The Douglass High School's February and June classes of 1930 celebrated their 55th anniversary with a gala dinner-dance at the Forum, Friday night, Oct. 18. The Forum was beautifully colorful, with orange table cloths and yellow napkins.

Nearly 200 guests and members enjoyed a night of fun, which included a tasty sit-down dinner, open bar throughout the evening, and dancing.

Some of the members had not seen each other since the 50th anniversary and were happy to see each other again.

Oscar Shorter was emcee for the occasion, and presented the classes of 1930.

Rachael John read a beautiful poem for members deceased since the 50th anniversary, and their names were read.

Alfreda Pinkney talked about the class as it is today and read a very spicy poem that brought plenty of laughs.

The girls were bedecked in lovely outfits and the fellows were also looking good.

Mrs. Louise Gambrill presented a basket of flowers to Anita Hall for her interest in the classes, to Alice Carroll for her work in keeping class business straight, and to Zelma Douglass, for her work in keeping the money straight. Remarks were made by Anita Hall, president.

Music was furnished by the Dennis Fisher Band, with Jennifer Jones, soloist. Following the program the members and their guests chatted, laughed and danced the night away. A special highlight was the pictures on display of the class members when they were teenagers.

The classes gathered at St. Cecilia's Catholic Church Sunday, Oct. 20 at the 9 a.m. service. A class picture was also taken at the affair.
