Flair 'Teen Model of the Year' crowned

Flair teens star in 'Fashion Explosion'

That "winning feeling...Renee Johnson has it. A charming, slender 5'7" 1984 graduate of Northwestern High School, Renee was recently selected as the Flair Teen Model of the Year. In addition to winning the coveted prize of modeling in Flair's fashion shows for the next year, Renee also won a cash prize. She intends to use it to help with her education at Morgan State University, which she expects to attend as a Business Major in the Spring 1985 semester.

Renee was crowned by Pamela Clayton of Seton High School who was the first runner up in the 1983 pageant. Pamela accepted the crown in mid year when the reigning queen, Tracey Gatewood, left the city to attend Andover Academy in Andover, Massachusetts. Tracey, incidentally, now a tenth grader at Andover, writes that she has done some recent modeling in the Andover area.

Flair's annual teen fashion show and pageant was held at Forest Park Senior High School on October 28. Fourteen area teens were judged on appearance, presence, personality and poise in demanding four part contest.

The first runner-up prize went to Marcia Shropshire, Eastern High School; Sophia Carter, Morgan State University and Tiffani Mason of Eastern High School tied for the second runner up position; and Angela Johnson of the Polytechnic Institute was third runnerup Sophia Carter was also voted Miss Congeniality by the contestants.

Others in the pageant included: Dmonique Ampney, Ridgely Middle School; Tanya Greenhill, Archbishop Keough High School; Dionne Hankins, a graduate of Brooklyn High School; Angel Haskins, Western High School; Monique Pinkney, Western High School, Charlotte Scaff, Southwestern High School; Lynae Turner, Fallstaff Middle School, Tracey Williams, Northern High School and Verna Wells, Roland Park Middle School.

Knowledgeable judges represented a variety of fashion professions. Model panelists included Cee Cee Stokes, Eric Tharrington and Delores Rich of "Lady D" productions, Darryl Lynch, manager of Mondawmin's Merry Go Round fashion store, fashion coordinator Gwen Brown, designer Sandra Wilkins and educator Dale Brown completed the panel.

The contestants were supported by a large, enthusiastic contingent of other Flair teen models who sparkled in the production of "Fashion Explosion 84". Coordination and choreography for the show and pageant were created and directed by Andree Bland Travis. Principal assistants were Quianna Cooke, Brenda Laney, Gwen Kellam, Florine James, Mary and Robert Gafford and Alice Tucker. Willia Bland is Director of Flair Models.

Other participants included: Tonja Adams, Rashunda Bellamy, Karen Bates, Anissa Brown, Nikia Brown, Tracey Brown, Yolanda Brown, Rhonda Boozer, Denise Chavis, Pamela Clayton, Bryan Coley, Cheryl Davis, Ivy Dixon, Donyelle Dorsey, Keisha Fleming, Gregory Garland, Valerie Geiger, Christina Gladden, Sharon Golder, Mona Hanson, Monica Harper, Lynell Hart;

And Brian Hawkins, Michelle Herbert, Ramona Holmes, Tamara James, Ernest Johnson, Nikki Johnson, Tanya Johnson, Tawanna Langley, Tonia Lawson, Trena Lewis, Eric Miles, Noel Montague, Isha Moses, Melanie Muldrew, Antoinette Nixon, Judity Robinson, Sereathia Ruffin, Lea Smith, Sherri Terrell, Raquel Williams, Tara Wofford and Tracey Barnett.

Your Baltimore White Pages announces a friendly separation.

A separation for three different types of listings—residence, government, and business. So, when you need the number of a friend, government office, business or organization, simply look in the appropriate section. You'll find the number faster and easier than ever.

In addition, we've made the directory easier to read by printing family last names in bold type and listing them once in a column. We also printed first names larger. The customer guide pages in the front of the book have been revised as well. They contain new information that will answer just about any question concerning your C&P telephone service.

At C&P, we think the new bold type and separated sections make the Baltimore White Pages better than ever. And, make looking for a telephone number as easy as turning the page.

Alpha Kappa Alpha 'Salute'

By Pattie Hodges

In what was an afternoon of inspiring activities, the Epsilon Omega Chapter, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority held its 10th annual Salute to Outstanding Young Women Saturday, Nov. 3 at high noon.

A capacity crowd gathered at the Forum, Primrose Ave., for a luncheon-program which honored 35 young ladies. They were saluted for their high scholastic achievement, talent and community service. All are either college or university graduates who now hold positions in various fields or are now attending institutions of higher learning, and all were sponsored by Alpha Kappa Alpha sorors.

The theme for the occasion was Century 21 Projections. Salute chairperson Jean B. Owens presided. Greetings focusing on "Energizing for the 21st Century" were given by Epsilon Omega Chapter Basileus Gilda J. Garrett, and the grace sung beautifully by Alicia M. Alston.

Presenting the 1984 honorees were Robin Kane and Janice Young, Salute' honorees of 1979 and 1975 respectively.

Resplendent in gorgeous gowns of all styles and colors, the young ladies floated in to their head table places, escorted by Derrick Dorsey, Anthony Levey and Bernard Hunter, Junior R.O.T.C. members from Douglass High School.

A melodious musical interlude during the luncheon, (which featured prime rib of beef), was provided by the Bob Smith Trio.

The Occasion was given by Virginia B. Vaula, who founded the Salute' in 1975.

Anniversary greetings were forthcoming from former honorees Rosearl J. West (1977) Cre Saundra Sills ('79) Director, Career Development, Loyola College and Pamila Brown ('81).

Two of the 1984 honorees displayed their talents—Anita Taylor, mezzo soprano, who sang two solos in a voice thrilling to the assemblage, and Joyce Caldwell, who spoke eloquently on Century 21 Projections'. Karen Polley, a '75 honoree, also sang a selection, "Bleed Now, Thou Broken Heart."

The honorees were presented with Proclamations from the governor and certificates from the sorority. Jean T. Adams also presented to basileus Gilda Garrett the Governor's Proclamation declaring Nov. 3 as 'Salute to Outstanding Young Women Day in Baltimore,' and the mayor by Carolyn Brown. Maxine J. Wood, representing City School Superintendent Alice Pinderhughes, gave remarks of commendation to the honorees.

The honorees were recognized and asked to stand, along with their parents and sponsors by chairperson Jean B. Owens, who also recognized former scholarship winners, sorors and the Salute' committee.

There was also recognition of former honorees and scholarship recipients by Elizabeth S. Williams.

INVITE 100% FLORIDA GRAPEFRUIT JUICE TO YOUR NEXT PARTY AND WATCH IT MIX.

Alone, I'm great. But sometimes, I put a little rum in my rhumba...

Or vodka. Or gin.

I'm such a great partner, let the music begin.

Fresh, clean, 100% Florida Grapefruit Juice is the all-natural cooler that can really warm up your next party—mix it up in all these good-time ways.

SUMMER RHUMBA

One part RUM is what makes this 12-ounce glass of Florida Grapefruit Juice extra-special. Cool it off with cubes or crushed ice, a pineapple slice—and let the good times roll.

MINT COOLER

Very inviting: one part VODKA in a 12-ounce glass filled with Florida Grapefruit Juice. Crushed ice—or cubes—a sprig of mint topped by a bright cherry... very cooling.

GIN SING

This sun-filled refresher starts with one part GIN in a 12-ounce glass of Florida Grapefruit Juice. On the rocks. And just for fun, slip in an orange slice and fresh cherry.

State of Florida, Department of Citrus 1983
