair and carried a bouquet of carnations and roses.

Bridesmaids Judy Jackson, Washington, DC and Deborah Dandridge, Baltimore, wore lavender gowns with lace tops and the strapless look, with long sleeves. They also wore baby's breath in their hair and carried bouquets of carnations and roses.

Flower girl Leah Hughes, niece of the groom, wore a lovely pink dress with lace covering and a pink headband, and carried a basket of roses.

Best man was Lawrence Hughes Jr., Baltimore County, MD, brother of the groom. Ushers were Craig Williams and Michael Hughes, groom's brother, both of Baltimore. Ring Bearer was Nathaniel Lee, Baltimore, groom's cousin. Jasper Haynes was musical programs orgahist and Jimmy Green and Margaret Lindsay were soloists.

The bridegroom received a B.A. from Morgan U, the Doctorate of Juris Prudence from Howard U and is presently pursuing graduate studies at Johns Hopkins U.

He is also a member of the House of Delegates, 40th D., a member of the MSU Alumni Association, president, Mondawmin Coordinating Council and Legislative consultant to Ruxton Concerned Neighbors and the Ash Co-EAST-Founder of Santa's Children.

A reception was hosted for the couple at the Tawes Center, Coppin State College offered champagne and cake to 200 guests.

NEWLYWEDS — The Honorable Ralph M. Hughes and his new bride Mrs. Hughes pose happily following their recent nuptials at Bethel AME Church. The bride is the former Miss Mary McKenzie.

The cake was designed in layers with a bridge on both sides with replicas of the wedding party on it.

The 'Jumping of the Broom ceremony (African custom) took place at the reception. The wedding was coordinated by Mrs. Pauline Carter. The bride's travelling outfit for her honeymoon to Barbados, W.I., Club, St. James Resort, was a black knit sweater with gray pants topped by a black, tan and gray cape coat.

The new Delegate and Mrs. Hughes are at home on Braddish Ave.

A vast host of friends and relatives from all parts of the United States and abroad attended the nuptials and reception.

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony White, Judge Robert Bell, Mrs. Juanita Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Paxton, Mrs. Marion Love, Mrs. Ruby Holly, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hillen, Judge Ken Johnson, Judge Joseph Harris, Dr. Laws Nickens, Senator Verda Welcome, Delegate Elijah Cummings, Del. Clarence Davis, Del. Mary Adams;

Also Speaker of the House Ben Cardin, Mrs. Sherdina McCoy and guest; William H. Gilmore, Mrs. Mabel Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schneidner, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kaub, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Ellsworth, Mrs. Sylvia Malone, Ms. Lillian Hady, Ms. Linda Jackson, Dr. Esther Ridgley;

And Ms. Audrey Ingram, Ms. Jacqueline Lainier, Mrs. Bessie Askew, Mrs. Jeffrey Bowden, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCaskill, Edward Banks and the Cole family.

Fascinating alligator-print on a superlative heel! Glowing with the look of black patent, day or evening 28.99
BAKERS
MASTERCARD VISA
EAST POINT MALL • COLUMBIA MALL
GOLDEN RING MALL
PERRING PLAZA • WESTVIEW CENTER
ANNAPOLIS MALL
FRANCIS SCOTT KEY MALL, FREDERICK
LAUREL CENTRE

Educational Guide for Spring, '84

CCB wins Ford Foundation grant

To help community colleges strengthen their transfer programs, the Ford Foundation recently awarded grants to 24 community colleges across the country.

The Community College of Baltimore is pleased to announce that it was the only college in Maryland selected to receive this grant. "It was a tremendous honor to have been given this award," said Charles G. Tildon Jr., president of CCB.

"The process was quite competitive. Fewer than one third of the 71 colleges that were invited to submit proposals were awarded grants."

CCB will use its grant to support a new project, the Bridge Program. Through this program the college hopes to accomplish three major objectives. The first objective is to establish formal ties with five high schools Frederick Douglass, Northwestern, Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, Western and Southern and four, four year colleges; Coppin State College, Morgan State University, Towson State University and the University of Baltimore.

CCB will serve as the connecting link or "bridge" channeling students interested in the liberal arts through the arts and sciences curricula at CCB and on to four year colleges.

