JACKSON'S HOLIDAY GALA

On Friday, Dec. 16 Mrs. Carrie Jackson entertained all of her friends who are staunch in supporting her when it's time to purchase those tickets for her Zeta dance in the spring. (Carrie's of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority).

And what an evening it was. Starting at 5:30 p.m., guests came in steady streams to Carrie and hubby Al's beautifully decorated and appointed Liberty Heights Ave. home.

They were not disappointed. The exterior of the house was welcoming with Christmas decorations on door and porch. Inside there were more decorations and a warmth that was so pervading that, even though the evening was supposed to end at 7:30, at 9 p.m., many were still there.

Carrie had a virtual smorgasbord of goodies including smoked turkey, smoked shoulder (which Carrie had done up with her own special recipe in such a magnificent fashion that it tasted like Smithfield ham), raw bar, other vegetables, salads, cheeses, condiments, and several luscious desserts.

Every few minutes Carrie's grandson, home from college, and two of his buddies, were asking this guest or that one "May I freshen your drink?" They were charmingly attentive.

A lively hubbub of talk continued throughout the evening and the festive air was prevailing, with many peals of laughter as several told jokes, and related amusing experiences.

Out for this holiday gala were Lee and Louise Lassiter, Alma and Robert Walker, Evelyn and Bernard Thomas, Margaret and Joe Jackson, Anne and Jack Blaney, Muriel and Paul Johnson, Queenie and Hubert Lane, Maile and Ike Moody, Evelon and John Bennett, Zelma and George Douglass, Evelyn and Robert "Chink" Smith, Bea and Charles Payne;

Also Bernadine Johnson Emma Roberts, Peggy J. Washington, Margaret Waddell, Rosalie McGuire, Dr. E. Fran Johnson, Jean Powell, Ruth Smith, Muriel Wilson;

And Wilbert A. James, Larry Pratt, James Fletcher, Al Patterson and A. Harrison Vessells.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER

The Rev. Esther Melcher, very active in both religious circles and in community affairs, was honored Tuesday, Dec. 20 at a surprise birthday dinner hosted by her children Mrs. Vandalear Price, Adrienne Melcher, Emanuel and James Melcher at the honoree's Lexington St. apartment.

The Rev. Melcher was showered with flowers, cards and gifts, and she cut a beautifully-decorated birthday cake.

An extra feature for the honoree was that many people who knew her had been calling Radio Stations WEBB, WSAA and WAYE to dedicate songs in honor of her birthday from Friday, Dec. 16 until Tuesday. Many people also telephoned messages of congratulations to the honoree at home.

A special birthday congratulations came from the "We Need Prayer Headquarters," headed by the Rev. Mary Antoinette Phillips and all of the members and friends of that organization.

It was a thrilling birthday celebration for the Rev. Melcher, who plans to continue all of her activities.

PHI DELTA KAPPA CONCLAVE

The 60th Anniversary Conclave of The National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, Inc. was held recently in Los Angeles, California. The Beta Phi Chapter of Compton, California was the host Chapter.

The theme of the Conclave was "Pursuit of Excellence - A Challenge to Fulfill".

Many workshops were given which provided opportunities for professional development and enrichment for all persons in attendance.

During the conference Soror Ardena Dixon of Baltimore was installed as the Eastern Regional Director of Phi Delta Kappa.

Baltimore's Gamma Chapter will serve as the host Chapter for the 61st anniversary conclave which will be held at Baltimore Hyatt Regency Hotel in August 1985.

Sorors representing Gamma at the Conclave were Nellie Bowie, Ardena Dixon, Leana Ferrell, Rose Gallop and Marjorie Hunt.

BOOTH'S AND YOUNG'S FAMILY REUNION ASSOC.

The children of the late Elsworth Young, Mamie Smith, Mable Bowley, and the children of Mildren Ford and Anna Williams of Baltimore, Md have formed a Family Association organized to have a reunion.

Plans are on the way for a "gala" affair.

The organization is chaired by Geraldine Morris, and the affair will be coordinated by Ms. Ellen Stokes. Other members are: Baltimore - Dora Adams, Mildred Baily, Carroll Holland, Osborne Williams, Dennis Adams, Shirley Contee, Charles Young, Estelle Boykins, Daniel Williams, Garland Williams, Louis Williams, Jr., Regina Bowley, Tyrone Hyster, and Derrick Dent - Youth Representative.

Out-of-town: Louise Hunter, Carol Sydney, Clarence Williams, Donald Williams, Albert Williams, Maxine Harcum, and Annie Mae Harris, Beatrice Adams, Henrietta Robinson - Senior Representative.

"CONCEPTS OF NETWORKING" discussed by Guest "It's not always Who you know, but What you know that counts, or can get you places: on the other hand, it's Who you know that helps you make good contacts, while you're out there!"

