
CELEBRATION & REFRIGERATION — All-Pro linebacker Lawrence Tyalor (R) and receiver Mark Bavaro are jubilant in their post game embrace after Sunday's upset win over the defending Super Bowl champion Forty-Niners by their New York Giants. And equally jubilant Giant fans wasted no time exhibiting their challenge to Chicago Bears and their celebrated William "The Refrigerator" Perry. They play Sunday in Chicago.

Bowl game highlights

By United Press International

Top Individual performances, record and milestones from New Year's Day bowl games.

Rushing

— UCLA's Eric Ball, a freshman, came off the bench to carry 22 times for 227 yards and four touchdowns in the Rose Bowl.

— Michigan's Jamie Morris ran for 156 yards on 22 carries, his third 100-yard game this season, in Michigan's 27-23 Fiesta Bowl victory over Nebraska.

— Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson gained 129 yards on 31 carries and was voted the Cotton Bowl's most valuable offensive player despite Auburn loss

Passing

— Texas A&M quarterback Kevin Murray completed 16-of-26 passes for a Cotton Bowl record 292 yards. That broke the record of 231 set by Joe Theismann of Notre Dame against Texas in 1970.

— Texas A&M safety Domingo Bryant, who hauled in two interceptions, was named the Cotton Bowl's most valuable defensive player. The Aggies stopped Heisman Trophy winner Bo Jackson three times from their own 2-yard line and later stopped him on another fourth-down rush.

Records and Milestones

— UCLA's Ball tied the Rose Bowl record with four touchdowns.

— UCLA's John Lee kicked a field goal and six extra points to reach 24 career Rose-Bowl points, trying Ball and Sam Cunningham of USC.

Ronnie Harmon's 11 receptions for Iowa tied Rose Bowl record for catches in a game, matching Pat Richter of Wisconsin in 1963.

— Iowa and UCLA combined for a Rose Bowl record 54 first downs, old mark was 47.

— Iowa tied a team record for fumbles lost with four, becoming the fourth team to do so in the Rose Bowl.

— Michigan set new Fiesta Bowl record for most points in a period with 24 in the third against Nebraska.

— Four attempts for a two-point conversion tie the Cotton Bowl record set by Syracuse and Texas in 1960. Only one attempt was successful.

— Texas A&M and Auburn combined for 830 yards, the fourth largest total in Cotton Bowl history and the second largest in the last 16 years. The only larger total over that stretch came last year, when Boston College and Houston combined for 854 yards.

Morgan cagers downed, 88-64, at Youngstown

A 20-point output by Randy Hampton went for naught at Youngstown, Ohio, Monday night as Morgan State lost an 88-64 decision to Youngstown State's basketball team.

The Bears were completely outplayed by the home standing Penguins, who led by 20 points at halftime, 52-32, and were never threatened thereafter.

It was the 15th loss in a row for new coach Nat Frazier's young team which was finishing out its 1985 year.

With the rugged competition of Texas-El Paso (which recently beat Georgetown), Clemson, The Citadel, Penn State, SMU and New Mexico behind them, the Bears now look to improve against the likes of MEAC foes, Howard, Maryland-Eastern Shore, Coppin State, et al, all coming up beginning Jan. 11.

All-Star mat card at Civic

Hulk Hogan, exciting World Wrestling Federation heavyweight champion, has accepted the challenge of Brutus Beefcake, one of his top ranking contenders, to headline three feature matches on the wrestling card opening the Baltimore Civic Center's 1986 New Year Season, Sunday night, Jan. 5.

A co-featured title match scheduled for one fall to a finish sends the popular Junk Yard Dog into competition against Intercontinental heavyweight champion Greg Valentine.

A special attraction is a bonus tag team treat pairing off Corp. Kirchner and King Tonga against Nicolai Volkoff and the Iron Sheik.

All-Star supporting matches to be announced will round out the card.

