—Woman Power

Continued from page 9

Homeless' was moderated by Shirley Fisher, with Maria Brown and Doretha Powe as panelists. The 'Stress and the Superwoman' workshop was done by Shirley N. Pulliam.

The attendees had a chance to view interesting exhibits prior to lunch, the invocation for which was given by Hortense Henry.

The Recognition Award was presented by Victorine Adams to Dr. Alice Pinderhughes, superintendent, Baltimore City Public Schools. The luncheon speaker was Dr. Rebecca Carroll, educator, orator and community activist. Dr. Pinderhughes and Dr. Rebecca Carroll both gave enlightened messages, which were enthusiastically received.

Best wishes to Woman Power, Inc. came from the mayor's office with the mayor being represented by City Council President Clarence "Du" Burns. Congressman Parren Mitchell, 7th D., sent his congratulations to the Leadership Conference, as did Dr. Uthman Ray, Jr.

This year's Leadership Conference and its luncheon held something very different. The members of Woman Power, Inc. participated in the fabulous fashion show which followed the program and luncheon.

The models created their own style of walking and the runway had an aura of charisma. The graceful models were Gwen Brown, Ruth Bydume, Ellen Dutton, Tessa Hill, Barbara Holt, Marie Redd and Ruth Sampsca.

The attendees had a chance to view interesting exhibits — numerous posters created by Baltimore city school children which portrayed in their imaginations their ideas of encouraging folks to get out and vote. It was a guide and a reminder for all viewers to get out and use their own voting rights. It was an eye-catching exhibit which spectators kept on viewing, many with eyes glued to the creative works.

Barbara Jackson each year arranges for the school-age contributions to the exhibit.

Sammie Green did her part, with her display "Going on Down Memory Lane." It played its part superbly in depicting in articles various highlights of Woman Power through the years.

The Urban League displayed various educational information, handled by Marie Redd.

The event was so well received that ladies could be overheard saying, "Gee, it was perfect;;'; "It was on the ball;" "It was such a great workshop that women citywide should have been here."

For further delight in a "reach out and touch someone" way, each member, both men and women received, from a large, beautifully, decorated basket of goodies and favors. Not only did the ladies receive adorables but the men as well.

All were thrilled by the manner in which Woman Power, Inc. reached out and touched and displayed their love.

The sitting judges were the VIP guests for the occasion, which attracted nearly 300 women (and men).

The founders of Woman Power, Inc. are Victorine Q. Adams and Ethel Rich. Woman Power welcomes all women — young and older, (even the children), the highly trained and the unskilled. Woman Power needs the combined strength of all women to disseminate political informations, direct political action and to stimulate an awareness of the importance of the ballot for economic, social and civic progress.

Officers of Woman Power, Inc. are Erla McKinnon, president; Lillian Dorsey, first vice president; M. Marie Givens, second vice president; Margaret Brown, third vice president; Hortense Henry, treasurer; Mikki Johnson, assistant treasurer; Barbara Holt, corresponding secretary; Ruth Sampson, assistant recording secretary; Gladys Barbour, financial secretary; Sammie Green, assistant chaplain; Victoria Adams, historian; Bertha Anthony, research director and Beatrice Carroll, member-at-large.

GATSBY'S HALLOWEEN FUN — On the scene for the first Halloween Kiddie Party hosted at the New Gatsby's, 1817 N. Charles St., Friday, Oct. 31 are (first row, L to R): Terrell Rice, Anthony Triplin, Dorian Haynes, Chip Johnson and Autumn Joy Johnson; (second row, L to R): Danielle Williams, Natasha Wonder, Leslie Johnson and Kairo Carter.

—Deltas

Continued from page 9

lights, in her tall fruit headpiece and gold lame togs.

Anita and Joe Hunter, dressed as the Transylvania couple, won a photo album for "The Scariest' category, and all decked out in red, with lots of glitter. Teddy and Mabel Murray got a Mug Wall Unit for winning 'The Most Fantastic — "Fantasia" category.

And there were more prizes, garnered by lucky ticket stub holders for a raffle. Mark Butler, winning third prize, walked away with dinner for two. Second prize winner Richard Walters was the lucky recipient of a VCR. The grand prize — a blue fox fur jacket was won by a thrilled Ivy Hill.