Secondly, the college plans to study and restructure its arts & sciences programs to make them more compatible with those of the four year schools. Thirdly, the college will strengthen its support services which include career and academic counseling, specialized instruction and tutoring for arts and sciences majors.

To help launch the new Bridge program, CCB will host a dinner for representatives from the participating high schools and four-year colleges on Monday, Dec. 12 at 6 p.m. in the Constellation Room of the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Dr. Norman C. Francis, president of Xavier University of Louisiana, will deliver the keynote address, "The Path to Excellence in Education." A noted authority on educational issues, Dr. Francis is a member of the National Commission on Excellence in Education, which recently issued the comprehensive report, "A Nation at Risk," on the status of America's educational system.

Among the invited guests are Hilbert Stanley, educational liaison officer, Mayor's office; Alice G. Pinderhughes, Superintendent, Baltimore City Public Schools; Councilwoman Iris Reeves, chairman of the City Council's education committee; James D. Tschechtelin, executive director, State Board for Community Colleges; James Buford, special assistant, Maryland Department of Education; George Funaro, deputy commissioner, State Board for High Education; Anne Emery, assistant superintendent of communications, City Public Schools; Virginia Roeder, deputy superintendent of instruction, City Public Schools and Vondalee Clark, assistant superintendent of secondary schools.

Also attending will be presidents Calvin Burnett of Coppin State College, Andrew Billingsley of Morgan State University, H. Mebane Turner of the University of Baltimore and Hoke Smith of Towson State University, as well as high school principals Jean Owens of Douglass, Jesse Little (assistant principal) of Baltimore Polytechnic Institute, Gloria Marrow (assistant principal) of Northwestern, Saundra Wighton of Western and Sandy Saratinos of Southern.

"We at CCB are very excited about the Bridge Program and we are looking forward to working closely with our colleagues in the high schools and four year colleges," remarked President Tildon. "By sharing our resources, we can broaden the educational opportunities available to the citizens of Baltimore."

Scholarships available at Rochester U.

A scholarship program for minority students has been established at one of the nation's leading private universities, the University of Rochester, New York.

Under its provisions, the Baltimore Urban League can nominate up to five students for a scholarship ranging from $2,500 to the full amount of fixed costs at the university which currently totals $11,200.

Students interested in being nominated must be in the top fifth of their high school class, have SAT scores at or above the national average and have demonstrated leadership qualities in extracurricular or community activities. All applicants will be considered not only for these scholarships, but also for scholarships available through the regular financial aid program.

Choral concert scheduled

The Baltimore School for the Arts presents "Burnished Brass, Bells, Strings and Choral Sounds" as its Winter Celebration Concert.

It will be performed at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 16 in the Schaefer Ballroom. Featured works to be performed include: The Pinkham Christmas Cantata with the school's concert choir and Brass Ensemble; and Hand's Haec Dies with the Treble Choir and the Brass Choir. Kathleen Schneider will direct the choirs and Carolyn Foulkes will conduct the Brass Ensemble.

The choir will also perform Praetorius To Us Is Born with the accompaniment of bells. The Chancel Ringers from Arbutus United Methodist Church, directed by Fran Amarote, will be guest artist for this piece.

Orchestral works to be performed are by Bartok, Vivaldi, and Grieg. Zoltan Szabo will conduct.

Winter session at Catonsville Jan. 3

Classes will begin on Tuesday, Jan. 3, for a four week winter session at Catonsville Community College and registrations are now being accepted.

The concentrated session offers students an opportunity to learn new skills in a short time, catch up on graduation requirements, or take a course to ease the spring semester workload.

Registrations will be accepted on the main campus, 800 South Rolling Rd., through Friday, Dec. 9. An open registration day will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 14, 1 to 7 p.m.

College credit courses will be offered in accounting, biology, business administration, chemistry, criminal justice, data processing, economics, electronics, English, environmental studies, health, history, law, life fitness, management, marketing, mathematics, music, nursing, psychology, reading, real estate, science, secretary education, sociology and speech.

At the Northwest College Center, an extension program of the Catonsville College, classes will be offered in accounting, business, data processing, life fitness, psychology, reading, science, sociology and speech.

