CHOOSE AND CUT CHRISTMAS TREE FARMS

A sure sign of the approach of the Christmas season in Maryland is the availability of a guide to the state's "Choose and Cut" Christmas tree farms for those who like to obtain the freshest trees around.

The directory is now ready and may be secured at public libraries and Cooperative Extension Service offices across the state or by sending a self-addressed, stamped, business size (No. 10) envelope to: "Christmas Trees," C-O Maryland Department of Agriculture, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, MD 21401.

CHRISTMAS WONDERLAND OF MUSIC

Winter is almost upon us and Christmas is on its way. It's time to get in the Holiday spirit and Lexington Market's got just what you need.

Throughout the entire month of December Lexington Market will be presenting Holiday music from area choirs and groups. They'll get your feet patting and your lips singing. So stop, shop and sing along this Christmas season at Lexington Market.

The following groups will be performing between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on their given days.

DECEMBER

19 Frederick Douglas Senior High School Choir

20 Forest Park Senior High School Choir

22 Jubilee Ensemble of Edmondson Senior High

MARYLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Choir of Men and Boys of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels will perform at the Maryland Historical Society on Sunday, Dec. 18 at 3 p.m.

The Museum will be open, admission is $2 for adults, .75 for children, $4.50 for families. The concert and refreshments are free.

WBAL RADIO SETS CHRISTMAS CAROL

WBAL Radio 11 will present its new production of "A Christmas Carol", a radio dramatization of the Charles Dickens novella beginning the Monday before Christmas.

The cast features WBAL personalities such as morning men Jim West as Marley's Ghost and Bob Jones as Bob Cratchett. Elane Stein as Cratchett's wife and Brian Macdonald as the Spirit of Christmas Past. Some other cast members are Allan Preil, Joe Lombardo, Luther Starnes and Paul Bicknell. Jack Lacy portrays the central character, Ebenezer Scrooge.

The special holiday feature series will begin Monday, Dec. 19 with Act One and continue with a new act each day through Friday, Dec. 23. The times are 9:05 a.m. with a repeat at 5:35 p.m. The entire production will be broadcast uninterrupted at 7:05 p.m. Christmas Eve.

BALTIMORE SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS STUDENTS PERFORM

The Baltimore School for the Arts will perform scenes from the Nutcracker Suite Ballet on Sunday, Dec. 18, at the "Holiday Extravaganza for the Family," sponsored by Artists to End Hunger. This activity will be held in LeClerc Hall at Notre Dame College located on Charles St. and Homeland Ave. at 4 p.m.

Among the many other individual and group performers Peabody Institute Suzuki students will play.

THE MAYOR'S HOLIDAY RECEPTION

Mayor William Donald Schaefer will celebrate the season with "The Mayor's Holiday Reception" for the Public, scheduled Sunday, December 18, 1 until 4 p.m. in City Hall, 100 N. Holiday St. Mayor Schaefer will host the reception and receive the public in the City Hall Ceremonial Room.

Light refreshments will be served and visitors will be entertained by Baltimore City Public School Children. Vocal and Instrumental school groups to be heard include the Frederick Douglass Senior H. S. Choirs; the Saturday School Instrumental Music Group and Choir; the Harford Heights Elementary School Choir; and the Dunbar Middle School Choir.

Children are invited to bring their holiday lists and visit with Santa and his Elves. In addition, Frosty the Snowman and Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer will be there to greet visitors, and Stuartini the Magnificent Magician will do continuous strolling performances.

THE HOLIDAY PROJECT OF BALTIMORE

The Holiday Project of Baltimore, a nationwide, non-profit, public benefit organization, is recruiting 3,000 volunteers to visit people in nursing homes, hospitals and prisons on Christmas Day.

Volunteers will group together at the Downtown Hilton at 11 a.m. on Dec. 25 in order to take small gifts to people in the Baltimore area and surrounding counties who are confined to institutions.

Christmas Day can be the loneliest time of the

EXCLUSIVE "BLACK WINGS" SHOWING AT BWI

"Black Wings: The American Black in Aviation", an exhibition depicting the contributions and achievements of blacks in the field of aviation, will be on view at Baltimore-Washington International Airport (BWI) from Dec. 16 through Jan. 15. The exhibition, which was organized by the Smithsonian's National Air and Space Museum, is touring the United States under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service (SITES).

Carroll H. Hynson, Jr., director of Information and Trade Development at BWI comments, "We are honored to present this exhibition for BWI's passengers and the residents of this area. The State Aviation Administration, the Maryland Department of Transportation, and WJZ-TV are co-sponsoring the exhibit, and we hope that area residents, students, and people interested in aviation will plan a visit to BWI to see the displays."

"Black Wings" tells the relatively unknown yet intriguing story of black experiences in aviation—from Eugene Bullard's service in France in World War I to the black astronauts assigned to the Space Shuttle.

Participation of blacks in aviation did not come easily. Men, and at times women, found themselves excluded from flight instruction solely on the basis of race. Georgia-born Eugene Bullard, the world's first black combat pilot in World War I, and early 1920's stunt pilot Bessie Coleman, the first American black to receive a pilot's license, were both forced to train in France because of their color.

"The achievements of blacks in aviation are more heroic considering the obstacles they had to overcome," Von Hardesty, curator of the exhibit, says. "And blacks played a significant role in aviation. It's a story that's never been told before on such a scale."

Included in the exhibition are photographs, beginning from the 1920's and videotape of the Tuskegee Army Airfield in Alabama. The first all-black fighter units, known as the "Tuskegee Airmen," were trained at Tuskegee. Highlights of black participation in World War II are also featured. The exhibit film is narrated by Benjamin O. Davis, Jr., the first black American Air Force general and commander of the Tuskegee-trained 332nd Fighter Group.

A model of a P-51, one of the fighters used by the Tuskegee airmen, will also be part of the exhibit. The exhibition will be housed in the South Terminal Passenger Lounge area.

UNITED BLACK FUND

On Wednesday, Dec. 21, beginning at 5 p.m., the United Black Fund of Greater Baltimore. will host its first annual Christmas Party, 2118 St. Paul St.

During this festive occasion, the UBFGB will give away seven food baskets to those agencies who have applied to the United Black Fund of Greater Baltimore for funds.

On Dec. 4, 1983, the UBFGB gave Project Genesis its check in the amount of $750. to begin its Kick-off Fund-raising Drive.

The United Black Fund of America, in 1982, was able to provide a grant in the amount of $250,000 to Howard University for a Cancer Mobile Unit for senior citizens in the Washington, D.C. area.

The United Black Fund is a charitable, non-profit organization who directs all of its efforts and the money received through donations and fund-raising efforts, to the black and minority communities.

The UBF, in the last 15 years, provided funds for 65 member agencies. There are currently 27 affiliates. And, in the Nation's capitol, it has been established that the United Black Fund is meeting unmet needs.

President Regan conveyed his thanks to our National President in a telephone conversation which lasted for 26 minutes.