Judging the costume competition were Mrs. Dorothy Ervin, Arena Players' costume designer; Ms. Jaki Hall, City Line host (Channel 13) and publisher of Tres Chic Magazine; Elrod Hendricks, Baltimore Oriole's Bullpen coach and Pattie Hodges, Our World Editor, Baltimore AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers.

And "the beat went on" and on, with many going to after - parties for more fun at various sorors' homes when the evening was over.

Gloria Marrow is the founder of the Baltimore County Alumnae Delta Chapter. Ernestine Jolivet is the president.

Chairperson of the Costume Ball Planning Committee was Gloria S. Wilson. Other committee members were Gladys Bragg, Barbara Cruise, Weldena Kelly, Valerie Montague, Deborah Peaks, Cathy Carr, Valerie Green, Mabel Wilson, Gloria Marrow, Mable Murray, June Chapman, Phoebe Tripplett and Debbie Peaks. The latter five were the decorators who created the ambience which truly depicted the spirit of Halloween.

—Partyline

Continued from page 9

toward the scholarship fund.

Alice C. Lee and Landa McLaurin are Founders' Observance Co-chairpersons. Committee members are Kay Merrill, Julia Medley, Patria Hill, Betty Jo Cashier, Hortense Franklin, Myra Curtis, Vivien Gardner and Emily Bryant, Patelle G. Harris is alumnae chapter Basileus.

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND

ROMARE BEARDEN

Etchings/Lithographs/Posters

Saturday, Nov. 8th, 1986 ... 12 p.m.-6 p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 9th, 1986 ... 2 p.m.-6 p.m.

Also featuring prominent Washington, D.C. Artist

JOSEPH HOLSTON

at

OBJETS d'ART
602A N. EUTAW STREET
BALTIMORE, MARYLAND 21201
Hazel Barrett/Beverly Carter/Toi Carter

Free Parking of 512 N. Eutaw St.
(Enter from Jasper Street)

Are You Tired of tight Curls from Your Curly Perms? ?
Are You Fed Up With Rolling Your Hair At Night With the Rexlaxers? ?

THE SENSATIONAL ALL NEW LEISURE CURL
IS HERE AT LAST
"The Look of a Relaxer with the Maintenance of a Curl"
Brought To You By None Other Than
JOYCE MONSON and D-ORUM HAIR PRODUCTS of Chicago, New York and London
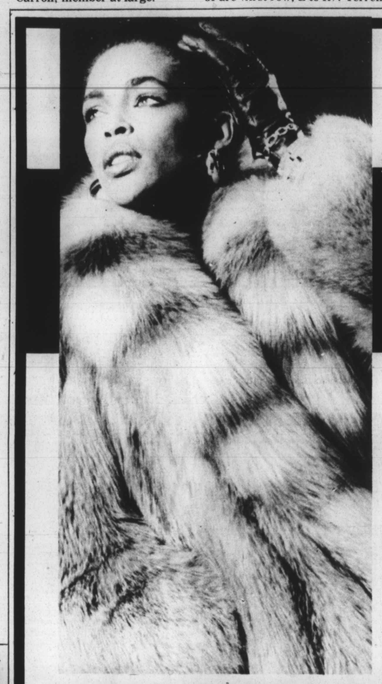
To Learn More, See Us At:
MASTERS BEAUTICIANS CENTER
1522 Madison Avenue
MONDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1986 • 11 A.M.-4 P.M.
Full Course Lunch Served at 1:30 P.M.
Win Prizes Worth Up To $50
For more information call Ms. Olivia Carroll, Pres. 945-3814 or Connie "Honeybun" Burley — Leisure Curl Technical consultant 744-5818.
(All Beauticians and Barbers Please Bring Your License)



MILLION–DOLLAR
FUR EVENT

40%OFF
original price
plus an additional
20%OFF
BONUS COUPON

Hundreds of furs on sale!
our entire stock of fur coats, jackets and walking coats

MINK, SABLE, FISHER, COYOTE, FOX, RACCOON, AND BEAVER including selected designer furs by Harve Benard, Lanvin, Estardo DiValentino, in Blackglama and Black Mist skins

Some examples of the savings:	orig.	less 40%	less 20%
Natural or dyed mink	3995.00	2397.00	1917.00
Natural Norwegian blue fox	3995.00	2397.00	1917.00
Natural beaver coats	3995.00	2397.00	1917.00
Natural coyote	3995.00	2397.00	1917.00
Silver-tipped raccoon	3995.00	2397.00	1917.00

Fur Salon—Towson, Security Square No adjustments on previous purchases.

