Comeback decision supported by family declares Sugar Ray

LAS VEGAS, Calif. (UPI) — Sugar Ray Leonard said Saturday his family backs his decision to return to the ring to fight middleweight champion Marvin Hagler next April 6.

"They support me," Leonard said at the fourth stop of the promotional tour for the $100 million bout. "They understand that all fights are crazy anyway. It's no problem."

Leonard, 30, has fought just once since November 1982 when he left the game because of injury to his left eye.

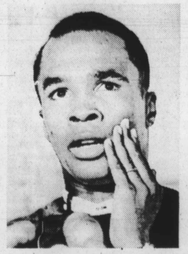
"I just want to beat Marvin," Leonard said. "He can have his belt. I don't want it. I'm back for just one fight.

"I always felt I could beat Marvin. People say he's slowing down. He's still great and still awesome. That's why I want to fight him."

Leonard said he knew the showdown would eventually take place.

* * *

"This fight was inevitable," he said. "Because of circumstances, it was diverted for two or three years. This guy (Hagler) was willing to take one year of inactivity to make things easier for the little man. He'll have ring rust, too, and that will even things out."



Sugar Ray Leonard
'..understand all fights crazy..'

Hagler has not fought since he stopped John Mugabi in 11 grueling rounds last March.

"I think it's going to be a fight of skill and that's everything the sport stands for," Hagler said. "Boxing brings people together - whites, blacks, Chinese.

"I'm letting Ray take the show today. He sounds like HBO (the cable network Leonard has worked for since his retirement). He'll be back (as an HBO commentator) permanently after this. At least he has a job."

* * *

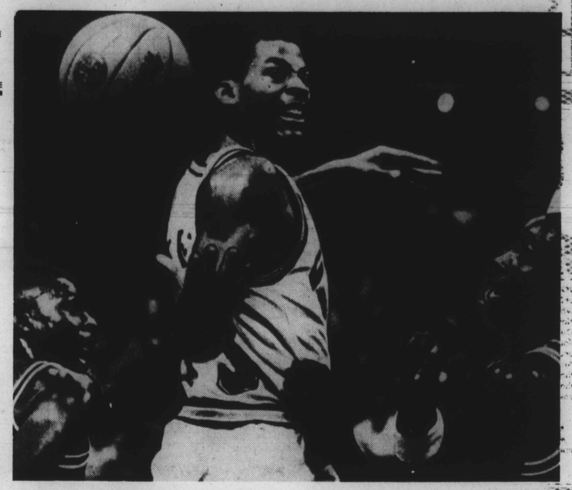
Hagler said he had to accept Leonard's challenge.

"We haven't ducked anyone and we're not going to duck Leonard," said the 32-year-old champion. "Leonard says he's going to use strategy, but I'm the one who's going to do the punching.

"If Ray cooperates and goes early, I could take anothe fight."

Caesars Palace officials announced that all tickets have been sold for the 15,300 outdoor stadium. The fight is expected to be shown at about 3,000 locations around the country and offered by cable companies on a pay-for-view basis.

The $7.9 million live gate will set a boxing record. Caesars said 5,000 tickets for a closed circuit showing at the hotel-casino went on sale Monday.



MORE MONUMENTAL MAGIC — Baltimoreans have read numerous stories about the feats of Reggie Williams and David Wingate at Georgetown, about Reggie Lewis at Northeastern, about Tyrone Bogues at Wake Forest, etc., but little about another Monumental City product, Duane Ferrell. The Calvert Hall youth now a junior at Georgia Tech figured prominently in the Yellow Jackets' Atlantic Coast Conference climb last year and against Georgia last week.

Bears face acid test at home this weekend

Morgan State, confidence partially restored after several years of so-so play, opens her home basketball season tonight (Friday) with an unenviable weekend task awaiting.

The Bears entertain University of Maryland, Baltimore County at Hill Field House, following a road beginning which netted two wins in three tries.

Then tomorrow afternoon (Saturday) the University of Arkansas five arrives to further test the local hopefuls.

Coach Nat Frazier's improved youngsters had their mini-streak snapped at two on Monday night at Richmond.

The perennially strong Virginia Commonwealth quint came on strong in the second half of the game at the Coliseum to dump Morgan, 75-43.

The winners had only one player in double figures, Derrick McGhee, who scored 12 points. Phil Stinnie grabbed nine rebounds for the winning effort. VCU Coach Mike Pollio played his entire bench for the game, the Rams' sixth in 11 days.

The Bears were led by Troy Brown with 16 points.

The Rams led 31-22 at the break, then built their advantage to 41-28 with 13:25 to play. VCU pulled away after that, reeling off eight unanswered points capped by a short jumper by Bruce Pettway at 11:04 to make it 49-28 and seal the victory.

Mugabi camp cries foul, wants WBC title rematch

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — The manager of John Mugabi said he will ask the World Boxing Council to order a rematch with Duane Thomas because he is certain that Thomas thumbed his fighter while winning the vacant super welterweight title.

"Obviously you can't change decisions and you wouldn't want to," Mickey Duff said 14 hours after Mugabi was stopped in the third round of a scheduled 12-round bout. "The WBC should say the contest was by no means conclusive and they should make the fighters go at it again."

Mugabi seemed to have Thomas hurt in the second round and he was stalking him in the third. But Thomas landed two lefts and Mugabi turned his back while leaning on the ropes. The first punch was the controversial one.

* * *

"There was a thumb, followed by a repeat with the same hand," Duff said. "It was an accidental foul, but under WBC rules, it should be a technical draw."

Mugabi, a Ugandan now living in Tampa, Fla., was taken to Valley Hospital following the bout and was treated by two Florida eye doctors who said they traveled to Las Vegas to root him on.

Cops raid gambling pools during Skins-Giants tiff

Two men were arrested and thousands of dollars in cash were seized when police raided several Northern Virginia locations suspected of operating gambling casinos.

Investigators from the Alexandria and Arlington police departments began the raid at 1 p.m. Sunday, to coincide with the Washington Redskins-New York Giants game, said Lucy Crockett, a spokeswoman for the Alexandria police department.

An estimated $33,000 dollars in cash was confiscated from six locations in Alexandria, as well as gambling records and such betting paraphernalia as tape recorders, calculators and telephones, Crockett said.

* * *

Similar raids were made at six locations in Arlington, where two men were arrested and $12,000 in cash and other evidence was confiscated, Crockett said.

Kiatisuk Chevitanodr, 42, of Arlington, and Asa Sirichanya, 45, of Falls Church, were both charged with conducting an illegal gambling operation and held on $7,500 bond. The charges are felonies, Crockett said.

The money seized during Sunday's raid was generated from one weekend of activity. The gambling appears to be based on college and pro football and basketball games, authorities said.

Additional arrests were expected pending investigations by Alexandria and Arlington grand juries, authorities said.

Time to start horsing around.
