STAR TREK CONVENTION

A Star Trek convention, "Clippercon," will be held Friday, February 17 through Sunday, February 19, 1984 at Marriott's Hunt Valley Inn (I-83 and Shawan Road) in Cockeysville, MD. Nichelle Nichols ("Lt. Uhura") will be the special guest.

During the convention a drawing will be held to choose two winners of a champagne brunch with Nichelle Nichols. Another special feature will be "Omega," a trippie-screen slide and sound perspective of Star Trek the TV series.

A charity auction to benefit the Missionaries of Charity and the Baltimore Ronald McDonald House will be held Friday night. Various items on the theme of Star Trek (books, artwork, decorations, etc.) will be sold.

UMOJA HARAMBEE COMMITTEE

The Come To Life Collective, Inc., in conjunction with the Umoja Harambee Committee, will be holding, on February 19, 1984, from 12 noon until 8 p.m., the First Initiation Ceremony of the Re-Birth, at the Calvert Education Center (Liberty Hall), located at North Avenue and Calvert Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

The Collective/Committee is a non-profit organization which was founded over three years ago. Our purpose and mission is dedicated to the spiritual, cultural and economic uplifting of black people.

The First Initiation Ceremony of the Re-Birth will be the first mass state-and/or city-wide name changing ceremony. This ceremony was formulated because we are aware of more and more people of African descent who are discarding European names and taking on more traditional type names — ones which they feel better reflect them as human beings and their present station in the human family.

BLACK HISTORY MONTH CELEBRATED AT THE CLOISTERS

Black History Month will be celebrated in a full calendar of performances, demonstrations and workshops to provide exposure to a rich cultural heritage. An exhibition entitled "Through Our Eyes, The Black Educational Experience in Baltimore, 1900-1940" will be on view throughout the month of February. Sponsored jointly by Coppin State College and the Maryland Committee for the Humanities, it features photographs and other memorabilia shared by individuals who were students of Douglass, Dunbar, Coppin and Morgan. The Cloisters Children's Museum is located 1000 Park Ave. at 103 Rd. between Old Court Rd. and Tyson Rd. The exhibition is open during museum hours and is free to the public.

Other items on display throughout the month include: African fabric, sculpture, and musical instruments from Morgan State University's Gallery of Art; Black dolls by Nkekanda and Nefarete Walker; ceramics and jewelry by Hiram Amsterdam; and bulletin board displays by Cynthia Simpson with maps of Africa, pictures and information handouts.

Special art workshops will be offered from 12:30-4:00 p.m. each Saturday that will involve children in a variety of projects influenced by African art and African Heritage.

The month's schedule is as follows:

Saturday, February 4: Emmett Amos, sculptor, demonstrates wood carving techniques 12 until 4 p.m.

Melissa Bunce, presents storytelling of African folktales; 2 p.m.

The public is welcomed to attend the unveiling of Baltimore's finest Cultural Center. Come in, and share this cultural experience with the Anacostia Cultural Arts Foundation. Monthly Cultural Arts Calendar will be available on the main level of the Mall on Saturdays.

GET A RESPITE FROM WINTER BY VOLUNTEERING AT THE AQUARIUM

Beginning this March, men and women can get a respite from winter by doing volunteer work in the tropical and temperate marine environments at the National Aquarium in Baltimore.

The Aquarium needs volunteers age 18 and older to work in the galleries surrounding the Assateague Beach, California Kelp Forest, Atlantic Coral Reef and Amazon Rain Forest exhibits among others. Volunteers greet and convey information to visitors in the galleries, prepare food for tropical fish and birds, and prune vegetation in the Aquarium's "jungle."

Specific positions include exhibit guide, information desk receptionist, aviculturist, horticulturist, classroom aquarist, gift shop clerk, and office assistant.

Exhibit guides attend five all-day training sessions on Saturdays in March and April. Assistants for the information desk, gift shop, and offices participate in an all-day workshop on March 24 and receive three days of on-the-job training. Training for horticulturists, aviculturists, and classroom aquarists will be arranged after recruitment.

All volunteers receive discounts on purchases at the Aquarium's gift shop and cafe, a monthly newsletter, opportunities to attend free continuing education classes, invitations to parties and special programs, and other benefits.

The deadline for receipt of applications is March 9. For an application or additional information, call the Aquarium's Volunteer Office at 576-3886.

