IF YOU ASK ME

Smiles

Smile-in-your-voice salute this week to Miss Rena Wright, a secretary in the administration office at Liberty Hospital. Her pleasant telephone voice is oh so comforting.

And, honors to Postal Clerk James Lewis.

Reader James Lawrence notes he is Mr. Sunshine himself even when he carries the mail in dreary weather.

* * *

And, there was cheer in the voices which answered the phone at Lake Clifton Senior High on Tuesday.

We asked and learned they belonged to Mrs. Charity Townes, an educational assistant, and Miss Betsey Banks, a secretary in the office of the vice principal whom we interview in this column.

This column's new smile department solicits your nominations. Send them along, please. Just drop a postcard to, If You Ask Me Smile Salute.

More Smile

We were encouraged to continue our new smiles department in this column when UM Chancellor John Slaughter held faculty emeritus dinner last month at the College Park campus.

Another keynote speaker was Dr. William G. Nickels, associate professor of marketing in the College of Business and Management.

He urged his listeners to remember that happiness is—

The ability to appreciate whom you are

To appreciate what you have

Wanting what you get

Learning to appreciate life as it is now

Not worrying about the future or the past.

And then, he suggested, give something to everybody you meet, a compliment, a smile . . . most people will smile back . . . people will feel good about themselves because you did something nice . . . smile. . . .

Happiness

Cuff Note: Dr. Nickels is nationally know as the author of two marketing textbooks, ("Marketing Communication and Promotion' and Marketing Principles"), plus he's a popular lecturer and much in demand to discuss his new textbook game, "Winning The Happiness Game" (Acropolis Books, D.C. $11.85).

Described as a step-by-step personal development program, the book tells one how to develop happiness skills, conquer your fears, hangups, prejudices, how to become and stay happy. The book is full of charts and tables to guide the reader in grading himself.

More Cuff: The Nickles lecture classes at UM are most popular, often attract 500 students. They enjoy his translation of theory into everyday things they can understand - how to use your know - how to buy a car, and to rely on love and commitment to get ahead.

And to smile . . . smile . . . smile. . . .

Their 25th

Baltimore is lucky to have so many thoughtful people who endear themselves to others who are glad to join them on special occasions.

It was so a Friday ago when some 200 relatives and friends gathered to congratulate Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. E. Jones, (Jesola), on their 25th wedding anniversary.

The event was at the Poe Public House at the University of Baltimore, where Dr. Jones is associate professor. Mrs. Jones is the Northern High vice principal.

Guests arrived at the university center to find a portrait of Ralph and Jesola on view and the elegant host and hostess to greet them.

She was striking in a three-piece cocktail ensemble highlighted by sterling and black pearl jewelry. With his grey tuxedo, Ralph wore the silver accessories. Handsome!

Happy Life

Nice gesture: In between greeting guests and making sure they enjoyed the variety of dishes, ("prepared by Chef Richard Drigle), the couple reflected on their 25 years together and thanked guests for helping to make their life happy.

They recalled they were childhood sweethearts in Grambling, La., and that Jesola came to Baltimore on their honeymoon on Dec. 26, 1966 at the time Ralph was teaching at Morgan.

Members of their wedding party on hand were her father, Jesse Ernest, Grambling, La., her sister, Dr. Zola Boone, of Silver Spring, who was matron of honor; her sister, Dr. Frankie Martin of Randallstown, who was maid of honor; her niece, Monica Boone of Edgewater Park, N.J., flower girl; and Ralph's brother, John A. Jones of Baltimore, best man, and Dr. Arthur Boone, Columbia, groomsman.

Sons There

Guests applauded when the couple introduced their three sons, (Jesola called them their "bundles of joy"). They are, Ralph, a U. of Pittsburgh sophomore; Ernest, a junior at Polytechnic High, and Warren, a City College freshman.

Father Edward Kennon, pastor of All Saints Church blessed the couple, and the rings, and praised the "togetherness" of the Jones family.

More love shining out all over: Jesola thanked Ralph for making each of their 25 years together "very, very special," and he returned the compliment.

After more toasts, Bill Cummings saluted them in music and other couples celebrating December anniversaries joined the honorees as they danced to favorite tunes.

MARK 25th — Dr. and Mrs. Ralph W. E. Jones, Jr., (Jesola), cut their 25th wedding anniversary cake at gala reception.

Other Kin

Other-out-of town kin here: The J. C. Shay family, (cousins) J. S., Maxima, Leah, Naomi, and Uriah), George O. Jackson (uncle) and Mayme Quick, Cousins Frances and Robert Johnson, all of D.C.

Nieces and nephews on hand were Denise Boone, Oak Park, Mich.; Ivan Boone, Chicago; and Tyrene Gibson, Randallstown, MD., brother - in - law, S. Lee Martin, and long time friend, Roselyn Hammond.

Other out - of - town guests included couple's longtime friend, Edward Howard of Atlanta, and his wife, Kelly and son Christopher; Judge and Mrs. Shelly Bowers, Dr. Howard Drew and Ms. Marilyn Crawford, all of D.C.; Dr. Richard Fairley, Silver Spring; Garrett Gee, Chicago;

Also Mrs. Elizabeth Gray and son, Mark, Laurel, Md.; Joel Gwynn, Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Page (Pam) and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Thomas (Ida) of Columbia; Mr. and Mrs. James Stepter, (Tina) of Abington, Md.; Ms. Gretchen Tilghman of Newport News, Va. and William Walden of Edison, N.J.

Congrats

Hats off to Mrs. Evelyn Pasteur Valentine, vice principal of Lake Clifton-Eastern Senior High.

She received her doctorate in education with top honors at the U of Md. last month, and was selected as commencement speaker. She wowed the audience when she told this story:—

She grew up in Beaumont, N.C., the oldest of 15 children; began public school at age 4, graduated high school age 15, graduated N.C. College at age 19, and began teaching in her hometown high school where her sisters and brothers were among students and her mother was in her adult education class.

She came to Maryland, earned her master's degree at U. of Md. College Park ("I was determined I would not be turned down"), taught in the city schools.

It took her 12 years to get her master's degree and 12 years to get a degree in school management — and a total of 32 years to make her dream come true — the doctorate from the U. of Md.

The reason, she explained, was that along the way she followed her parents' advice — don't go too far without helping your brothers and sisters achieve their goals.

Worth It

She does not regret the time it took her to make her dream a reality—it was worth the struggle.

Most of her twelve living