Bachelor of Science degree in technology

An undergraduate program leading to Bachelor of Science degree in Technology—designed to provide community college students who have received their A.A. degree in Technology the opportunity to receive a four-year degree—was approved for Bowie State College recently, by the Board of Trustees of State Universities and Colleges and the State Board for Higher Education. The action is another step in the Board of Trustee's long range "New Directions" plan for the institution.

This program has been developed to serve the large number of people who graduate from community colleges and who, because of the technical nature of the curriculum they have pursued, have found it difficult to transfer to a traditional baccalaureate program.

The Bachelor of Science in Technology will enable the student to take, at the Junior and Senior levels, the liberal arts courses required of all students who pursue a baccalaureate degree.

In addition, the student will be required to take additional credit hours of advanced courses in technical, managerial, computer, or related fields.

The program, as currently planned, encompasses the fields of Business, Data Processing, Law Enforcement, Health Services Administration, Human Services, and Secretarial Management.

It is envisioned that the program eventually will be broadened to include many other fields of specialization. Students entering this Program will be required to complete at least 60 hours of credit at Bowie State College.

A student, to be eligible for the program, must have earned a minimum grade point average of 2.5 at the community college. The program is projected to enroll 60 students in the first year, and 145 students by the end of the fifth year. This program will be implemented in Spring 1984.

LIDA LEE TALL LEARNING RESOURCES CENTER
AT TOWSON STATE UNIVERSITY
TOWSON, MARYLAND 21204

We are pleased to announce that the Lida Lee Tall Learning Resources Center on the Towson State University campus is advertising for a first grade teacher. The class is composed of 25 children heterogeneously grouped. The setting provides an innovative laboratory environment where effective teaching and classroom management can be demonstrated. A renewed emphasis on research, an integral component of the center will focus on areas of statewide interest and concern in early childhood education.

Those interested in applying should ihave experience and knowledge to the following areas: learning theory, research and inquiry, teaching strategies, child development, mainstreaming, classroom management, written and spoken communication, interpersonal relations with children and adults, curriculum, staff development, and expertise in at least one teaching or content area.

EXPERIENCE AND PREPARATION
Professional Certificate valid in Maryland required.
Master's degree preferred.
Minimum three years of teaching experience in a first grade self contained setting.
SALARY
Based on competitive salary schedule.
CONTRACT
Contract subject to annual renewal.
Step1. Send letter of application to Lida Lee Tall Learning Resources Center at Towson State University, Towson, MD 21204
Attention: Dr. R. David Farley. Deadline: Postmarked by January 16, 1984
SELECTION PROCESS
Enclose your resume, a current lesson plan, a current description of a typical day in your classroom, and three letters from professional references evaluating your teaching. No applicants will be considered without all credentials on file.
Step 2. Interview: Outstanding candidates from Step 1.
Step 3. Observation. If possible, in candidate's classroom—last two to four finalists for the position.
Interview date to be determined.
Possibility of employment on or about February 1, 1984.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE OF BALTIMORE
PRESENTS
41 NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS !
CCB'S January Intersession offers an unusual opportunity for you to get a strong academic start for 1984 by completing an entire course between January 3 and January 24. A variety of day and evening classes will run at each campus, enabling students to sample new areas of study, explore a new career field, or simply pursue a course for personal enrichment.
Register at either campus, December 5-16, Monday-Friday, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m.
JANUARY CREDIT COURSES
☐ Data Processing
☐ Typing
☐ Conventional Italian, French or Spanish
☐ Biology
☐ General Law
☐ Office Procedures
☐ Group Dynamics
☐ Fitness & Health
☐ Income Tax
☐ Word Processing
☐ Creative Writing
☐ Gerontology
☐ Career Planning
☐ American Politics
☐ Algebra
☐ Mental Health
☐ Basic Calculations
☐ Tennis
. . . and more!
JANUARY NON—FOR —CREDIT
☐ Real Estate
☐ Small Business Management
☐ Investments
☐ Sign Language
☐ Personal Finance
☐ Carpentry Skills
☐ Auto Tune-Up
☐ Computer Literacy
☐ Computer Literacy
☐ Electrical and Appliance Repairs
☐ Speed Reading
SPECIAL $1 AUTO MICRO-COURSE
Sat., Jan. 7, from 10 a.m.- 4 p.m. This course, offered as a community service, covers preventive maintenance, buying new cars, cars of the future, mileage, emissions and more. Call 396-1854.
CALL 396-1596 FOR A FREE SCHEDULE
Harbor Campus Lombard at Market Place Baltimore, MD 21202
Liberty Campus 2901 Liberty Heights Ave. Baltimore, MD 21215