and you get:
•Hutzler's quality, backed by a guarantee
•Free alterations, custom fitting
•Layaway: a small deposit holds your selection
•Generous trade-in allowance on your old fur
•Sizes 4-60

HUTZLER'S

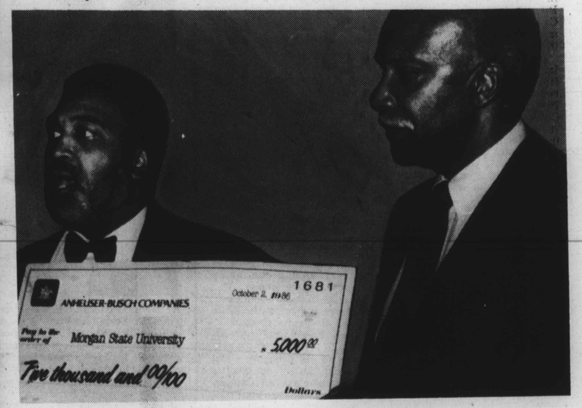
HUTZLER'S Call 337-0400 to open your Hutzler charge account. 10 stores to serve you in Maryland: Palace 10-6, Thursdays 10-8; Inner Harbor 10-6; Towson, Westview, Eastpoint and Salisbury 10-9; White Marsh, Harundale, Harford, Security Square 10-9:30.

MSU alumni, contributors feted at 2nd annual gala

During the 2nd Annual Forever Morgan Gala, which was held at Martin's West and attended by more than 800 people, Dr. Earl S. Richardson, (2nd from left) and his wife Sheila (far left) extended sincere appreciation to Mr. William C. Green (far right) and his wife Liller Parrott Green, the operators of the highly successful Ivy Leaf School in Philadelphia, for being dedicated alumni and contributing $25,000.00 to the University.

Mary Robinson, an outstanding Morgan graduate, was honored at the Gala for her contributions to the community as a civic leader.

Dr. Gwendolyn Cooke, an outstanding Morgan graduate, was honored at the Gala for her achievements as an educator.



Victor M. Julien (Left), the Morgan graduate who is Director of Corporate Affairs and Coordinator of Field Activities for Anheuser-Busch, presents a check for $5,000.00 to William Anderson, Treasurer of the MSU Foundation and Chairman of the 1986 Gala. Over the past two years, Anheuser Busch has contributed more than $10,000.00 to Morgan.

Kurt Schmoke (Left), Baltimore City States Attorney and Victorine Adams, a prominent Morgan graduate who has distinguished herself as a Baltimore City Councilperson and civic leader, were two of the Gala's Honorary Co-Chairpersons.

Frank Coakley, the Morgan graduate who is a Vice President of Maryland National Bank which contributed $2,500.00 to the Morgan Gala, and his wife Brenda (left) participate in the scintillating conversation and conviviality of the event along with Hilda Aston (3rd from left) and Joyce Brooks.

Dr. Richardson, Morgan's President (Left) greets Dr. Utlman Ray, a prominent Morgan graduate, and Martin Resnick, a member of Morgan's Board of Regents and one of the Gala Honorees. During the evening, Mr. Resnick presented the University with a check for $7,100.00 representing the second year in a row that he has provided major financial support to the annual fundraising event.

Joe Aston, a member of the MSU Foundation and the President of Harbor Bank, prepares to dine on the sumptuous meal served at the Gala along with Octavia Butler and Fred Grant, an outstanding Morgan graduate who was excelled in the legal profession.

Jaki Hall (Left) and B.T. Bentley, the two Morgan graduates who host the popular WJZ-TV 13 program City Line on Sundays at 12:00 Noon, served as co-emcees for the festive evening.

Clara Carter (left) and Donald Tynes, one of Morgan's prominent alumni, came out to support the University's fundraising effort.

Harry Miller, Morgan's Vice President for Development and University Relations (far right), greets three of the Morgan graduates who were honored during the spectacular evening; (L-R) Douglass B. Sands, Alphonso R. Cottman, and Dr. Clayton C. Stansbury.

Elsie Mason, (Right) the Morgan graduate who chairs the MSU Foundation, present a plaque to Mayor Clarence "Du" Burns, one of the Gala Honorees.

Francis Gates, the Chairman of Morgan's Board of Regents, congratulates Enolia McMillan, President of the National NAACP and a member of the MSU Board of Regents, for being honored at the Gala.

NOV 1986