Baltimorean leads N'Eastern to Connecticut tourney title

HARTFORD, Conn. — Former Baltimore Dunbar High School "seventh man" Reggie Lewis scored 21 points and pulled down eight rebounds Saturday night to lead Northeastern to a 90-73 upset of Connecticut in the championship game of the Connecticut Classic.

Lewis is one of the later arrivals on the collegiate scene who came from the Dunbar basketball program that produced Georgetown's David Wingate, Reggie Williams, et al.

Northwestern, 6-2, jumped out to a 40-23 halftime lead, playing a tough zone defense and built the lead to 55-30 with 14:39 left in the second half.

Connecticut, behind Earl Kelly's 32 points, closed the gap to 6 points with 5:42 left in the game, before Northeastern pulled away.

The loss was Connecticut's first in nine games.

John Williams added 22 points for Northeastern and Andre LaFleur had 18 points and nine assists.

Earlier, Duquesne, behind Dwayne Rawls' 24 points, outscored St. Francis College 23-11 in the final 6:35 for a 72-60 victory in the consolation game.

Rawls scored 8 points in the final five minutes of play to break open the game. Duquesne had taken a 31-29 halftime lead.

The Dukes improved to 6-2 while St. Francis dropped to 2-7.

Freedom Letter given Dr. Tutu

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South African Bishop Desmond Tutu says a petition condemning apartheid signed by 1 million Americans is "tremendous gesture of solidarity and sympathy" for oppressed blacks in his racially torn country.

The outspoken Nobel Peace Prize winner ceremoniously accepted the truckload of petitions Wednesday, several hundred yards from the South African Embassy, where protests against apartheid have been staged daily for more than a year.

"It isn't a question of economics or politics — it's a moral issue," the Anglican bishop shouted to a crowd of about 300. "Are you for justice or injustice? Are you for freedom or repression?

"The million signatures say we support the struggle for justice and peace in South Africa."

Several people were arrested after the rally for protesting in front of the embassy, including the members of the 1960s folk group Peter, Paul and Mary, but Shotgun blast kills popular club D.J.

By Brion M. Tyson
AFRO Staff Writer

Dozens of people were turned away from the funeral services for Daniel Rosell Green, Jr. Wednesday night at St. Evangelical Lutheran Church.

More than 500 attended the funeral for the popular club D.J. who was slain early Saturday morning as he returned from the men's room at Moreco's International Night Club in the 5400 block Reisterstown Rd.

Police report, that on Saturday morning, at about 2:10 a.m., an unidentified man attempted to enter the newly-opened Northwest Baltimore Club, but was turned away because he failed to meet the club's dress code requirements.

Witnesses said that Bernard Scales, another employee at the club became involved in an argument with the man that eventually led to a physical altercation when the man attempted to commit a nuisance on the lobby floor.

According to witnesses, Scales overpowered the man as the two engaged in battle in the club lobby.

After Green separated the two, witnesses said, the man left the premises and returned 10 to 15 minutes later wearing a three-quarter length army coat.

The man pulled back his coat and revealed a sawed-off shotgun, which he pulled and began firing as the club parking lot, witnesses said.

As the man approached the club's door, patrons ran in all directions as the man began firing the weapon inside the crowded club according to witnesses.

He then darted from the club and into a waiting automobile, which quickly left the club parking lot and sped south on Reisterstown Rd. witnesses said.

Tough being a man? help is on the way

By Valerie Smith-Madden
AFRO Staff Writer

It's a man's world, so goes the adage. But, according to the Urban League's Richard Rowe and Jack Kammer, a freelance writer, men are having a very hard time.

Statistics indicate that men account for three-quarters of the homicides in the state.

Homicide is the major cause of death for young black men, between 15 and 24 and that 94 percent of those processed into the state's correctional institutions are men.

Men now have to battle the Rambo image, the 80's personification of machismo. Rowe and Kammer think that many of the images before men are unrealistic and they'd like to do something about it.