Pick us...
...THE TIME IS RIPE.
TEACHER BENEFITS
• HOLIDAYS — nineteen holidays that include two full weeks at Christmas and one full week of spring vacation
• EMPLOYMENT — Work Year: 185 days — beginning in late August and ending in early June. Work Day: 7½ hours including planning time. Pay monthly on 12 month basis. Supplement Pay for extra duties with opportunities for summer school work
• LEAVES — Sick leave: 1½ days per month. Personal leave: 2 days with pay. Professional and Educational leaves
• COMPETITIVE SALARIES
• INSURANCE AND RETIREMENT — fully paid life, hospital, major medical and long term disability insurance (additional coverage available)
• LOAN GRANT PROGRAM — to encourage study for advanced degrees in the assigned teaching position
• TRAVEL EXPENSES — partial reimbursement for the interview and relocation of successful applicants
Florence Public School District One
for a Fulfilling Career
CALL or WRITE:
319 S. Dargan St., Florence, SC 29501
(803)669-4141

ROLAND PARK COUNTRY SCHOOL
ADMISSIONS and MERIT SCHOLARSHIP TESTING for girls entering grades 6 through 12
Saturday, January 28, 1984
Applications must be submitted by January 20, 1984
Competitive Merit Scholarship Awards are based on academic schievement, character, and documented financial need.
For application and financial aid information, call the Admissions Office, 323-5500.

Juggling Your Time?
UMBC's wide range of credit and non-credit courses —day and evening —will not let you drop the ball as you pick up the pieces of your education. UMBC offers affordable, quality degree and non-degree programs at an easy-to-reach location (less than 15 minutes from downtown Baltimore). More than 26 majors, ranging from computer science and economics to molecular biology and social work, to choose from. Inquire now. Don't drop the ball.
For admission and registration information, call 455-2291.
UMBC
University of Maryland Baltimore County
Catonsville, Maryland 21228

Free Checking - No Minimum Balance
5.25% Interest
THE HARBOR BANK OF MARYLAND OFFERS INTEREST-PAYING N.O.W. CHECKING ACCOUNTS*
No minimum balances to maintain -
No service charges - No check charges.
AND LOANS TO FIT YOUR NEEDS
Home Equity Loans - Second Mortgages -
Commercial Loans - Student Loans
Close To The Harbor...
Close To The Needs
Of Our Customers
Open Saturday 9AM-1PM - 1 hour FREE Parking (Saturday only).
HARBOR BANK

SCHOOL of HUMAN ECOLOGY
ARE YOU INTERESTED IN A SCIENCE-BASED MAJOR WHICH WILL PREPARE YOU TO EFFECTIVELY BENEFIT HUMANITY, ESPECIALLY ". . .UNDERSERVED POOR, AND BLACK COMMUNITIES?"
IF SO, ENROLL IN THE SCHOOL OF HUMAN ECOLOGY AT HOWARD UNIVERSITY
Please send me information on the following programs:
Consumer Education and Resource Management
☐ Consumer Studies
☐ Home Economics Education
Human Development
☐ Early Childhood Education
☐ Human Development
Human Nutrition and Food
☐ Dietetics
☐ Human Nutrition and Food
☐ Institutional Food Service Administration
Macroenvironmental and Population Studies
☐ Environmental Science and Policy
Microenvironmental Studies and Design
☐ Fashion
☐ Interior Design
☐ Joint B.S. Degree Program in Dental Hygiene and Human Development, Early Childhood Education, or Human Nuitrition and Food
Name.....
Address.....
City.....State.....Zip.....
CUT OUT AND MAIL TO:
School of Human Ecology
Howard University
2400 Soxth Street, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20059