Bear season lengthens

No pun is intended when it suggested that the beginning of the sports hunting season coincides with Morgan State's Saturday visit to Jackson (Miss.) State.

The Bear football contingent has the misfortune to meet a team which last Saturday stopped a Grambling win streak. The Tigers bounded winning coach Eddie Robinson's outfit, 35-26.

Coach Jesse Thomas and his Bears are suffering a session that grows longer by the week.

HENRY BROWN giving $1,000 per game $1,000 each, 12 games

'Bud' supports BET football

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Budweiser will again sponsor the Most Valuable Player Award on the Black Entertainment Television college football Game of the Week. It was announced by Henry H. Brown, vice president of marketing development and affairs at Anheuser-Busch Inc.

Budweiser will award $1,000 per game to the general scholarship funds of the schools whose teams are featured in the game of the week. The total contribution from Budweiser for the 1985 season will be $12,000 for black higher education.

Each school will get $500 in the name of its MVP for each particular game shown on the BET game of the week.

"This is the fifth year we have sponsored this award which recognizes the accomplishments of these student-athletes seen each week on BET," said Brown. "This is simply one program through which Anheuser-Busch demonstrates its support for minority education and black institutions of higher learning."

AFRO's Mrs. Santa's 6th Annual Softball Banquet at Odell's

Fatima, the Fire Eater and Dancer, along with Kevin K., the Michael Jackson look-alike, Count Kelveno, and Ronald Tapp, the Prince look-alike, will be entertaining at the 6th Annual AFRO Mrs. Santa Softball Banquet to be held November 2, 1985 at Odell's.

Maxine Day, Hawaiian Dancer will also be performing.

Trina Miller, and her lovely models will display fashions courtesy of Maggie's Place.

Tomorrow's (Nov. 2) festivities, a gala event to be held at Odell's featuring free food and entertainment will officially bring the 1985 Mrs. Santa Softball Marathon to a close and the Sixth Annual event will only serve as a memorandum for next year's event.

Thus far, this year's event has drawn large crowds of cheering fans, many cooperative softball teams, support from radio personalities, contributions and donations from businesses, entertainers, and city officials alike, and at AFRO press time $1,155.75 had been collected via the efforts of those involved in this year's marathon.

The Softball Marathon, appropriately tagged "Christmas in August" got underway officially this year on Friday August 23 as members from such teams as The Bulldogs, Westside Bombers, Morgan Cougars, Greasy Jacks All-Star Ladies, Sabers, Night Hawks and WWIN met in Druid Hill Park. However, opening game festivities were not held until Saturday morning, August 24 on Diamond 7 with Ms. Andrienne Watson, a Miss Talented Teen participant, singing "Lift Every Voice and Sing."

Saturday yielded a nice day of ball playing, thus fundraising, but Sunday was a different story altogether. The teams were rained out and it way decided that perhaps another weekend should be added. Therefore, the teams met again during the weekend of September 7-8 and combated the heat and bugs to make an enjoyable weekend out of two extremely hot days that could have been disasterous.

All in all, 39 teams gave of themselves of their time to make this years event what it was. (But on a sad note, there are 21 teams that have not turned in their entry fees of $50.) The 39 teams who participated in this years marathon are: The Associates, Bombers, Bruins, Bulldogs, Cedar Hill, Cherry Hill Cougars, Chicago, Club Climax, Crusaders, Dotson's, Dr. J's, Dynasty, Emonans, Figgs-Titans, Foster's Raiders, Greasy Jack's AllStar Ladies, Jay's, Livingston, McDonald's Raiders, Morgan Cougars, Ms. Desserts, M.T.A., North West Avengers, Outcast, Pimilco Hit Squad, Redwood Smokers, Renegades, Romans, Royal Cab, Sabers, Selts, Steps, Strikers, Vanity, V-103, Westside Bombers, The Wild Bunch, and WWIN.

Thus we come to the event at hand: In honor of the 39 participating teams and many other people who gave of themselves, the Sixth Annual Mrs. Santa Softball Banquet will be held at Odell's on Saturday, Nov. 2 from 5 until 10 p.m.

Free food and entertainment will be available to each team member who will be allowed to bring one guest with tickets which were mailed to Captains and/or Coaches. Highlighting the list of entertainment is; Ms Amy Keys-Miss Maryland 1983, Ken Dixon-Baltimore Oriole Pitcher, The Amazing Josini-Magician & Ventrioquist Ricky Dee-Singer (Billy Dee Williams look-a-like), Fatima-Fire Eater & Dancer, Kevin K-Michael Jackson look-a-like, Count Kelveno-Magician, Kuumba-Cabaret Production, Trina Miller & Her Models-Fashion Show, Break Dancers, Maxine Day-Hawiian Dancer, Wade Brown-vocalist, Split Second- Band, Vanity-Exotic Dancers and Emceeing the event is Eric Henson from WWIN radio.

Each participating team will receive a team trophy and each team member will receive a certificate. Trophies and certificates will be presented by Mr. Ken Dixon of the Orioles.

Marvis Martin

Marvis Martin

With equal acclaim for her performance in opera, recital, and with orchestra, soprano Marvis Martin has been hailed by the international press for the beauty of her and will bring her gift for sensitive communication to the opening concert of the Baltimore Choral Arts Societys 20th Anniversary season Sunday, Nov. 3 in the Kraushaar Auditorium, Goucher College.

Miss Martin, a native Miami, Fla. and a graduate of the University of Miami and the Manhattan School of Music, made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera on tour in 1982 as Pamina in "The Magic Flute." She returned to the Met in New York for the 1982-83 season to sing Zenia in Mussourgsky's "Boris Godunvon," the Princess in Ravel's "L' Enfant et les sortikpleges," and the Celestial Voice in "Don Carlos." She has also sung Liu in "Turando in Bogota, Colombia and Ismeme in Mozart's "Mitridate" at the Aix-en-Provence Festival.

Her European concerts include her Paris debut in 1980 with the Radio Orchestra of Paris in Donizetti's rarely heard "Maria de Rudenz" and the Mozart Mass in c minor in Aachen, Germany in 1981.

Marvis Martin's extraordinary praised New York recital debut was given in 1981 at the 92nd Street Y as part of the Kathleen Ferrier Prize awarded her by Young Concert Artists. She made her European recital debut in Nantes, France, and she has also sung at the 1982 summer Zix-en-Provence Festibal and the Artists Series of the Ambassador Cultural Foundation in Pasadena, Calif.

Besides the Kathleen Ferrier Prize (a national award from the young Concert Artists International Competition in New York Miss Martin's awards include the 1983 Gold Medal for the National Opera Institute Competition, and three prizes in the 1980 Concours International de Chant in Paris: First Prize of the Paris Competition, Prize for "La Melodie Francaise," and the Mozart Prize. In 1980 she also won First Prize in the WGN-Illinois Opera Guild "Auditions of the Air," which included an appearance in Chicago at the Grant Park Concerts summer festival. Don't miss award-winning soprano, Miss Marvis Martin in concert at Goucher College on Sunday. Showtime Late City 11-2-85 V.J.
