Deadly machine gun fire shatters quiet

Dozen bullets riddle victim from waist up

By Maxine L. Wallace
AFRO Staff Writer

Residents of the 2600 block of Gatehouse Drive have different reactions to the Tuesday morning fatal shooting of a Jamaican man whose body was riddled with bullets from an automatic weapon at 2645 Gatehouse Drive.

Elry Gowens said he thought the people would be upset. "They seem to be relatively calm," he said.

Another tenant said he has been living in the neighborhood almost a year and this is not the first time something like this has happened. "As soon as our lease is up, we are moving out," he said.

"People are kind of upset," one tenant responded.

The majority of the tenants said they have never known anything like this to happen in their neighborhood.

Roy Johnson, 41, a native of New York was shot over a dozen times, receiving bullets from the waist line to the head, when an unidentified gunman opened fire at the housing complex.

According to police sources, the shooting was drug - related and was a "planned hit" on Carrington Brown, 36, who lives in the house.

Lt. Larry Leeson of the Baltimore Police Department said Johnson and Brown apparently knew each other.

Five people were discussing drug transactions when a black man, 18 to 19 years old who was brought by Johnson to the apartment stood up and began shooting at Brown, sources said.

Brown pulled Johnson in front of him. He (Brown) was shot in the neck and received a graze on the head.

Brown was taken to Sinai Hospital and is in good condition.

According to recent studies of the Washington Headquarters of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firc Arms, Jamaican "posses" have been related with 800 drug related murders since 1984.

Tom Hill, the spokesman, said Jamaican posses were first discovered in Miami, FL in 1984 and have since spread to the majority of the major cities throughout the country.

Jamaican posses consist of Jamaicans who are illegal aliens, and also some are ex-convicts.

Bill would make grandparents feed children's babies

By Alicia Benjamin
AFRO Staff Writer

In addition to feeding their teenagers, grandparents also may be responsible for supporting the offspring of their minor children if a Senate bill is passed.

Also pending before the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee, is a bill which would allow parents to more quickly locate the employment location of parents who default on child support payments.

Sen. John C. Coolahan D-Baltimore County, and Sen. F. Vernon Boozer, R-Baltimore County, introduced the two bills respectively, to the General Assembly this year.

The legislation proposed by Coolahan, which requires grandparents to support the babies of their children, was prompted by the Governor's Task Force on teenage pregnancy in 1985, said Inter-Governmental Liaison of the Baltimore Department of Social Services Adam Korenczuk.

"This is a pro-family bill and we support the governor's initiatives in this," Korenczuk said.

The Social Services Department did not take a position on Boozer's bill which would expedite custodial parents finding the employment location of parents who have not paid child support payments.

To learn the employment status whereabouts of a parent who defaults on child support payments, custodial parents must contact the state Child Support Enforcement Administration, which contacts the Department of Economic and Employment Development to learn information about the parent's employment location.

Witness ties Mitchell to bogus loan

By John Robinson
AFRO Staff Writer

A prosecution witness in the conspiracy and obstruction of justice trial of former state Sen. Clarence Mitchell III told the jury yesterday that he never saw any documentation for a $15,000 loan Mitchell said he obtained from businessman Jerry Hill.

The witness, Wilkins McNair a certified public accountant who worked for Hill, said he prepared a financial report for Hill because Hill "needed to get a handle on the loan transactions he'd made to Mitchell."

Mitchell is charged with conspiring with Hill to mislead a grand jury by submitting false documents meant to coverup a $50,000 payment Mitchell allegedly received from convicted drug dealer Melvin Williams.

McNair said in October 1985, he prepared a summary of loans Hill had made to Mitchell, including a 1984 loan for $9,000, a 1983 loan for $10,000 and another for $6,000 in June of 1985. McNair said he found no paperwork in Hill's files to account for the $15,000.

He said Hill told him the $15,000 was a "personal" loan to Mitchell.

Testifying under a grant of immunity earlier this week, Hill, who owns several gas stations and the Garwyn Medical Center

Salon and Stylists gala at the Forum Sunday

A glittering evening of high fashion and high drama awaits guests and participants who plan to attend the first Baltimore Style Salon and Stylist Awards gala Sunday.

The evening, will cap an exciting citywide competition between area beauty salons and hairstylists to determine who sets the styling pace in Baltimore.

Fourteen Baltimore salon teams and individual stylists will compete Sunday at the Forum for more than $2,000 in cash and prizes.

The Baltimore Style competition is the culmination of a two month salon promotion involving 44 salons in the Baltimore area who participated in a public opinion survey to determine the public awareness of ethnic salons.

The Top 10 vote getters in the Baltimore Style Salon and Stylists Top 10 Public Opinion Survey will be announced at the awards gala as well. Salons were invited to compete based on their ranking within the top 25 vote getters. All of the participating salons will be honored and recognized for their involvement.

Celebrity Salon, Don Mar Hair Spa, For You Only, Scruples, Sista's and Wiggs Personal Touch are among the salon style teams that will be performing Sunday. In the individual stylist competition, stylists from A Touch of Parish, Hattie's Head Hunters, La Grace Salon, Mane Attraction, Ms. Bessie's Salone De Beaute, The Alhambra and Sir Gerald's will be competing.

The general public is invited to

Resolution seeks to aid the jobless

By Alisa Samuels
AFRO Staff Writer

The City Council recommended two resolutions Tuesday night that have special importance for Marylanders and Fourth District residents.

The first resolution, a three-year program under the Federal Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund, would assist jobless who wants to start their own businesses.

The resolution's sponsor, Jacqueline F. McLean, Second District, said she hopes Gov. William D. Schaefer will try to enroll Maryland in the program as a demonstration."

McLean said only three states would participate in the federal project, but more than $10 billion

Lenora Fulani is gearing up for a run at the presidency.

Fulani for president

Candidate sees need for alternative to two-party system

By Alisa Samuels
AFRO Staff Writer

Independent presidential candidate Tr. Lenora B. Fulani charged the United States electoral system is racist and that the Democratic Party abandons blacks after it gets the black vote.

Fulani, a developmental psychologist and psychotherapist, said recently that blacks and other disenfranchised Americans need an alternative to the traditional two-party system.

Fulani said the alternative is the Independent Party.

She said people don't vote because of the lack of election alternatives.

"Fifty percent of Americans don't vote, not because they are apathetic, but because they don't see choices for them," she said.

She hopes her "crusading campaign" will give the people an opportunity to have an alternative

The 38-year-old native of Chester, Penn ., was in town to speak at a Rainbow Coalition affair Jan. 8.

If Democratic candidate Rev. Jesse L. Jackson had been white, he would have been the Democratic frontrunner when Gary Hart decided to drop-out of the 1988 Democratic Presidential nomination race, last year, she said.

"Jackson's election is different from a Hart or (Gov. Michael) Dukakis election," the Indepen-