With the help of Delegates Anne Perkins and Elijah Cummings, the two hope for the passage of a House Joint Resolution which would establish a task force on Manhood, Fatherhood and Family.

The bill was introduced in the 1985 session, but was literally laughed out of existence. Many

City Council returns

By Racine S. Winborne
AFRO Staff Writer

The Baltimore City Council will resume its weekly Monday night meetings at City Hall on Jan. 13 at 5 p.m.

The 19-member legislative body returns from the Christmas recess to a variety of pending bills and resolutions, all carryovers from the 1985 session.

Topics to be taken up by the council this session include a $1 million supplementary appropriations loan for Provident Hospital, a business enterprise bill requiring that 25 percent of the work on all city let contracts be targeted to minorities and an additional three percent for women, and new legislation to force the divestment of all city pension funds out of firms who invest in South Africa.

The council will also consider two bills—a zoning amendment and an urban renewal proposal—paving the way for the construction of a major housing complex along the Key Highway, near the old Bethlehem Steel Shipyard.

Mystery persists in death of musician

By LaMont Curry
AFRO Staff Writer

Ironically, it was Friday, the 13th (December), and jazz musician Duvall Lamonte Stokes, 25, had to play a gig that he never made.

Duvall L. Stokes

Trumpet in hand, he left his home, 2205 N. Dukeland Street at 9:30 p.m., according to his mother. By 9:47 p.m., pinned under a car, brain exposed and feet burned to the ankles, his horn straddled on the hood of the vehicle, he was pronounced dead by emergency medics at the scene, according to reports.

Stokes had been struck by a car as he crossed a damp-slick Gwynns Falls Parkway, under a cloud-filled night, reports say. He was dragged at least two blocks before the driver stopped, according to witnesses.

Funeral services for Stokes were held Thursday, Dec. 19, at Bethel A.M.E. Church on Druid Hill.

"I don't understand it. There were witnesses who flagged or tried to flag the driver down . . . He didn't want to stop. I overhear old women on the bus, young peo-

Elkton 5 free of all charges of rape

By Brion M. Tyson
AFRO Staff Writer

Tuesday evening Cecil County State's Attorney John Searborough discontinued prosecution against the remaining four of five young black Elkton men charged with raping a white woman there in July.

The four, Oscar Lee Gude, 20, Sherton Lee Gude, 20, Sherdonald Lee Gude, 17, and Richard D. Purdie, 17, were released to their parents on their own recognizance on Christmas Eve at about 10 a.m.

Their release came after Ronald L. Fitz, 20, was acquitted of all charges stemming from the July 13 incident which occurred in the Sheffield Park section of Elkton.

In that incident, which occurred at approximately 2 a.m., the five were charged with the rape of Ms. Janice Black, 38, who lived only several doors away from the Gude family.

The five were arrested the following day after the woman's son Kenny told his aunt, who later told police, that he walked in on his mother as she engaged in sexual act with one of the General Assembly begins 202nd session

By Valerie Smith-Madden
AFRO Staff Writer

It was a festive enough day for the state's 141 legislators who returned for the 202nd session of the General Assembly on Wednesday, but it was clear that there would be no "smooth sailing" for the next 90 days.

In the House and Senate, there were the usual opening day festivities. Yet many of the legislators often remarked that it seemed as if they'd never left.

It wasn't a day of lavish receptions and leisurely preparation for the days ahead. Many of the legislators began working on Wednesday, trying to hammer out a solution for the state's troubled Savings and Loan industry.

Many agreed, it was certain to be THE topic of this session, and a few legislators wondered if it wouldn't overshadow other issues that were just as important.

Del. Hattie N. Harrison, (D-45th), in reviewing the crisis remarked, "Before this is all over, somebody is going to jail."

Although many members of the black community feel the S&L crisis primarily affects whites, Ms. Harrison said that many blacks were also affected.

"Many times, it was the Savings and Loans that gave blacks the money to purchase their homes," she said, "when the