These were the words of a Woman, speaking to Women...: Members of Freedom Chapter, of the American Business Women's Association, when WJZ-TV's Chrystal Johns told them how she had "made it".

Chrystal had studied Corporate Law, and has a Master's degree in Marketing. She is presently Associate Producer of the daytime guest show, entitled: "People Are Talking."

She did not set out to work in TV, she said...but to learn by experience, to generate momentum for the next step of Dream-Building. Chrystal also pointed out that Jobs can mesh themselves to help you make the best, positive use of your training.

Freedom Chapter members were interested in her present job at WJZ-TV...what her duties were, and did she come in contact with Oprah Winfrey and the other newscasters?

Chrystal explained her P.R. position as one that goes far beyond the title...like finding satisfactory guests for the "People Are Talking" show.

Once she locates the person she desires for the program Chrystal researches that person, then gets them to agree to come to Baltimore to be a guest.

She then has to prepare her script, arrange for suitable hospitality, and take care of a lot of small items that will help to enhance that individual for the interview and for the audience appeal.

Chrystal stated that marketing and public relations are so closely associated, it just depends upon the commodity you're selling as to the terminology used.

Theme for the Year: "Education . Meeting Tomorrow's Needs". The Committee has also expressed their Scholarship Goals, such as: to meet outstanding Scholarship indebtedness; to nominate Women for the Grant; to award $1,500.00 in local Scholarships; to contribute $250.00 to the Scholarship Fund and to make Awards to six (6) Recipients.

Mrs. Michael P. Koger
Recent bride

The ceremony, performed by Robert Veil, was at the Eastside Church of Christ.

The bride's attendants included Miss Renee Brummell, maid of honor; bridesmaids Mrs. Gail Cornish (bride's aunt); Miss Karen Koger (sister of the groom) and Mrs. Andrea Hall. Flower girls were Erica Evans, Ivy Evans and Soni Gladden.

Best man was Dr. Linwood Graves Koger III, brother of the groom. Ushers were Everett Ross, Casper Pigott III and Casper Hancock. Ringbearer was Brian Hancock.

The bride is a graduate of Hillsborough Community College, Tampa, FL, with an RN Degree. The groom is a graduate of McMurry Medical College, Nashville, TN, with an M.D. Degree.

A reception was hosted for the couple at Martin's Eastwind, immediately following the ceremony.

The new Dr. and Mrs. Koger, who honeymooned in Paris, France, are at home in Randallstown, MD.

—PIERIANS

Washington, president of the Baltimore chapter, who gave the occasion and did a marvelous job especially when she gave the heritage of the chapter.

The objective of the Pierians, Inc. is to bring together persons, but particularly women, who are interested in seeking a deeper appreciation of the arts and other artistic expressions in order to promote and encourage the study and engagement of the arts.

The Pierians was founded in Baltimore, MD Dec. 13, 1968 by Mrs. Annette C. Johnson who gave birth to the organization. She had a dream on her sick bed and shared it with Mrs. (Mamie) Jerome Todd while being visited by her.

Others were invited to become charter members. They are: Mrs. G. James Fleming (Hazel); Mrs. James M. Mebane (Charlotte), Mrs. Jewel Moseley, Mrs. Glenford Mussenden (Lydia), Mrs. Glenn Tarter (Gwendolyn) and Mrs. Jerome Todd (Mamie).

The name Pierians is taken from the word "pieria" which was a region in ancient Macedonia, one of the earlier seats of the Muses.

The Baltimore Pierians expanded by inducting the Washington chapter in 1979 with Mrs. Joyce M. Hickman, president, and the Columbia chapter in 1983 with Mrs. Celonia B. Walden, president.

There are some projects that the Baltimore Pierians will always remain remembered by, such as the purchasing works of the masters that were traveling exhibits from school to school.

The group presented three Annette Johnson scholarships to outstanding students at Baltimore School for the Arts.

Cosponsoring an outstanding art exhibit with Morgan Art Gallery for the community, they support each year a worthwhile cause, such as The AFRO - AMERICAN Newspapers Mrs. Santa, Mrs. Washington stated that these were some of the dreams that became a reality in the past twenty-five years.

The organization received many greetings including one from President Ronald Reagan, and a proclamation from Governor Harry H. Hughes.

Mrs. Jody Albright, representing Mayor Schaefer's office gave some inspiring remarks. She called Mrs. Celonia Walden, Columbia chapter president to share the mike with her because it was Mrs. Walden that introduced her to the Baltimore Pierians many years ago.

A resolution also came from Maryland Legislature Black Caucus, Robert R. Johnson, assistant Director for Curatorial Affairs, Walters Art Gallery and Dr. Jessie M. Colson, National President, The Pierians.