NAVAL ACADEMY OBSERVES BLACK HISTORY MONTH

The United States Naval Academy will emphasize the accomplishments of black Americans during its February observance of Black History Month.

Throughout the month, lectures, and performances at the academy will give midshipmen, staff, faculty and the public an appreciation of the many roles played by blacks in the development of this country.

All events are free and open to the public on a first come, first served basis. Scheduled events include:

Thursday, Feb. 2 - Address by Carl Snowden, who is active in Annapolis and Maryland Minority Rights Groups. His presentation, "The Civil Rights Movement —Its Success or Failure?", will be in Michelson Hall, Room 103 at 7:15 p.m.

Sunday, Feb. 5 - A religious service with guest Minister, Rev. Leroy Bowman of the First Baptist Church of Annapolis and the Georgetown University Gospel Choir, in the Main Chapel. at 11:00 p.m.

Friday, Feb. 24 - William Warfield, a baso-baritone vocalist, accompanied by pianist Robert Ray, presents a program of "Old American Songs and Spirituals" in Mitscher Hall Auditorium at 3:00 p.m. There will be no seating after the concert begins.

Saturday, Feb. 25 - Roy Ayers, jazz musician, will share views of his music and heritage in Mitscher Hall Auditorium at 3:30 p.m.

HELP STOP CHILD ABUSE, NOW!

You can make a difference. Help stop child abuse, NOW! The Exchange Club Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse of Maryland Inc. needs volunteers. We are a private, non-profit program helping families in Baltimore City, Baltimore County, and Carroll County. Each volunteer works with one family in their home. They assist them in problem-solving, build the confidence and self-worth of the parents, and provide parenting information so that they discipline without abuse and relate to their children in a healthy way.

Volunteers are needed to break the cycle of child abuse. Our next training begins Feb. 27, 1984. If interested, please call 576-0434.

FURNITURE REFINISHING WORKSHOP

The Social Work Department of Morgan State University is sponsoring a furniture refinishing workshop, "Artistry in Wood", on February 4 and 5 at Morgan State University. EUBIE BLAKE MEMORABILIA

To commemorate Black History Month, the Maryland Historical Society presents Eubie Blake Memorabilia, most of it unveiled for the first time. Included will be a baton that he used in conducting "Shuffle Along." On display the month of February in the glass corridor of the Maryland Historical Society.

In addition, prints and photographs from the Society Collection that illustrate Black History in Maryland may be seen on the second floor gallery.

COMMUNITY GARDENING

Community gardening has been beneficial in changing vacant lots from trash covered areas into productive inner-city patches of tomatoes, lima beans or corn. The communal attitude of early settler has been rediscovered as neighbors come together, one providing a rake, another a hoe, another seeds, and work to improve their environment. Both young and old have found through gardening a way to stay active and healthy as well as save money.

Last year, 1,900 Baltimore gardeners, in a UMCES survey, reported they had raised $700,000 worth of vegetables on 10 acres scattered throughout the city.

Jacquelyn Keller, who coordinates the UMCES urban gardening program, is interested in helping other Baltimore residents reap the benefits of having a garden. The CES will sponsor "Organizing Community Gardens," 9 a.m. until 1 p.m., Saturday, March 3, 1984 at the Oliver Multi-Purpose Center. Discussions will include, "How to Organize Community Gardens," "Basic Vegetable Gardening," and acquiring vacant lots from the city, and also feature demonstrations of stir-fry vegetables and food preservation. East Baltimore gardener, Lucille Gorham, who is building a greenhouse on a once vacant lot, will discuss her success as an inner-city farmer.

Exhibits will include a seed germination test, stages of seed sprouts, and identification and control of insects that can plague gardens. Participants are asked to bring one half cup of soil for Ph testing; test results will indicate if lime is necessary.

For further information contact: Jacquelyn H. Keller, University of Maryland, Cooperative Extension Service, 17 S. Gay St., Baltimore, MD 21202 or call 396-1868.

NEW STROKE CLUB FORMED

The American Heart Association has announced the formation of a new Stroke Club for the Towson and surrounding areas. The first meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 28 at 8 p.m. in the Doctor's Lecture Room at St. Joseph Hospital. Interested stroke patients and their families are invited to attend. A physician and several health professionals will be present to answer any questions and discuss the physical and psychological problems facing stroke victims and their families. Participation is free, but pre-registration is mandatory. Anyone interested should call Nancy Mayer at 685-7074 by Feb. 15 to register.