The highlight of the program came when Mrs. Jewel Moseley introduced the founder of the Pierians, Mrs Ernest B. Johnson who was dressed in a beautiful gown. She had this to say:

"You and I have had the privilege of enjoying together this evening the magnificent show Ivory. Even though our organization has reached a very important milestone in Pierian history, we will never forget those who helped us in our beginning years, our charter members, the other chapter presidents, and because of the assistance given by our husbands." She then thanked the many friends for encouraging the members to be innovative and creative over the years.

Another highlight of the program came when Mrs. Glenn Tarter made a presentation to professor James E. Lewis, husband of Pierian Jacqueline Lewis. Dr. Lewis, director of Art Gallery, Morgan State University had worked in co-sponsor of art shows and exhibitions for the Pierians over the twenty - five years.

Mrs. Lester B. Wallace made the presentation to Mr. Norman Ross, Executive Director, Urban Services Cultural Arts Program, City of Baltimore. Ross has helped many young people in the field of art to move on to bigger things. He has sponsored many noted dance companies in the State of Maryland.

There are twenty five beautiful ladies in the Baltimore chapter and they all have served well. Each member received a gift on their 25th anniversary, a symbol of love. The members are, in addition to the charter members and founder, Dr. Pearl C. Brackett, Mrs. Raymond Haysbert, Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins, Mrs. Arthur C. Lamb, Mrs. James E. Lewis, Mrs. Clarence Monroe, Mrs. Harold Ramsey, Mrs. J. C. Reaves, Mrs. Medford B. Reynolds, Mrs. Verda Welcome, Mrs. Ruth S. Welling, Mrs. Donald O. Wilson, Mrs. Lester Norris, Mrs. Chaterine Wilson, Mrs. G. Luther Washington, Mrs. Lester B. Wallace, Mrs. Lionel Desbordes, Mrs. William B. Russell and Mrs. Saul Perdue.

After the program guests returned to the main court for a toast to the Pierians led by Dr. Saul Perdue, followed by a dessert hour.

The twenty - fifth anniversary committee members were: Mrs. James M. Mebane, chairperson; Mrs. I. Bradshaw Higgins, Mrs. Ernest B. Johnson, Mrs. Clarence Monroe, Mrs. Jewel Moseley, Mrs. Saul Perdue, Mrs. J. C. Reaves, Mrs. William B. Russell, Mrs. Glenn Tarter and Mrs. Lester B. Wallace.

A gala "fun" party was held recently at the beautiful home of member Sandra Gray in the new section of Dorsey Hall —the Links annual Christmas Party, usually held in the middle of the day.

The fun party started at 3 p.m. after members parked their modern cars in the driveway and lined the street with them. Neighbors most certainly knew that it must have been something special going on, because the ladies looked the part in their cars and out of them also.

Gracious hostess Mrs. Gray, along with the committee members, welcomed the guests and led them to a comfortable family room where they immediately opened up their warmth and the conversation began.

Some members invited guests to the luncheon party. Guests included Ann Gardner, Betty Fennell, Mary Bracey, Gail Clark, Gail Judson, Donna Rice, Doris Brown, Edda Francois, Particia Waddy, Ann Galiber and others.

Lus Marie Webster, chairperson for the affair and committee members Maxine Peirce and Marilyn Beale had it all together. Each person was asked to introduce herself give name, native home, number of children, and her occupation, hobbies and favorite foods. Well, with that experience we sure learned a lot especially about food.

The introduction was followed by a well-prepared buffet luncheon displayed nicely on Mrs. Gray's spacious dining room table, with the red linen tablecloth and the Christmas decorations, including lights flickering on the Christmas tree. Candy canes stacked around a tall candy dish really made you feel that Santa Claus was not far away.

While eating the hearty luncheon, some went back for seconds and some for thirds. When among good company one never worries about calories, because the food and fellowship are oh, so good.

There was so much laughing at one table that some members wanted to join that group. You know it's always someone who will engage in a deep conversation and members join their pros and cons, yet respect the other's opinions and that's where the fun starts.

It was dessert time and some members wanted small pieces and some members wanted to start with 2 pieces and they did. The Glamour Lady, Shirley Colvin served our table and did such a marvelous job that we had fun by asking her to work for us as our maid, all in fun. It surely was received in good taste and that's the way it should be.

Lus Marie led the Christmas Carols and it really got the ladies in a good Christmas mood.

Members exchanged gifts and those members who brought a guest brought an extra gift. They never knew what number was being chosen but when your number was called, you then received your gift.

I can say, the Links sure know how to put on a fun party.

Some of the members wore Christmas colors or coordinated accessories in Christmas colors. Mable Beale wore a beautiful kelly green silk dress, while her daughter wore red and daughter in law, Marilyn chose red and black.

Shirley Colvin wore a gorgeous white suit. Ozella Webb, red and green; president Lola Smith chose red all the way very stunning; Celonia Walden chose red stockings, shoes and scarf, coordinated nicely with an ultra suede gray suit.
